Offender charged in killing of ducks

TINA L. SWEICH
Staff Reporter

Tracing the snowmobile that ran over 35 hen and mallard ducks, through the parts that were left on the frozen Fox River, led to solving the crime.

On Jan. 27, state Conservation Department police charged Randy J. Schaefer, 30, of Wonder Lake, with careless operation of a snowmobile and operating a snowmobile too fast for conditions. Schaefer may be fined $500 each for the charges as well as serving some jail time—up to six months for the careless operation, a class B misdemeanor; and too fast for conditions, a class C misdemeanor, which carries a penalty of up to 30 days in jail.

Reports state that Schaefer, accompanied by his attorney, surrendered to police.

According to Captain Howard Brewer of the Conservation Department, Schaefer admitted to striking the ducks at about 9 p.m. on Jan. 20 while he was heading north of McHenry on the river.

Two other snowmobilers with him at the time are not expected to be charged.

Police said that eight hen and 27 drake mallard ducks were killed in the collision which Schaefer denies doing deliberately. Brewer said he and the Conservation Department as

Carpenter killed at Antioch train crossing

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

On Friday, at 4:04 p.m., Donald Pompeo, age 38, of Antioch was killed when he attempted to cross the Wisconsin Central Railroad crossing on Lake Shore Drive in Antioch. Pompeo was driving a Ford Arrowstar van when a 75-car train with two engines struck him.

After a preliminary investigation by the Antioch Police Department, it was determined Pompeo was traveling eastbound on Lake Shore Drive when the accident occurred. There is no crossing arm and no lights at the intersection. Furthermore, this is not the first accident at that crossing.

"There are stop signs and crossing signs, but no arm and no lights," said Lt. Charles Watkins of the Antioch Police Department. "We have had other accidents there."

According to witnesses, Pompeo slowed down as he approached the crossing, but at the last minute sped up to beat the train. Instead, impact occurred and Pompeo's vehicle was dragged 1/2 mile south. Pompeo was declared dead at the scene by the Lake County Coroner, Barbara Richardson's office.

Pompeo was a carpenter for 18 years, as well as a member of the Carpenter's Union Local 250. He is survived by his children Heather of Winthrop Harbor and Eric, who is serving in the U.S. Army at Fort Benning, Georgia. Pompeo was engaged to be married to Elizabeth Norris of Antioch.

Antioch school district leader to retire

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Dr. Donald Skidmore plans to announce his retirement as superintendent of Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 at the next school board meeting, Feb. 15. Skidmore, a 16-year veteran of the district, will continue to serve the district on a part-time basis as the assistant superintendent for business affairs.

Dr. Daniel Burke will replace Skidmore beginning July 1. For the past four years, Burke has served the district as the assistant superintendent of schools. Burke came to the district with 18 years of school administrative experience in Illinois.

Skidmore said he was "very disappointed" with an article in Wednesday's Chicago Tribune which seemed to hold Skidmore responsible for voter rejection of three attempts to raise school taxes through referendums. Apparently, Vernon Holmes, of BEST, contacted the Tribune and provided the information.

"We haven't had three failed referendums," said Skidmore. "A See RETIREMENT, page A10

Antioch Industrial Council ready for business, growth

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

Now that Antioch's retail community is onboard with the revitalization program, attention has turned to the industrial sector.

Community Development Director Claude LeMere has been working with industry leaders and surveying them in order to formulate statistics on Antioch industry.

On Thursday, Feb. 10, at 8 a.m., industry leaders will gather for the first meeting of the Antioch Industrial Council.

LeMere said industry leaders have expressed pleasure at being involved with the community revitalization.

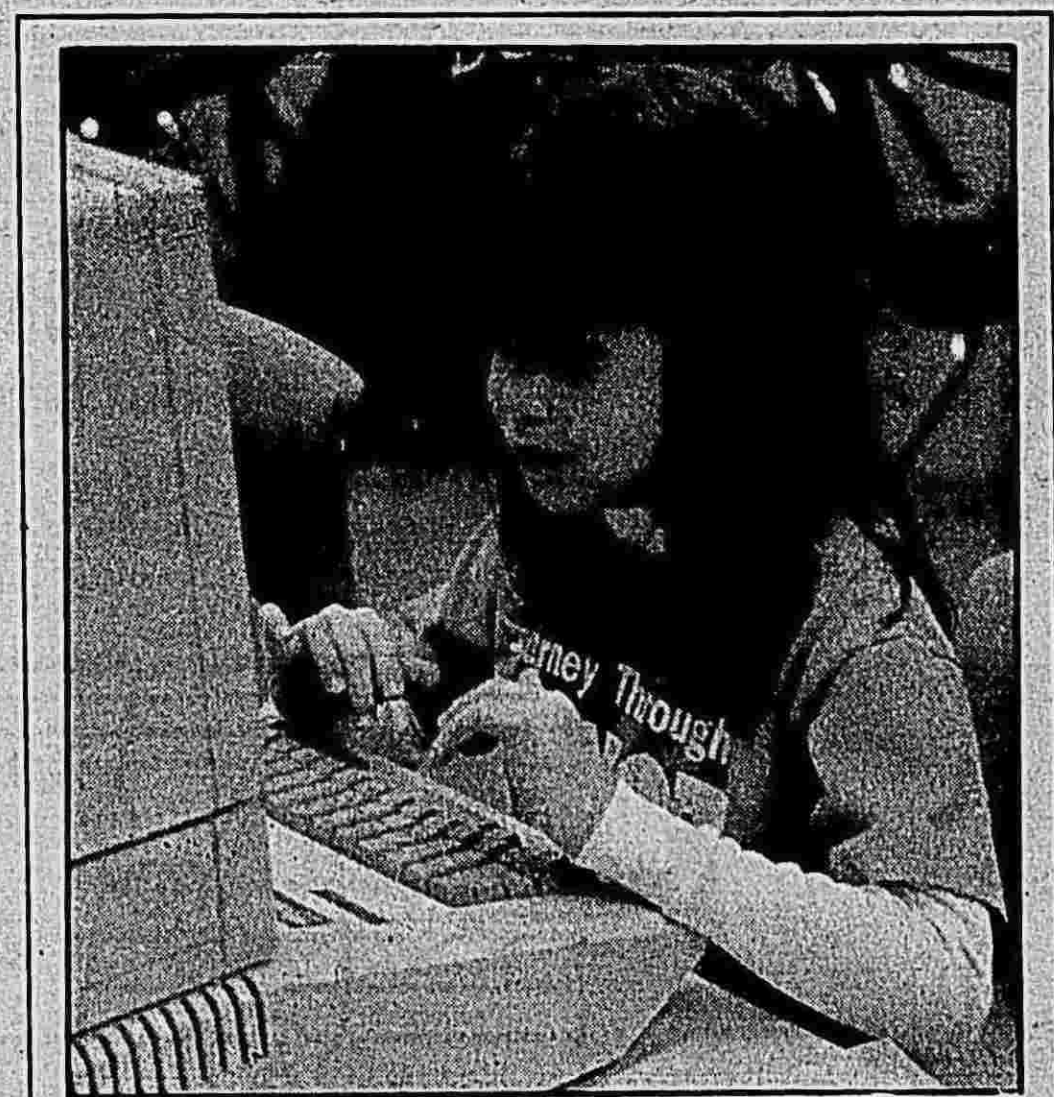

"Most villages don't give a lot of attention to industry," said LeMere. "But industry is not only important for providing jobs, its also great for the schools.

"Industry is a great way to help the financial problems the schools are having. It provides a good tax base."

The meeting will gather leaders from about 25 industries in Antioch as well as state Rep. Robert Churchill, and representatives from the College of Lake County, Lake County Economic Development and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Industry.

LeMere pointed out that one of the goals of the Antioch Industrial Council is to provide incentives for industry looking to relocate in the village.

"We need more industrial growth, not manufacturing, but small, light industry," said LeMere.

Antioch Literacy Program makes inroads, thanks Rotary

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Literacy Program is taking great strides towards reducing illiteracy in Antioch. The project, operating out of the Antioch Library is currently assisting 21 adults to learn to read. This number, down from 37 last year, truly reflects the success of the program.

Kathy LaBuda, of the Antioch Library, gave her report to the Antioch Rotary Club last week. The Club generously donated $1,000 to the program last year.

"While literacy continues to be a problem in the county," explained LaBuda, "we have graduated some people and we are currently tutoring 21 people. This is down from the 37 last year."

LaBuda went on to tell club members about how the program used the donation, which included the purchase of two learning-to-read videos, pre-reading training books, training manuals for teachers, and a subscription to a literacy program magazine. She thanked the club for the donation and then answered questions about identifying potential program students.

"An illiterate adult is very good at hiding it," said LaBuda. "Some of the signs include a person who orders the same thing every time at a restaurant, like a hamburger. Another sign is a person who never seems to have their glasses with them."

The program identifies adult students in a number of ways. Some people find their way into the program through radio advertisements and referrals by concerned friends. Others hear about it through word-of-mouth. The library also has a preschool program because parents who are unable to read, have children at risk as well. The preschool program has approximately 30 students.

LaBuda also told the group about some of the other new programs at the library. Last fall, the Antioch Library instituted Sunday hours after a survey was done and many respondents indicated an interest.

The library will have a new head of circulation and a new data base that can be accessed from the home. It also received a state construction grant of $30,000 to offset the costs of remodeling the office to meet the Americans With Disabilities Act requirements.

Aided by the generous donation from the Rotary Club, the Antioch Literacy Program seems to be quite a success. If you know of an adult who cannot read, make sure to tell him or her about the program. Literacy can be just a phone call away.

Antioch homeowners group doubles in size

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Officials of Antioch Township homeowners associations met last week in Antioch to discuss common problems these groups face. Specifically, they discussed lake management. Mark Phiester of the Environmental Health of Lake County and Jim Bland, of Integrated Lakes Management, addressed the group and provided helpful information.

An effort is being made to organize the numerous homeowner associations in Antioch Township. At the second meeting of the group, the number of participants has already doubled.

Besides the water management presentations, the group discussed various organizational issues. First of all, they intend to send out a newsletter with the lake management information to homeowner associations that were unable to attend. The California Ice and Coal Subdivision has offered to duplicate the newsletter for their membership.

The group is also considering a name for the organization as well as the organizational structure. To date, the group, along with Lakeland Newspapers, has compiled a list of over 40 homeowner groups in the area and these groups will receive a copy of the newsletter.

The group discussed the possibility of applying for grants to offset the costs of lake management. Also, the group will be bringing a list of potential goals of the organization at the next gathering.

Many homeowner associations in Antioch Township face similar issues: lake problems, septic system concerns, well water problems, road and traffic concerns, garbage collection, and other quality of life issues. An opportunity for these groups to exchange ideas can only benefit the entire community.

The group has decided to meet again. It is hoped that other homeowner associations will be able to attend. Any association from the unincorporated Antioch area interested in participating is encouraged to call Carol Jonites at 395-7371.

Waterway closer to staying alive

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

The chairman of the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency has some good news.

Upon hearing the proposed resolution and an explanation by Chairman Dr. William C. Dam late last week, the McHenry County Environmental Planning and Development Subcommittee unanimously approved to adopt the resolution supporting the continuation of the agency.

During primary elections, March 15, residents will have the opportunity to help keep the agency afloat. A sunset clause could end its existence Dec. 31, 1994 if it fails to get passed.

The written resolution explains that the waterway agency was created in 1984 to improve and maintain the Chain O' Lakes and Fox River's water quality as well as conduct needed dredging projects, debris removal, safety programs and fund additional safety patrols.

User fees are supporting the agency now, and will continue. Agency members and committee members of the CCCA (Concerned Citizens for the Continuation of the Agency) stress that no person's real estate taxes are used to fund the agency.

Dr. Dam said that soon agency members will submit the resolution to the McHenry County Board as a whole, and then will approach the Lake County Board.

Some other good news, and justifiably so for the agency, was also announced by Dam. Legislation signed by Governor James Edgar this week will make the March 15 vote to retain the agency binding.

This means that since the motion passed both houses of the legislature and was signed by Gov. Edgar, further action by area legislators will not be required if voters approve the referendum.

"This is what we were hoping for during the Fall session," stated Dr. Dam.

Voter registration deadline nears

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

February 14th is the deadline for voter registration in order to vote in the March 15 election. While Republicans and Democrats are fighting it out in the primaries, independent voters are reminded that there are a number of referendums on the ballot.

Independent voters wishing to have their say in the March 15th election should ask for a non-partisan ballot. In this election, voters in Antioch are facing the Chain O' Lakes Waterway Management Agency advisory referendum, the Antioch Community High School education referendum, along with the Emmons School building referendum.

There are several places Antioch residents can register to vote. These include township offices, Antioch Library, and village offices.

School BRIEFS

Bumper stickers are available

Some fortunate parents of students at Antioch Upper Grade School will receive an honor roll bumper sticker if their student(s) have made the honor roll a minimum of two times. The school hopes these bumper stickers will be prominently displayed because they are very proud of both the parents and students for achieving this honor.

Graduation festivities planned

An eighth-grade task force of 27 students has been organized to plan and coordinate the end of the year activities for graduating students at Antioch Upper Grade School. The committee has met twice so far and will be meeting twice a month. So far, the committee has voted to contract BWI who will provide, "The Wild Video Dance Party." This company will set up the gymnasium with large screens which will play videos along with music. The students have the choice of requesting songs and preparing a list for the DJ. The dance will be held on May 24 at 7:30 p.m. A survey is being developed by the task force to gather information including choices for the picnic, graduation ceremony, and attire and food for the dance. Parents need to become involved and the group is seeking assistance on the following committees: Wild Video Dance Party, Graduation, and the Picnic. Please send a note or contact the school if interested.

Students compete in Olympiad

For the first time, Antioch Upper Grade School students will be participating in the Illinois Science Olympiad. This is a contest that matches science and problem solving skills of students against other participants from other schools. AUGS teachers Mr. Brown, Mr. Marshall, Mrs. Segersten, and Ms. Walker are coaching the students for the regional contest at Hawthorn Junior High School on Feb. 12.

AUGS to host band contest

The Antioch Upper Grade School will be hosting the District 8 Illinois Grade School Music Solo and Ensemble Contest. This all day event will take place on Feb. 26 and 16 school, including AUGS will be participating. Catherine Miller, choir director, and Earl Bush, band director, will be preparing students for the contest.

Emmons PTO dinner dance

The 17th annual PTO dinner dance will be held on Saturday, Feb. 19 at Maravela's in Fox Lake. Chairpersons Kitty Wiegand and R.J. Dille are looking for willing volunteers to help them with this exciting event. Ticket sales will begin soon. There are many great raffle items, but more are needed.

School closing information

Parents of students in Antioch's Community Consolidated School District 34 are reminded that school closing announcements due to bad weather will be made locally on channels: WKRS-WXLC 1220 AM, WNIZ 97 FM, AND WLIP-WJZQ 1050 AM 95.1 FM. In the event that weather and road conditions in the early morning would not permit the safe transportation of students, schools will be closed by the joint action of District 34 and Antioch Community High School. While WGN, WMAQ, and WBBM FM will also be called, the local stations often announce local school closings earlier than Chicago stations.

Board handles SEDOL

Millburn District 24 school board adopted the 1994-95 contract with the Special Education District of Lake (SEDOL) at the current rate. In other related business, the board selected Malena Schroeder as the alternate school board representative to SEDOL governing board.

Board tables study

A proposal for a District 24 demographic study was tabled pending the identification of specific needs of the board in regard to the identification of variables to be measured.

St. Peter Board to hold election

On April 30 two members of the school board, Nancy Morici and Cynthia Vandrush, will have completed their terms. St. Peter Parish consequently will vote for their replacements. To provide for a smooth transition in selecting their replacements, the school board has developed and adopted the following procedures for nominating, qualifying and electing members of the parish school board. Terms are for a period of three years. Members may serve a maximum of two elected terms.

The election committee will be appointed annually by the school board chairman. To include ex-officio members of the board and board members.

The election will be held on April 24.

Voting will take place after each Mass (including the 5:30 p.m. Mass on April 23). All adult parishioners or parents of St. Peter School children are eligible to vote. Parish rolls will be used to determine voter eligibility. Election committee will be responsible to appoint election judges.

A simple majority will be sufficient to elect a member. In the event of a tie, a runoff election will be held on the following Sunday. Results of any runoff election will be announced on the Sunday after the runoff.

Election results will be published and announced on Sunday, May 1.

Elected members will be seated at the first regularly scheduled meeting after the election, i.e., in May.

Ballots will be made available in Fr. Frawley (church) Hall after each Mass. Absentee ballots are available at the school office.

Prospective member must qualify according to the school board requirements: Reside in the community for at least six months; be a parish member or parent of St. Peter School child; must be a minimum of 18 years old. No person employed by the school board may serve on the board.

Candidates for board membership must submit their Application-Petition signed by at least 10 parishioners or parents of St. Peter School children, to the principal, no later than 3 p.m. Tuesday, March 8. Application-Petition forms will be available at the school office beginning Feb. 1. Names will appear on the ballot in the order petitions are filed.

The election committee will be responsible for certification of all applicants. Election committee will accept all Application-Petitions. Election committee will determine eligibility and acceptance of candidates to the school board.

Announcement of qualifying candidates will be made at the regular school board meeting of March 10.

In the event a candidate does not qualify, he/she will be advised of the decision as well as the reason for his/her failure to obtain certification prior to March 10.

Any candidate will have the opportunity to question the election committee should he/she fail to obtain certification and present his/her case in favor of certification prior to March 10.

Election committee will be dissolved after completion of election.

Dist. 34 to use new achievement tests

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 board of education has adopted the Metropolitan Achievement Test for the district to replace the SRA tests, which have been discontinued. The new standardized test was selected from a pool of three or four standardized tests available.

"We felt that the Metropolitan Achievement Test was the best," said Superintendent Donald Skidmore. "Some tests are easier than others and Metropolitan was the toughest."

There is a possibility that the next year's scores on the state school report card may be slightly lower because of the change, although it is hard to make that type of projection. However, Skidmore does not seem too worried.

"We may see a dip, but I'm not making any bets," said Skidmore. "We are going to have to build a base year."

There are several schools in Lake County that used the SRA tests and will need to select a new test.

While the tests are often used to make comparisons within an area, according to Ed Gonwa, regional school superintendent, the tests should be used as a gauge within the school district only. They best measure students' abilities from grade to grade.

"Testing should be used as an internal check," explained

Gonwa. "It should be used to determine whether the curriculum is being mastered by students."

The efficacy of standardized tests is a hot issue. There are questions about whether they can accurately measure what they are supposed to measure. Dr. Linda Hanson, superintendent of Mundelein High School, is experimenting with "authentic assessments." Authentic assessments measure achievement in a portfolio style manner using work samples.

"Imagine testing office clerks by having them take a standardized test," said Gonwa. "Wouldn't you get a more accurate assessment by looking at their work?"

St. Peter School to hold open house, registration

Mrs. Henriksen and the faculty and staff of St. Peter School cordially invite all parents and parishioners to attend an open house at St. Peter School on Sunday, Feb. 6, following the 9:30 a.m. Mass and continuing until 1 p.m. Children's work will be displayed in each homeroom and throughout the school.

St. Peter School Family Association will host the open house, providing refreshments, including coffee and rolls.

Registrations for 1994-95 for families new to St. Peter School will begin at 10:30 a.m. this same day. Families presently enrolled may register immediately after the 9:30 Mass. It is important that everyone register now because some grades are close to our numerical limit. Every family must register, including those presently attending St. Peter School.

Registration for all families includes a non-refundable $25 per family fee.

The complainant reporter that water was spraying all over. Damage is estimated at $50. Only earlier, another nearby business reported the same type of damage. Police have a lead on the suspects. show up." He was released on a $100 bond.

No simple solutions to seaweed

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

As many lakefront property owners learned last week, seaweed control is not simply a matter of getting rid of the seaweed. Mark Phlester of the Lake County Health Department and Jim Bland of Integrated Lakes Management broke the news as gently as possible to the newly formed homeowners associations group last week at its second meeting.

"Before you kill it all, you must consider the impact," explained Jim Bland. "While weed control is a needed thing, you must consider the consequences. All control methods have a downside."

As the audience quickly learned, "nuking" the lake could have horrible consequences. Although seaweed is sometimes the bane of swimmers, boaters, and fishers, the submerged, floating, and immersed plant life is needed, within limits, for the health of the lakes.

The speakers first showed a slide presentation of the types of plant life currently existing in local waterways. The plant types were numerous and in some cases it was difficult to differentiate between the nuisance plants and the native species. There were even some plants that were endangered.

Two plants were identified as nuisance: Eurasian watermilfoil and the shore plant purple loosestrife. The loosestrife is particularly prolific and oddly enough is still a recommended ornamental plant. Even worse, some people are still selling it. Care must be taken in the removal of the plants in order to insure that the roots are completely removed.

"It is taking over the cattail areas," said Phlester. "Each flow-erette can produce 350,000 seeds. It has taken over."

The Lake County Health Department identified the plant removed from Lake Catherine last summer, which seemed to overtake the lake, as Eurasian watermilfoil (EWM). EWM, a rooted seaweed, has a capacity for rapid growth. It is capable of developing a dense surface canopy in up to a 14 foot depth. EWM interferes with many human uses and waterbased recreational activities. The plant does not need seeds to grow. Ordinary boating will cut the plants and they simply take root elsewhere.

Numerous possibilities of plant control were then discussed including preventive measures, manual removal, mechanical removal, habitat manipulation, biological control, chemical control, as well as experimental methods.

Blanding told the audience for EWM, preventative measures are already too late. However, there is a real possibility for the introduction of Zebra Mussels into the waterways. He recommended boat cleaning stations to remove debris from the bottom of boats. Public information as well as boater checks can be utilized.

Fragment barriers can also be used. This method would include stretching a net or screen over an area. There are several drawbacks to the fragment barriers, however, and they would require rigorous maintenance. If not frequently cleaned, the nets will begin to smell after time. Also, plants have been known to grow on top of the screen.

"Don't dismiss manual work," advised Blanding. "It can be very effective, especially in select areas such as boat docks and swimming areas."

The obvious downside to manual work is that it is hard work. Blanding suggested using hand equipment such as scythes, power cutters, rakes, and the ever popular human hand for hand pulling.

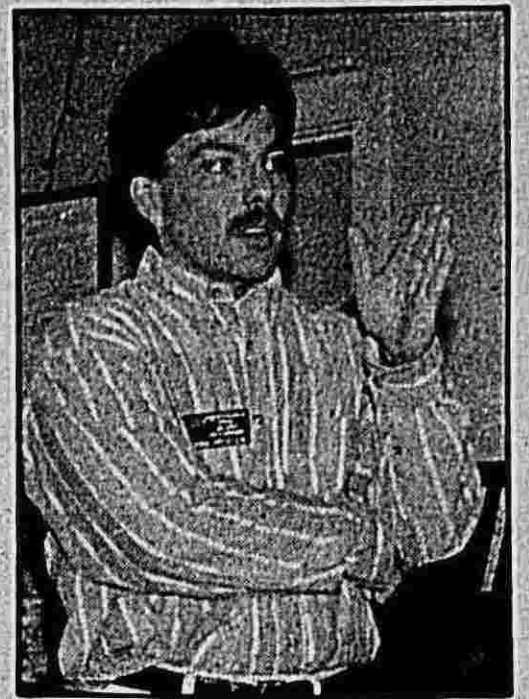

A potentially more effective (and less taxing) method would be a bottom barrier. While not suggested for extensive areas, it could be extremely effective for small areas like subdivision swimming areas. An impermeable substance, like vinyl sheeting used by the highway department, can be placed on top of the ice. The sheeting could be weighted down with sand and other materials and be allowed to sink as the ice melts. The sheeting would then prevent the rooting of seaweed, reducing the plant growth in the area.

The downside of the bottom barrier is that maintenance is also substantial. Furthermore, anything over 10 cubic yards must have the approval of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The next method discussed was harvesting and rotovating. Harvesting is exactly what it sounds like, while rotovating is a kind of a rototiller in the water.

There are a number of problems with harvesting, not in the least is the cost of a harvesting service. Loon Lake associations own their own harvester and have reported some success. Nevertheless, harvesting has the potential of spreading weeds to other areas. Blanding suggested that harvesting would be successful in cutting weed free lanes selectively, however, owning a harvester makes more sense financially than hiring a service.

Another problem with har-

Mark Phlester of the Lake County Health Department outlines different types of weed control to Antioch homeowners.

vesting is that it cuts all the weeds, nuisance as well as the native plants. To date, there has been relatively poor success in re-seeding native aquatic plants.

Rotovating is better than harvesting. But, it stirs up the bottom of the water and it is likely the EPA would need to become involved because the amount of suspended solids in the water would increase.

Habitat manipulation includes water level changes, sediment changes, and shading. The Chain already has the winter draw-down and with it, some positive and negative effects on plant life. Some plants are benefited by the draw-down while others are frozen out. The use of dyes, which reduces the amount of sunlight needed for plant photosynthesis, is effective in ponds, but it cannot be used in lakes. Biological methods are also not a real possibility on the Chain.

Blanding went on to discuss the various chemical herbicides. He reported there would only be three chemical choices to be used in the swimming area: 2,4-D, Fluridone, and Diquat. Each of these chemicals has both positive and negative features, but he cautioned the audience of mixing the chemicals. For example, if one subdivision used one chemical and another subdivision on the other side of a lake used another, the results could be dangerous. Also, the beaches must be continuously policed to keep children out until the water is safe.

The outcome of all this information is that a weed control plan must be developed. Furthermore, a lake manager is needed to make sure that area users cooperate to insure that whatever plan of action is taken, it will benefit all the users of the lakes, not just one small group.

Heavy competition

The word "heavy" in this heading is used both literally and figuratively. I entered a group diet contest in an attempt to follow through on my New Year's resolution to shed some unwanted and definitely unneeded pounds. My partners in crime will go unnamed at the present time.

However, if I do not win the contest, I will then reveal the name of the lucky winner and extend the much deserved congratulations. There are seven of us. We each put in a predetermined amount of money, weighed in on the same scale and selected the ending date of March 21 as the final weigh in. At that time the winner will not only look better and feel better, but will also have a little "cash" to splurge on a new wardrobe or whatever.

If I am the winner, I will be hitting those Lac View Dessert slots big time when we go to Eagle River for spring break. I need your support to be successful in my endeavors. Think positive thoughts about a "thinner, healthier and richer" Lizard. I'll keep you posted.

Woe is me

I am writing this particular tidbit during the middle of the January deep freeze and I have made a major discovery. Dieting is definitely harder in the winter.

Due to the cold weather and the school closings, Camp Crayon was closed and I found myself with a little extra time on my hands. In the past this extra time would have brought with it a "lot" of extra eating.

As I struggle to keep myself in control, it now brings forth many extra thoughts and desires for food. Woe is me. I should go out for a walk, but I don't feel like braving sub zero temperatures and extremely high wind chill factors.

Instead I am writing this column a little early, talking on the phone, playing my keyboard and eating about 5,000 pounds of baby carrots. I am also thinking positive thoughts of a thinner, healthier me and cooking supper really early tonight. Word to the wise...if you do not have a weight problem, get in the habit of weighing yourself on a weekly basis. If and when you notice even a five pound weight gain, diet immediately. It is definitely easier losing five pounds rather than fifty-five pounds.

Student Council

As a result of student council elections at Emmons School, Emily Wilcox and John Logan were elected as the sixth grade representatives. The seventh grade representatives are Michelle Levas and Stacey Astar. The officers elected from the eighth grade class are...Kelly Mihovilovich (president), Drew Bennecke (vice president), Shayne Jacobsen (treasurer) and Jim Koppa (secretary). Congratulations. It looks like the student government is in good hands.

Discipline

I read the following discipline philosophy in a recent Lotus/Forest school news letter. It sounded like good common sense logic to me, so I decided to share it with my readers.

"Discipline can be defined as guiding a child toward self control. Consistent discipline teaches positive behavior while eliminating negative behavior. To establish effective discipline it is important to set limits on behavior. To establish effective discipline it is important to set limits on behavior, listen to the child, act immediately on misbehavior and be consistent.

There are three specific types of discipline that lead to observable results. The first discipline is positive reinforcement. A child is given reinforcement for good behavior in the form of praise or rewards.

This leads to a repetition of that behavior. the second method of discipline is extinction. Since most misbehavior is an attention-getting device, ignore the inappropriate behavior and it will probably go away. Finally, punishment may be used as an immediate form of discipline.

Remember, punishment usually produces only temporary results and should be used sparingly. Reward the good, ignore the bad (when possible), and punish appropriately. Be sure to differentiate disapproval of the child and disapproval of the child's actions. Most importantly, treat the child with love and respect and he/she will respond accordingly." Food for thought? I thought so!

Two stories

During playtime, Miss Lois, of the Camp Crayon program was calling the children to her one by one to ascertain how high they could count. Little Robby Lindstrom counted successfully from one to his top number and stopped. Miss Lois asked "Robby, do you know what comes next?" Robby replied "No, what?" When it was little Stevie Lehman's turn he counted from one to his top number and also stopped.

The paper she was working from displayed a square graph containing rows of little squares within a larger square. As the children would go from number to number, Miss Lois would move her finger from square to square. So when Stevie paused Miss Lois inquired "Stevie, do you know what comes after that number?" Stevie then pointed to the next box and said "Yes! This one!" Once again....out of the mouth of babes!

Hello

I would like to extend a friendly hello to Dave Dituro. My daughter Donna recently had an occasion to talk with Dave concerning a business deal and when she identified herself as Donna Schmehl, he immediately recognized the Schmehl name from the "Hometown Goodies" column and asked if she was related to me. Donna indicated that she was by saying "Yes, Liz is my mother." Dave corrected her by adding "You mean The Lizard." Glad you are reading, Dave and glad you consider "The Lizard." a familiar household word—so to speak. Say hello to your beautiful little six year old niece, Michelene from Miss Liz. Also you now owe me a tidbit. I'll be waiting.

Happy Birthday

February already?? You got it! It is now time for my monthly birthday list. Happy February Birthday to; Kyle Baird, Kaleb Barrett, Buck Bryant, Steve Bryson, John Carter III, Brennan Patrick Casey, Katie Clarke, Debbie Deates, Alssa Janelle Filips (MeeMee's girl), Tony Fragassi, Matt Friel, Trudy Grob, Stephanie Guido, Kira Haley, Brittany Harrison, Ashley Langley, Maggie McDonald, Jenny Mosier, Chris Nicolay, Crystal O'Brien, Missy Olenick, Jerry Olesky, Katie Powell, Tricia Pringle, Kevin Propeck, Emily Schopen, Matt Schultz, Patrick Smerz, Jennifer Staten, Lindsey Teaters, Mary Theel, Mathew Steven Turner and Dick Wezien.

Don't forget that Valentine Day is just around the corner. If anyone gives me candy during the height of my diet, do so at your own risk. How about some low calorie red peppers, healthy red apples, or possibly red tape to put over my mouth so that I do not binge.

Cold weather Valentines

If you're thinking of leaving town with your Valentine and heading for warmer climates, stop by Antioch Travel Agency, located off Orchard Street. Now celebrating 35 years of service to Antioch.

They can arrange your trip south. Mexico and the Bahamas are still good travel bargains, as well as cruises and jaunts to Las Vegas. Operating as a full service agency, they offer assistance with airlines, cruises, condos, rental cars, Amtrak, meetings and conventions, etc. without charging you a fee.

If you're lucky enough to be packing your bags to hit those warmer climates, don't forget to stop by Four Squires for bathing suits and the latest in cruisewear. Browse through the new Nautica and Tommy Hilfiger lines in cruisewear for men. Great savings on winter apparel can be found throughout the store.

If you decide to brave out the cold weather, now is the perfect time to take advantage of some great bargains on fall and winter apparel during clearance sales around town.

You'll find wonderful savings and selection on menswear at BJ's on Main Street. With more cold weather ahead of us, now is the perfect time to shop while there's still a lot to choose from and prices are marked way down.

If ice skating is on your agenda, stop by BJ's Sports Center for ice skates for children and adults. There's a large range of sizes still in stock for both hockey and figure skates.

For those of you who like to plan early for Valentine's Day, here are a few tips:

J.J. Blinkers, on Main Street, is offering a Valentine special this year. Choose either a Teddy Bear, equipped with chocolate kisses and balloon or a balloon bouquet delivered to someone special. Local delivery is available. New at Blinkers is a full line of greeting cards. Recycled Paper Products offer cards for every occasion and holiday.

Since Valentine and "heart" goes hand-in-hand, Sunshine Books, located on Main Street, is offering special savings on everything in the store that says or can be identified with the word heart. As a full service Christian book store, you'll find selections of books, gifts, and bibles.

Collectibles always make lovely gifts. At Persins & Persins, on Main Street, take advantage of storewide savings. Lladro, Waterford, Atlantis, Seiko, and Villory and Boch, are just a few of the lines they feature.

Another type of collection can be found at Park Avenue Mall, located on Park Avenue. This Mall is best known for its fine antique furniture. Thirty-five dealers are constantly replenishing their antiques and collectibles.

Sometimes a personal touch is the way to go for Valentine's Day. At Innovative Screen Printing, located on Main Street, you'll find the town's only screen printer and one of the largest assortment of transfers in the county. What could be a more personal gift than a new pet? At Pinetree Pet Shop, on Main Street, you'll find a full line of pets and supplies (sorry, no puppies). They stock over 100 fresh water and marine aquariums, ranging from 10-150 gallons and are now open Sunday afternoons.—by BARBARA PORCH

Experience theater in hometown

DONNA J. ABEAR

Correspondent

Yes, folks, many of you live here in Antioch, and though you drive down Main Street daily on your way to shopping, work or home, somehow you've managed not to notice the sign that says "PM&L Theatre" and the name of the current play in production. Now, theatre may not be everyone's cup of tea, or is simply an experience you've yet to embrace. But some of you, perhaps many of you, may be harboring a dream. "If I just had the chance to try, I'll bet I could act (or sing or dance.)" That chance is there for you, right on Main St., if you only open your eyes.

PM&L Theatre, at 877 Main St., is not-for-profit community theatre, and auditions for every production are completely open to the public. That's right, anyone can attend an audition, try their hand at whatever role they choose and maybe, just maybe, win the role that they desire. Or the next one, this is acting, you know, and rejection happens to us all eventually. "Oh, sure, how would you know?" you may ask. "I've been there."

About 12 years ago, I saw an audition notice in the newspaper and decided to investigate the hobby of my dreams, acting. I could almost picture myself up there on the stage, bowing to the roars of the crowd after my performance with an armful of roses, and an ego big enough to fit inside the state of Texas. I arrived at a school where the auditions were being held (it was another local community theatre group, not PM&L). Once inside with script in hand and a roomful of people watching and listening to me, I read the lines with a voice that quivered, knees that knocked together, and a bizarre twitching in my left eye.

For some strange reason, I didn't get the part. However, a nice woman at the audition named Aileen Biel (a long-time member and past president of PM&L) took me aside after the cast was announced, and informed me that I should not be discouraged, perhaps my hair was the wrong color or I wasn't tall enough. She told me of auditions for a show at PM&L, and I vowed to try one more time, after I would crawl back home, tail between my legs, if I failed again.

You can guess the ending to this story, I auditioned at PM&L and I won my first big role. Okay, it was a minor supporting role, but a role nonetheless. And my ego never did grow to the state of Texas, as I realized that I had much to learn about acting and the theatre. Still, there was something magical that first night I stepped on that stage to perform, from the murmuring of the audience to the way the spotlights cast their glow upon the stage. I've been hooked ever since.

So, watch the newspapers for audition notices, or call the theatre to ask when the next audition will be held. For $8 annually, you can even become a member and receive the monthly newsletter so you'll never miss a chance to audition or perhaps to work backstage or on sets and lighting. Give it a try, before you say "Bravo," it could be you up on that stage, taking your first bow as the sound of applause rings in your ears. You'll be hooked, too.

Hastings YMCA hosts family Valentine party

Hastings Lake YMCA camps along with 22 other YMCAs in the Chicago area, will host a Family Date Valentine Party on Friday, Feb. 11 at 6:30 p.m. Adults and children will find an affordable, fun-filled way to celebrate the holidays together. The event marks the start of a new, year-round YMCA Family Nights program. Participating Y's including the Hastings Lake YMCA camps will offer innovative, structured programs tailored for families every Friday night. The Family Nights program is one of the eight new projects created by the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago to build and strengthen today's diverse families.

Guests attending the Hastings Lake YMCA Family Date Valentine Party will enjoy a variety of activities that include a family swim from 6:30 to 8 p.m., Valentine games, and special holiday treats to eat. A special "Build A Heart" activity underscores the sentiment of Valentines Day. Using supplied arts and crafts materials, family members will work in teams to create hand-made Valentine cards. The cards will be delivered to older adults at the Victory Lakes Adult Day Care and the Antioch Area Senior Center.

AARP seniors learn of new programs

On Jan. 25, Antioch Chapter 387 of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) met at the Antioch Senior Center for a social meeting. Lunch was served by Paul Howard and staff members of the center.

After the presentation of the flags and the opening songs were sung, Eleanor Clark, program chairperson, introduced Steve Towns-end of the Lake County Sheriff's Office. Officer Towns-end told the members of several programs which are being planned by Sheriff Grinnell in the interest of the elderly.

The Citizens Advocacy Program will have six prominent members who will volunteer their services in handling problems of the elderly.

Towns-end said, "We have programs for welfare of children, for abused wives, etc., but what is being done for the seniors? It's about time we do something for them."

He proceeded to explain to the very attentive audience of how the ADP will handle problems of the elderly, such as abuse, help for the handicapped and others who live alone and need help, scams against the elderly, etc. There are 101 Senior organizations in Lake county and it is planned to have a speaker visit these senior groups for one hour each month to learn of existing problems confronting the members and how they may be solved.

Another program is RUOK (Are You Ok?). This is a computerized system which makes a telephone call to a homebound Senior every day at a specified time to check on his welfare. If there is no answer the sheriff's office is contacted and help is on its way immediately. A medical card is available for all seniors to be completed and kept in their cars or on the refrigerator at home for information of any medical problems they may have.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Ruth Adams, Lake County Council for Seniors or the sheriff's office.

FROM THE CAPITAL

Violent crime is the enemy

US Cong. Phillip M. Crane (R)

Congress and the President must do something to put a halt to the violent crime which, like a disease, is sweeping across our nation.

Violent crime is public enemy number 1.

Every year, nearly five million Americans are victims of violent crime.

Not only is it terrifying, but so much of it is senseless.

Republicans want new laws to put a bite into the fight against crime. Liberal House Democrats are blocking passage of such legislation, contending that punishment is not the answer to the ills of our streets.

Of course punishment has to play an important role in any legislation to combat crime! Seven percent of the repeat offenders commit 80 percent of the crimes. If we can take these repeat offenders off of the streets, we can make a sizable dent in the crime rate.

We need tougher laws to protect our citizenry from those who would commit violent crimes.

For one thing, we need a law requiring minimum mandatory sentences for violent offenders. Drug dealers should be considered as violent offenders considering all of the horror which follows their illegal transactions.

We need a new system of regional prisons to deal with the ever-increasing number of violent felons.

Prison capacity has not kept pace with the increase in violent crime. As a result, violent criminals are being released after serving a little more than one-third of their sentences.

Building prisons is expensive. The average cost per inmate in state prisons is $25,000 per year.

But, let's take a look at the other side of that coin. The Rand Corporation recently completed a study which found that the average career criminal commits between 187 and 287 crimes per year, with each crime costing society an average of $2,300. Using those figures, a conservative estimate of not putting a career criminal in prison is, on the average, $430,000 to $405,000 more than the annual costs of imprisonment.

Republicans believe the death penalty should be provided for drug kingpins, defined as those who are leaders in continuing criminal enterprises that distribute more than 60,000 grams of heroin, 300,000 grams of cocaine, 3,000 grams of crack cocaine, or have $20 million in gross receipts. No death of a victim is required under this provision. The death penalty would also be authorized for intentional or reckless killings during the course of drug felonies.

Early paroles should be eliminated for those found guilty of violent crimes. All too often, hardened criminals are released from confinement after serving but a brief period of time in prison for the commission of a vicious crime.

I support a law requiring mandatory life sentences for those convicted of three violent crimes.

The rule of three strikes and you're out should no longer be confined to baseball. Those who commit violent crimes should know that they, too, will strike out and be given a mandatory life sentence if found guilty of three violent crimes.

As one of my colleagues noted recently, the citizens "want to see the bad guys locked up and put away for a lot of time."

55-Alive' defensive driving class rescheduled

The "Third Overflow" session of the "55-Alive" defensive driving program co-sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons and First Chicago Bank, Antioch, set for Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 18 and 19 had to be postponed due to the extreme cold weather which hit on those days. It has now been rescheduled for the same days of the week, Tuesday and Wednesday, four weeks later: Feb. 15 and 16, 1 to 5 p.m. at the Antioch Senior Center, 817 Holbek Dr.

"It was booked beyond capacity for the first two-day session, Nov. 16 and 17," says First Chicago Bank, Antioch President Carl McWherter. "The second, held Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 was also over-booked. Then the third (and final for at least a year) was almost full, when we had to postpone on account of the weather."

"Everyone already registered for the Jan. 18 and 19 session is

ACHS committee changes approach

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School Referendum Committee is changing its tactics slightly as it focuses on the fact sheets and telling voters how the money would be spent if the referendum passes.

The increase is from $1.32 up to $1.65 per thousand in the education fund. To get voters to support the measure the technique this time is to provide as much information as possible and talk to whoever wants to listen. A speakers bureau has been set up and a hot line number established to get the word out.

Pam Podstawa of the executive committee said one of the reasons the referendum failed the last time was the committee couldn't answer where the money would be specifically spent. This time, after the school board elections, the board has agreed to earmark funds in specific areas.

"I think one of the reasons we couldn't pass the referendum the last time is we couldn't clearly tell people how the money would be spent," Podstawa said. "We know exactly what we are going to spend it on."

Reducing the education fund deficit is the first priority taking up 28 to 35 percent of the cost. Technology and new computers would take 15 to 19 percent of the increase, the activity program 12 to 15 percent and 8 to 11 percent on curriculum programs such as French, and the rest going to pay for increased enrollment such as teachers and increase the monies needed for teachers to reduce the class size.

Podstawa said the committee is targeting people who are likely to be 'yes' voters. She said the committee has talked with other groups who were successful passing referendums to learn why those groups were successful.

Some of the statistics supporters use are increasing enrollments forcing larger class sizes. They claim education suffers as the class size swells.

In the 1994-95 school year, the district predicts class size will go up about 15 to 19 percent. The enrollment is expected to increase 8 to 11 percent with at least 80 new students coming in the 1994-95 school year. The average class size last year was at 22.6 and this year is expected at 26 students per class.

Enrollment at the high school is currently at 1,755 and is expected to be 1,835 this year and 2,000 in 1997.

The group will continue to hold more informational meetings throughout the district. Podstawa said the turnout for these sessions has been good and she said students are speaking out on the problems they are facing.

Podstawa stated people misunderstood what the referendum was asking for. She said the fact sheets and informational pieces will help clarify the issue. The hotline number of information is 396-8991.

Handwriting and Lettering class offered at Nippersink

Dr. Thomas Tufo, Hebron, will be teaching two classes in handwriting and lettering at Nippersink Library, Richmond, in February.

Legible Writing the Easy Way will be held on Saturdays, Feb. 5 and 12 from 10 a.m. to noon. This workshop in handwriting improvement is for adults wishing to improve their handwriting and teachers desiring to learn a simple research-based motor approach to teaching cursive writing.

Elementary Lettering and Engrossing will be held on Saturdays, Feb. 19 and 26 from 10 a.m. to noon. This course is for the beginner and includes pen technique, layout and a simple, but elegant lettering alphabet.

Dr. Tufo is a certified master penman and is well-known in northern Illinois and the Chicago areas for his work in lettering and engrossing. He is president and founder of The American Handwriting Association.

A small fee is charged for the session. For more information or to register, call the library at (815)678-4014.

Campbell: The man behind the ducks

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

At the age of 78, a lot of people would be confined to their houses, perhaps dwindling out the rest of their years in a nursing home.

Not Carl Campbell, the enthusiastic environmentalist who resides on Grass Lake in Antioch. The man has a cause, and wishes to do what he can in the name of nature.

The vital owner of a roof truss company in Chicago, Campbell shared his outrage over the snowmobile killing of 35 ducks on the Fox River last week, which he explained was an infringement on the rights of all.

Without even fluttering an eyelash, the 20-year Chain O' Lakes resident put up a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of whoever committed the act.

State Conservation officials and police, however, were hot on the trail of the offender and charged a Wonder Lake man, Jan. 27, with careless operation of a snowmobile and operating a snowmobile too fast for conditions.

Campbell, along with his attorney, Jim Hulbert are not giving up on the issue very easily. The two are working with the state's attorney as well as keeping abreast of the situation with the Conservation Department.

"We just don't want these guys to get away with a slap on the wrist. What I'm afraid they're going to do is get off with practically nothing," said Campbell.

Captain Howard Brewer of the Conservation Department reported that the offender will be fined an amount not yet determined, but it could be the maximum of $500 for each charge, including some jail time.

To Campbell, the birds have as much a right to live as the man. If the charged individual doesn't get a sentence seemingly fit to the Antioch resident, plans to file a suit against the snowmobiler are not too far fetched, said Campbell. Simply put, the ducks would be the plaintiff in the case. "We would represent the ducks," explained the nature-minded man.

Campbell's amiable reward offer comes from a love of the waters and the fowl that inhabit there. "Thirty or forty years ago I came out (to Grass Lake) on opening day for duck hunting season. Thirty-thousand ducks were killed that day," remembers Campbell.

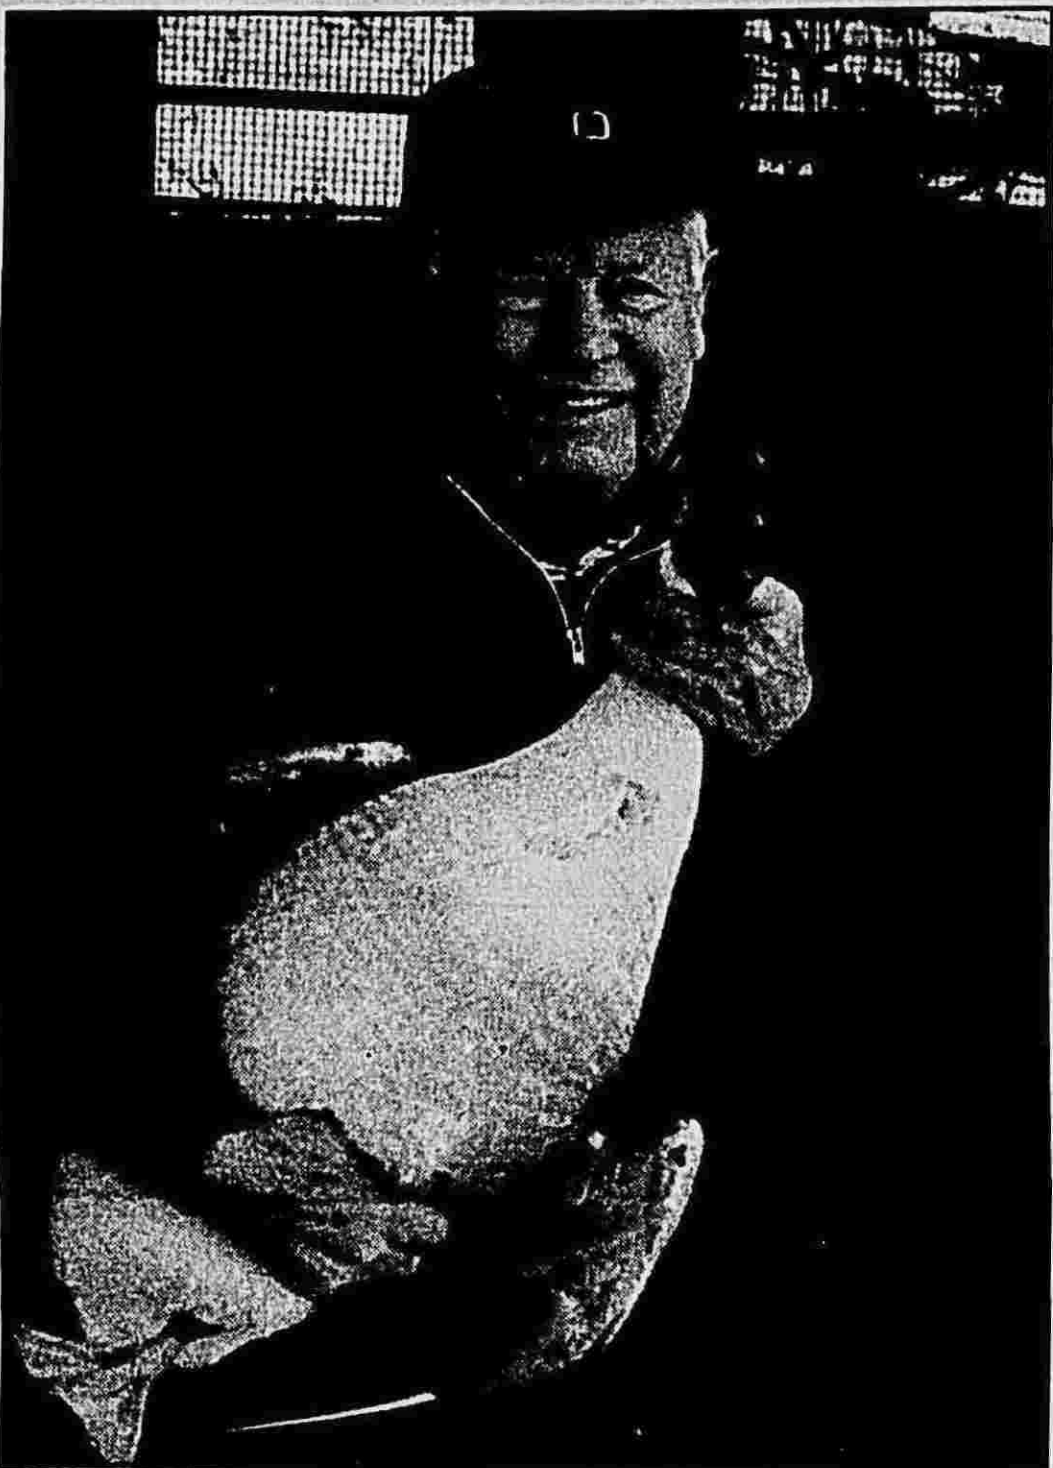

But still at that time, mud hens and mallards could be seen all over. "It was not unusual to see 100 to 150 mud hens (at a time)." Not like today, Campbell said. He feels their decreasing population has been caused from things like the sport of hunting which he would like to see put to an end. Up and down the channel, Campbell reported only two hatchings this year near his home.

Campbell, the owner of Carl D. Campbell and Associates, Inc. who has spent the last 40 years raising and supporting roofs, said he would like to promote and help support a group of people who want to stop duck hunting on Grass Lake. "They just ambush them," Campbell said about the sport. He said that he's even considering seeking some assistance from State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis.

Placing corn on the end of a pier and on the shore of the lake, is a daily routine for Campbell. The animal lover said that seeing a flock of fowl overhead "is a magnificent sight" that he doesn't want to see end.

Carl Campbell, a Grass Lake resident, shows off one of his feathered friends. Campbell put up a $1,000 reward for the conviction of the person who ran over 35 ducks on the Fox River.

Crane honored by coalition

Elighth Dist. Congressman Philip M. Crane has been presented with a Certificate of Appreciation by the National Vietnam Veterans Coalition in recognition of his contributions and dedication to all Vietnam Veterans.

The Coalition assists Vietnam veterans and advocates passage of legislation to assist those veterans.

Resources from the Coalition have been dedicated to helping members, as well as non-members, in their search for information from the U.S. and other governments about American servicemen reported missing in action or held captive in Vietnam.

The Coalition played a critical role in securing passage of legislation to declassify POW/MIA reports, and was deeply involved in gaining passage of remedial legislation concerning Agent Orange.

The Coalition is made up of 70-member organizations that represent Vietnam veterans throughout the U.S. and Canada.

tax rate increase passed the first time seven years ago. This just doesn't make any sense."

It is not clear in the article if Holmes is holding Skidmore responsible for the failed high school referendums, which would have nothing to do with District 34. The only other construction makes no sense, since there have not been any failed referendums in District 34 in a number of years.

This begs the question of why BEST is now concerned about failed referendums. BEST has been the most vocal opponent to Antioch High School's referendum campaigns. Furthermore, it is unknown why BEST has an interest in Skidmore's retirement, however, it has been suggested that it is a more personal battle since Holmes and Skidmore are neighbors.

Antioch's District 34 is one of the largest school districts in Lake County. For 10 years there was only one administrator in the office, Skidmore. According to Skidmore, this represented a savings of roughly $500,000 to area taxpayers.

"For 10 years I ran it without any help," explained Skidmore. "I don't regret it."

The retirement, and subsequent assumption of the business manager's position will actually save the district money. It effectively reduces two full-time positions into one full-time and a 4/10's position. Skidmore's new job will require about 100 days of work each year.

well as the state's attorney's office consider the charges to be appropriate for the incident.

The captain explained that one snowmobiler could have indeed killed the huddled ducks on the ice in one hit because they were all together. Police also believe that the operator was not drinking at the time because of facts gathered.

Brewer said that a similar incident happened in 1989 where 52 ducks were killed on the Fox River.

A March 1 court date in McHenry County has been set for Schaefer.

Optimism high for bowlers

Warren, Antioch and Grayslake all have good reasons to be optimistic heading into the sectional bowling tournament Feb. 4 at Antioch Lanes.

For Warren, the Blue Devils are coming off their best showing of the year at the North Suburban Conference tourney. The 5,371 was good enough only for a share of the conference title, as Fenton win the meet with a 5,411. Antioch was just a few marks behind. Grayslake is coming off its best outing of the year as the Rams beat Jacobs in a dual meet Monday.

A 1050 score is needed in the sectional meet, which begins at 9 a.m., with the right to go onto state next weekend in Rockford.

Tiffany Corbiel took home individual honors with a 1,164 at conference. Arleen Hildago had a 1,156 and Angie Hanna a 1,086.

"I hope we get a shot at state. Our scores are competitive with anyone's in the state so far. I hope we can continue to improve," Warren Coach Bob Tatenhorst said.

Hildago, who finished sixth in the state last year, averages 185.

Antioch's 5,329 nearly caught Warren for second in a meet in which the top three teams are ranked in the top eight.

"I thought we had a very good effort. It is a tough conference and we fell a little short. If we had six more marks, we would have won," Antioch Coach Elliott Hoffeditz said. "We got off to a slow start and spotted them some pins."

Lisa Anderson led the way with a fifth-place finish at 1,139. Nikki Hallawas had a 1,098.

"I feel we have a good shot at sectionals. The kids are bowling well and picking up their spares and concentrating," Hoffeditz said.

Grayslake Coach Glenn Watt and Grant Coach Ted Johnson are hoping their teams are longshot odds come true.

The only two Northwest Suburban Conference teams with bowling squads will not have a conference tourney to judge their progress on. Stacey McBreen leads Grant.

Watt was excited after his team's first 800 plus series in a 2,245 - 2,164 win over Jacobs.

The Rams gained revenge for an earlier loss as Karen Krewer had a 530, Carla Frechette a 481, Kristy Disch a 440, Nikki Moretti a 409 and Heather Hill a 385.

"We had an 832 first game and that was the difference. Once you get a lead, you want to build on it," Watt said.

Grayslake lost to Warren in a dual meet.

Rams show talent depth, closing in on loop

With the opponents' leading scorer out, Grayslake High sensed a kill early in the contest vs. Marian Central Friday.

The Rams, led by 11 from Dave Mandralla, opened up a 24-13 lead and never looked back. The final 73-54 margin was a kind one, as the home team led by as many as 30 points.

Mandralla scored 26 to lead the way, but the game was really a chance for the substitutes to show their talents.

"We got everyone in and Brian Stetch was out due to a family emergency. John Miller stepped in and did a good job. Lucas Bolton had 7 points and five steals," Grayslake Coach Greg Groth said.

The Rams first sub off the bench has been John Parr. Parr is known for his leaping ability - as shown by 10 blocked shots in one game and gaining a dunk against mighty Mundelein.

"The whole team played well," Parr said of the Marian

The junior is a product of Grayslake youth basketball, graduating from Grayslake Middle School.

Timing is important when it comes to the art of shot blocking. "You don't want to fall for a lot of pump fakes," Parr said.

Parr, at six feet four inches, said Grant's Mike Ingram and Round Lake's Robert Swanson are the toughest conference foes to defend.

"He can jump high and he is quick," Parr said of Swanson.

The Rams are looking to cut the magic number to one to clinch the Northwest Suburban Conference title with a win at Round Lake Feb. 4. The Rams come into the 7 p.m. game at 10-0, 14-5 overall.

Grayslake had a 26-point lead midway through the third on a 17-3 run.

Mandralla topped his average of 24 points despite playing in just over half the game. "He averages 24 points and in 10 of our 19 games, he has played in about two quarters," Groth said.

Geoff Sponholtz had 19 points and reached double figures in rebounds in playing about the same amount of time.

"We are playing good basketball now. Our timing and teamwork have improved," Groth said.

Soccer loss becomes gain for teens

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

While thousands of European soccer fans will be heading to the United States this summer for the World Cup, a select group of Antioch High players will be heading to Europe.

The tale of accomplishment and reward began on a disappointing note. In some ways, the Lindenhurst Engima's girls soccer indoor match with Lake Forest represented a low point.

Despite a valiant effort, the team lost 2-1 for the Soccer Enterprise Gold league title in Highland Park.

The good news for six team members would come later.

"I did not want to tell them before the match that there was a scout from United States Challenge Team there," Coach Jim Rinehart said.

Later, six players — Kelly Landgren, Angel Giangorgio, Krista and Tannya Wiewel and Jaimee Porter and Jaimee Rinehart learned they had made the Midwest all-star team and could play in Europe this summer. Four will actually make the trip, as Porter and Rinehart will not.

"It is a very big honor," Coach Rinehart said. "Only a handful of kids are picked."

The team will practice in Germany then play in the Gothic Cup in Sweden and the Dana Cup in Denmark in July.

Landgren is a senior at Antioch High and is the leading Engima scorer. In nine indoor games, she has 22 goals.

"I hope to use soccer to pay for college," Landgren said.

Wiewel is next with 6 goals and several others have 4 or 5.

Goalie Giangorgio has allowed only five goals all season. She is only a freshman.

"She is just 15, but she has the talent to compete against the older players," Coach Rinehart said.

"It is an honor and I was surprised," Jaimee Rinehart said of the selection.

The ACHS junior started out as a goalie for the Sequoits but now plays defense.

"I started out not playing much, then played a little more and then started every game," she said.

Rinehart is also a field hockey player at Antioch and has opted to attend a field hockey camp in New Jersey and a soccer camp instead of Europe.

The team plays year-round except for the ACHS season, which begins next month.

Coach Rinehart hopes the club play is one reason the Sequoits have grown to a North Suburban Conference contender. Antioch is coming off a third-place league finish.

"We are not intimidated by Stevenson, Libertyville or Lake Forest," Jaimee Rinehart said.

The team practices for two and one-half hours Sunday mornings at Lake Villa Intermediate School. At a time when most are sleeping in or getting Super Bowl parties ready, the girls are working on drills.

"The tight quarters forces them to improve their footwork and go from thinking about indoor soccer to outdoor soccer,"

Coach Rinehart said.

The team is so hard-working, any of the members of the 8-1-1 team could have made the traveling squad, the coach said.

Sponsors for the European trip are being sought. For more information, contact Loretta Giangorgio at 234-6500.

ACHS girls overcome start, prepare for Pats

Antioch High's girls basketball team shrugged off a slow start and dominated North Chicago

the rest of the way.

The 67-29 win improved the Sequoits to 4-8 North Suburban Conference, 8-13 overall.

Antioch had a battle on its hands in the first quarter, as the Warhawks led 6-4. But a 26-11 run in the second period turned the tide.

"We started out slow, but then we got back on defense and did not get rattled. That is where the maturity aspect is settling in," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

Antioch was led by Amy Leiber with 11 points. Joslyn O'Higgins had 10.

"It was a pretty balanced effort," Woods said.

Grayslake, Panthers setting goals on regional meet

A sophomore winning a conference tournament would be notable enough in most years.

But for Wauconda's Clayton Bayers, sweeping to a 5-0 record at 130 pounds is even more remarkable. He overcame a broken hand to achieve that feat.

"He had finished fourth at the sectional as a freshman, so we were expecting big things from him. It is still an injury which we are careful with and it gives him some pain," Wauconda Coach Tom Nance said.

Bayers downed Mike Kochan of Johnsbury in the deciding match in the round robin format. He was one of five 5-0 finishers as the host Bulldogs took third with 158 points and finished third in final conference standings.

Todd Costa remains unbeaten at 103 pounds heading into the Feb. 5 Class A meet at Harvard. "He had a typical day with only one tough match," Nance said.

Pete Cebulka, on the other hand, had a challenge at 152 pounds. One of his four wins was an overtime decision over Ed Pak of Grayslake. "We knew when he woke up Sunday, he would feel it. He had a brutal weight class," Nance said.

A takedown in the final seconds of regulation saved the match against Pak.

Also earning titles for Wauconda were: Justin Thiel at 160 and Brian Carlson at 171, both with 5-0 marks.

Justin Murphy finished third at 125 in another tough weight class.

Grayslake had 109.5 points for fourth despite only one champion, Joe Kerns at 140 pounds.

Round Lake had solid showings for titles from Mike Kukla at and Tony Phillips at 119.

"They rose to the occasion," Round Lake Coach Mike Farina said.

Kukla had an "easy day. We were hoping to get some tougher matches for him to get ready for the regional," Farina said.

Phillips, who has won more than 20 matches, was 5-0 at tougher 119 pounds.

Nance likes his team's chances at Harvard. "It should be between us and Harvard for the regional title Tuesday (Feb. 15)," he said.

Costa's 30-0 record leads 9 better than 500 marks heading into the regional.

Others are: Ken Peloquin, 18-14 at 119; Murphy 20-7 at 125; Beyers at 16-0 at 130; Thiel at 26-5 at 160; Carlsen at 188-10 at 189 and Tim Randall at 15-14 at heavy-weight.

Haag's endurance earns him North Suburban league crown

When it comes down to the final seconds of a 189-pound match, Antioch Wrestling Coach Ted Sieckowski does not worry.

"I work out a lot and run six miles a day. The conditioning makes me stronger in the third period," Chris Haag said.

Haag needed every ounce of energy to down Zion-Benton's Jason Bratzke 9-7. It helps make up for a loss to Shawn Powers of Grant the week before.

And it was a significant win, as it gained then Antioch senior the title at the North Suburban Conference meet. The Sequoits finished a strong second with 136.5 points and share the overall title with Libertyville.

"This team has come a long way. It reminds me of 1991-92 when we had Tim and Tom Lane," Haag said. "Everybody is constantly working hard."

"He keeps coming at you," Sieckowski said of Haag.

First-year coach Sieckowski was pleased with the Antioch showing and is ready for the regional meet at Waukegan Feb. 5. "We should be right up there," Sieckowski said.

"We expected to come in and win," he said.

A family tragedy prevented Jon Osmond from wrestling at 171 pounds, but Jason Redfern stepped in.

Libertyville won the meet in wrestlebacks, the coach remarked.

Steve Zalopi recovered from a loss to Brian Devanie of Libertyville to gain third with a 4-1 win over Doug Dean of Mundelein at 125.

Jason Krause at 130 earned a fourth; James Patterson won by a third period fall over Angel Gonzalez of Zion for third at 135 and Joe Earl gained a second place at 152. Brian Maicke earned a fourth at 160.

Heavyweight Mike Shea, in a tough weight class in Sieckowski's view, earned a third. He downed Warren's Jake Reichart 9-0.

Bongratz, Bradley show skills

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Even with its star player sidelined with a sudden case of the flu, Warren High's boys basketball team has some pretty potent weapons against the league's cellar dwellers.

Joe Bongratz, a senior forward, played like the aircraft carriers which former Marquette coach Al McGuire used to talk about. The Blue Devils had a general of a guard on their side - junior Eric Bradley guided the offense as Warren survived 72-68. The Blue Devils even made their fourth quarter free throws, a skill not always present Saturday nights in Gurnee this year.

Bradley had 7 points and came in when Woods threw up three times before the start of the second half. After drinking fluids, he returned to the lineup, but hit two of his 15 points in the second half. Those two were important, though.

"Both teams played hard it was reminiscent of old Warren-Antioch games. Both teams shot over 50 percent from the field - we had 57 percent, they shot 51 percent," Coach Chuck Ramsey said.

Bongratz scored 21 points to go with a 17 point, 14 rebound effort in a 69-65 loss to North Chicago. The win gave Warren a 10-9 overall mark, 6-5 NSC) heading into this week's sectional seeding.

"We just all came out and played as hard as we could. We all contributed tonight," Bongratz said of the absence of Woods.

"I took it as another time to get in the game. Coach has had me work on my shot a lot," Bradley said.

"Eric did an outstanding job. He is an excellent passer. Monday to Thursday he practices great," Ramsey said.

Antioch coach Jeff Dresser saw the absence of Woods in another view.

"I thought we let down defensively after he went out," Dresser said.

The Sequoits were paced by a strong start by leading scorer Eric Eckenstahler. He finished with 18 points, 10 in the first quarter. Adam Becker had 17, including some second-half threes which sparked the Antioch rally.

Warren, ahead by five at half-time, poured it on offensively with a 21-point third quarter.

Chris Kron hit a three, Bradley had a bucket and Dan Ulvila scored on a spin move for a 47-39 lead with three minutes left. It grew to 59-47 early in the fourth on two Bongratz free throws.

Unlike two Saturdays before when the Blue Devils nearly blew a double digit lead to Fenton on missed free throws, the Blue Devils found the range. Joel Dangel made 3 of 5 in the fourth. Kron had 2 and Bongratz and Woods had 2 each. Warren was 14-for-18 from the charity stripe.

"We have been shooting a lot better from the free-throw line since Christmas," Ramsey offered.

Warren started the game with some new faces in the starting lineup- Ryan Kelter and Kohn in particular. "I had to do that for reasons which will stay within the team," Ramsey said.

Fair enough.

The Blue Devils take on two teams known for strong inside play, at Lake Forest Feb. 4 and vs. junior dominated Stevenson at home Feb. 5.

Antioch looks to stem the 4-16, 0-11 tide by hosting North Chicago Feb. 4. All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

Eckenstahler had 16, Becker 15 in a 74-54 Antioch loss to Libertyville Friday. The Sequoits gave up 41 first half points.

Balance powers Bulldog wrestlers to league title

Grant High wrestling coach Dave Kapraun summed up how his team took home top honors in the Northwest Suburban Conference meet by some 33 points.

"We won the meet on balance. We scored in every weight class and we had a number of kids finish third or fourth," Kapraun said. "That is what won it for us."

Grant was crowned undisputed champion with 20 points, a combination of dual meets (5-0 for Grant) and the Wauconda hosted tournament.

Jason Alex started the round robin tourney with a second at 103 pounds, losing only to unbeaten Todd Costa of Wauconda.

Mike Junge gained a third at 112 and Ron Bogseth a second at 119.

Wally Reyes won the title at 125 in a tough 4-2 win over Justin Murphy of Wauconda. "He scored a double leg takedown. It was one of the toughest weight classes," Kapraun said.

Ken Evanger was third at 130 as was soph Jaime Beese at 160. Ryan Benson, despite a sub .500 record, won the title at 135.

"He wrestled smart. Nothing spectacular, but he did not make mistakes and kept in control," Kapraun said.

Aaron Butler also won a title, at 145. He battled Scott Bierman of Johnsbury before winning 6-1 in a match of rivals. "Aaron got a near fall at the end," Kapraun said.

Shawn Powers recorded his 31st win and became the only Bulldog to go into regionals at Waukegan Feb. 5 with more than 30 wins with a title at 189. He beat Jason Guida of Johnsbury 4-0 for a 5-0 record.

Bogseth is at 29-4, Butler 24-7 as the Bulldogs prepare for Waukegan.

"I am hoping we can get five to seven kids out of regionals to sectionals," Kapraun said.

JHS finishers with 4-1 records were: Mike Cohn at 112, Chad Bauer at 125, Mike Kochan at 130; Justin Norris at 140; Bierman at 145 and Guida at 189.

Kaufman bests ACHS' Kane in battle for firsts in dual

The North Suburban Conference dual meet between Stevenson and Antioch boiled down to a battle between Stephanie Kaufman of Stevenson and Jessica Kane of Antioch.

Kaufman won that battle and Stevenson took the meet, 134.9-124.9.

Kaufman took the uneven parallel bars in 9.4, while Kane was second at 8.5 and Elana Patt third at 8.4.

Kaufman won the vault in 9.5. Kane took second once again at 8.6 and Elene Sobol of Stevenson was third at 8.1.

Kaufman led the balance beam with a 9.3, with Kane second at 8.7, edging Patt for third.

Kane and Kaufman tied for first in the floor exercise with 9.1s.

Angle Peterson of Antioch was tied for second with Patt and Zobel. Stacy Holtzman was third at 8.2.

Kaufman took the all-around with a 37.3, Kane 34.9 and Sobol 32.2.

The Sequoits did not earn a place in the conference meet. Next up is the regional meet at Buffalo Grove Feb. 4.

Deep, talented LHS wrestlers defend league tourney crown

Libertyville High wrestling team's depth proved to be the deciding factor as the Wildcats defended their North Suburban Conference title at Stevenson.

Coach Dale Eggert's team posted a 150.5 score, besting Antioch's 136.5. The two shared the conference title, as Antioch downed Libertyville in dual competition.

Warren was fourth with 94.5. Zion-Benton's 74, Fenton 64, Mundelein's 32.5 rounded out the field. North Chicago was shutout.

"I felt it was good for the guys. We had some close matches go against us," Eggert said.

The Wildcats, who will return with Stevenson to the Pats gym for the regional Feb. 5, were led by Bob Paulson's title at 145 pounds. He downed Dave McLellan at 10-5 after winning by fall in 1:37 over Lake Forest's Derek Nelson.

Reed Christensen of LHS, the top seed despite only 11 matches, had one of the most exciting finals at Stevenson. He fell to JJ Rutledge of Fenton 8-6 in overtime.

"It is hard to say," Eggert remarked on the experience factor. "The two had a real close match last year with Reed winning by one. It is good for him to have these tests," Eggert said.

A key match with the battle with Antioch came at 125 pounds. Brian Devanie of Libertyville downed Steve Zalapi 3-1 in the semis. He lost to Paul Yu of Stevenson in a close 7-5 bout.

Stevenson coach Lino Martinez was thrilled with his team's four champions. "It shows how far we have come," Martinez said.

Jamie Lipitz started the finals with a win over Derek Dixon of Lake Forest in a fall at 1:50. He had downed Antioch standout Lucas Dyer 10-1.

Dean Bielawa defended his title at 160 pounds with strong second two periods in a 10-6 win over Libertyville's Preston Sellers.

"I started out kind of sloppy and gave up a takedown. We worked on defending against a firemen's carry," Bielawa said.

He was accepting congratulations Saturday, but knows work needs to be done.

"My goal is to go downstate, but I know I will have to improve a lot," Bielawa said.

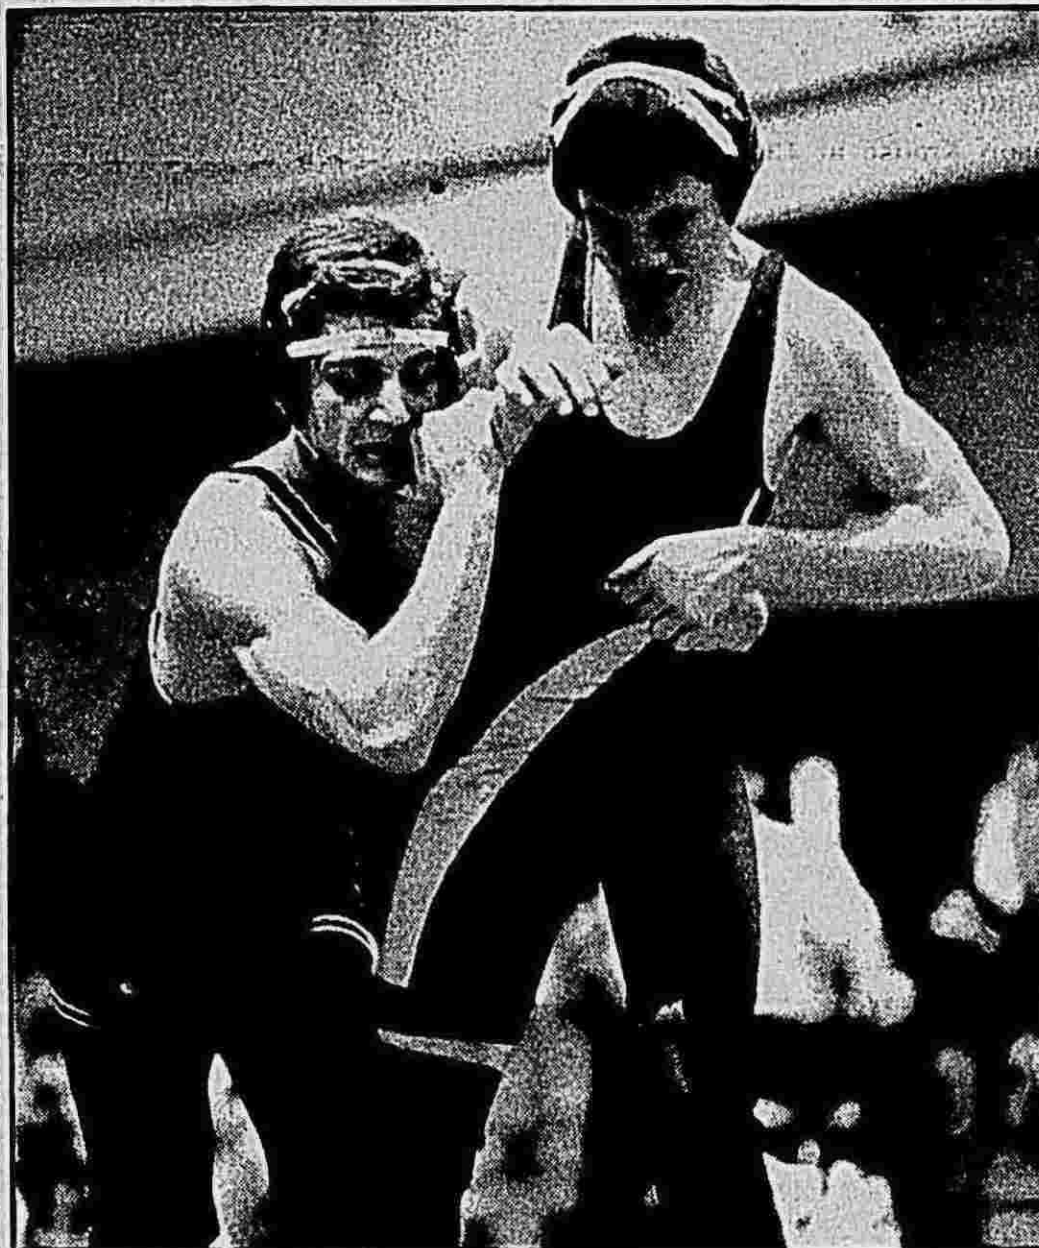

Stevenson's Brett Pyka used his unorthodox style, according to Martinez, to record two falls and win 8-2 over Antioch's Joe Earl at 152 pounds.

Ryan Katz of Stevenson gained second place at 112 despite having three stitches placed just before the finals.

"He got hit in the mouth and we took him to the emergency room. Katz has been a stalwart on this team the last two years," Martinez said.

Libertyville, though, scored points in every weight class but two.

Vasey marks 1,000 point, rebound

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Lake Zurich girls basketball center Nicole Vasey entered a select group of high school athletes by scoring her 1,000 point.

Earlier in the season, Vasey also grabbed her 1,000 rebound.

In a winning effort against Dundee-Crowne High School Jan. 25, Vasey, after finishing a lay-up and drawing the foul, converted a free throw with approximately four minutes left in the game to score her 1,000th point.

For the 6-1 center, that was also her 27th point of the game, which helped the Bears defeat the Dundee-Crowne 58-36.

"It's a nice milestone to achieve," said Coach Cindy Snider.

Vasey is only the second Lake Zurich student to score more than 1,000 points. The record stands at more than 2,000 points.

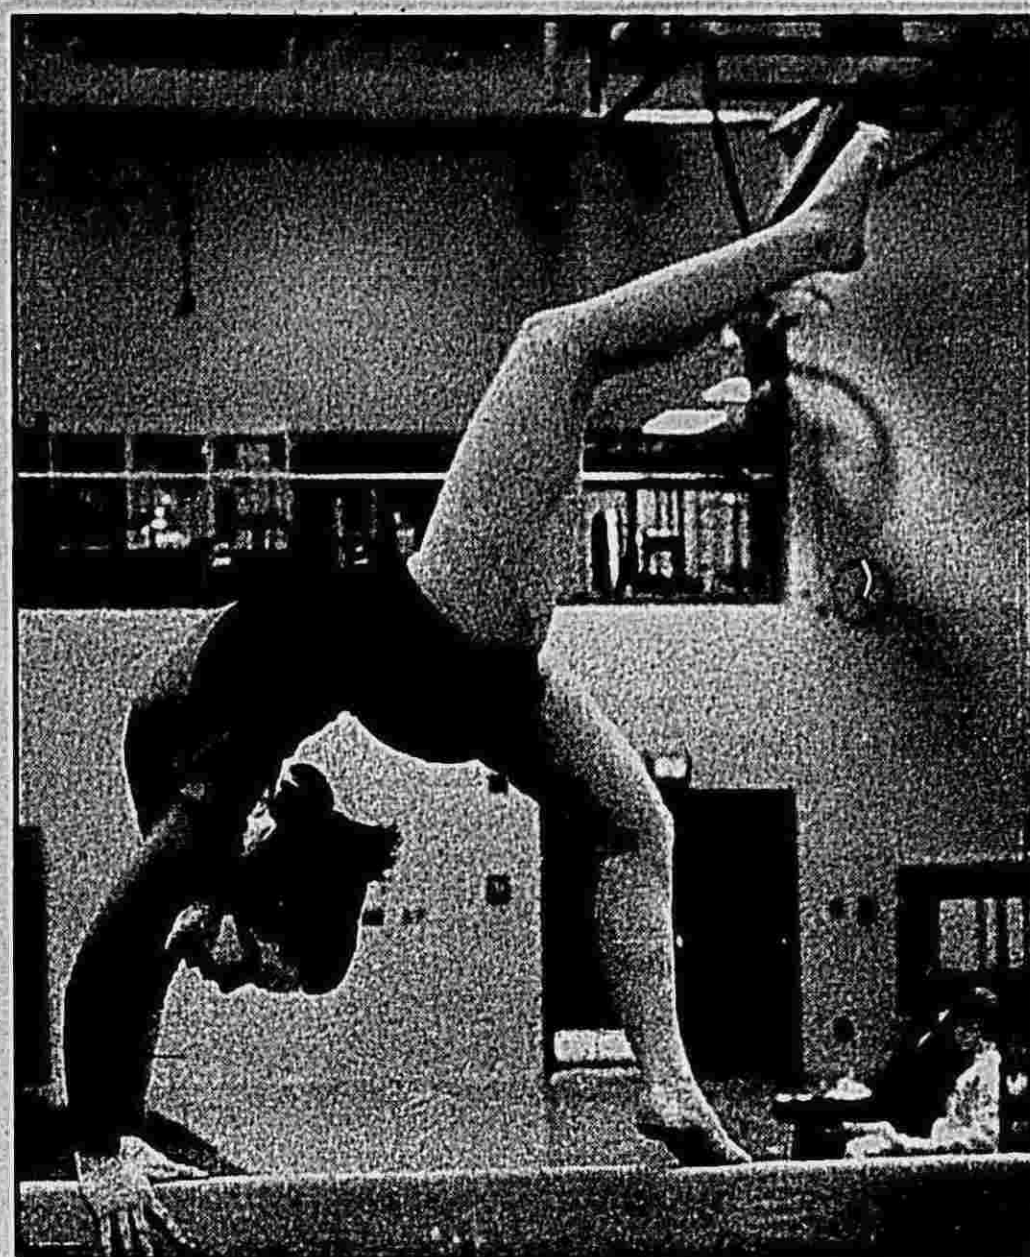

Nonetheless, Snider said Vasey was "surprised" when the coach pulled the Bears senior out of the game after the free throw. Snider said the Bears star "had no idea" how many points she had accumulated over the last four years.

But what makes Vasey's athleticism more telling is her number of rebounds, Snider pointed out.

In fact, Vasey had abolished the old rebound record, which stood at 708 rebounds.

"That says a lot about her efforts and the hard work she puts in, especially the rebounds because you get those one at a time," Snider said.

Gander Mountain record sales

COUNTY—Citing strong holiday season sales for its catalog and retail businesses, Gander Mountain, Inc. (NASDAQ: GNDR) reported record sales and earnings for its second quarter ended Jan. 1. Sales for the quarter increased 41.3 percent, operating income rose 27 percent and net income increased 15.5 percent. "Our excellent second quarter performance demonstrates the success of our 'Value Pricing' strategy, expanded product offerings and commitment to service," said Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Ralph L. Freitag. "At the same time, we are beginning to receive bottom-line benefits from our investment in people, systems and facilities."

Williams Electronics to build

WAUKEGAN—Chicago-based Williams Electronics Games, Inc.—a leading designer, manufacturer and marketer of pinball, video and novelty games, and video lottery terminals—has purchased a 37-acre vacant land parcel in Waukegan, where it plans by spring to break ground on a new, approximately 200,000-square-foot manufacturing facility. The site, re-zoned for industrial development, is located at the southeast corner of Waukegan Rd. and Northpoint Blvd. The new facility will accommodate a relocation and expansion of Williams Electronics' pinball/video terminal manufacturing operation from nearby Gurnee, where it currently leases space.

Baxter reports 1993 results

DEERFIELD—Baxter International reported record 1993 sales of $8.9 billion, a 5 percent increase over the previous year. Sales in the fourth quarter increased 4 percent to $2.4 billion. As expected, a pre-tax restructuring charge of $700 million in the fourth quarter, and pre-tax litigation charges of $105 million in the first quarter and $225 million in the fourth quarter, resulted in a loss from continuing operations of $268 million, or 97 cents per share for the year and $592 million, or $2.14 cents for the fourth quarter. Without the charges for restructuring and litigation, earnings per share from continuing operations would have been approximately $1.95, versus $1.99 in 1992.

Banker goes from parking to veep's office

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Back in 1969, the Colonial Bank in the Belmont Central area of Chicago was faced with very limited parking. In order to make sure space was available for their clients, they hired a few teenagers to pass out tickets stating that parking in the lot was for bank customers only. Sixteen-year-old Dan Caravello was one of those youths.

"That was my first introduction to banking," he said. Today he is a vice president of First Colonial Bank of Lake County.

From the parking lot Caravello moved inside the building to become a coin roller and was later promoted to part-time teller while he finished high school. After two years at Triton Junior College in River Grove, he received a bachelor's degree in business from Elmhurst College.

Colonial Bank placed him in the counting area in bookkeeping, where he assisted in preparing financial reports and was cross-trained in various areas of bookkeeping until he stepped up to the position of supervisor of the office services area.

As the bank grew, so did Caravello's responsibility. When Paul Johnson bought Colonial Bank in 1972, Caravello was put in charge of accounting for all banks in the finance department, and later promoted to office finance officer.

He moved on up through the positions of assistant controller and vice president and controller. In 1988 he was asked to start up the First Colonial Bank of Lake County in Vernon Hills.

"We started from scratch," he said. Responsible for operations and accounting, he continued up the ladder to vice president and then senior vice president. When the holding company purchased the Fox Lake State Bank Caravello added that institution to his accounting responsibilities.

Caravello says he spends most of his time at the Vernon Hills location. He moved to Mundelein in 1991, and lives there with his wife Mary, and his three boys. A member of Santa Maria del Popolo Catholic Church, he spends a lot of time coaching sports as his sons move through the Mundelein schools.

"I like what I do," he said of his 25-year loyalty to the bank. "I like the people I work with; we've got good owners."

Owners of Alra Labs could face 62 years in prison and fines of multi-million of dollars if convicted of charges filed by U.S. Department of Justice. The Gurnee firm could face fines of more than $7 million.

Charges were filed on Jan. 26, announced James B. Burns, U.S. Attorney for Northern District of Illinois. Alra Labs owners, Dr. Baldev Raj Bhutani and Ms. Neelam Bhutani, of Lake Forest, were charged with entering into a criminal conspiracy and violations of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, mail fraud, wire fraud, and making false statements to the U.S. FDA.

Alra, a Gurnee firm, produces and distributes over-the-counter generic drugs. Baldev Bhutani is Alra's president while Ms. Bhutani is secretary and in charge of quality control.

Alra manufactures and sells drugs which are sold using its own corporate name and also manufacturers drugs which are sold using other pharmaceutical labels.

The firm has plead not guilty. A variety of prescription products are named on the indictment, according to a U.S. Dept. of Justice statement. The drugs include: Lactulose Syrup, which is a drug to treat gastro-intestinal disorders; Eryzole, a pediatric antibiotic used to treat ear inflammation; K+10, a potassium supplement used by potassium-depleted patients who are taking diuretics for congestive heart failure; and Valproic Acid, a drug used to prevent petit mal and grand mal epileptic seizures.

The Bhutanis are charged with attempting to violate several Federal criminal laws in order to "prevent effective regulatory oversight of Alra's drug manufacturing and distribution by the U.S. FDA. The indictment charges that the Bhutanis directed Alra employees to fabricate drug manufacturing and testing records, to ignore consumer complaints, to utilize contaminated ingredients in the manufacture of prescription drug products and to re-label and distribute drugs that were already past their expiration date. The indictment charges the Bhutanis conspired to obstruct an investigation of the firm's activities by the FDA and later by the Federal Grand Jury.

The firm was charged with 14 separate criminal violations. These included misbranding production lots of the generic drug Lactulose by affixing a false expiration date and shipping the drug through interstate commerce.

The indictment also charges that Alra received damaged goods from its Japanese supplier, filed an insurance claim for the damaged raw material was so contaminated that it had to be destroyed and collected more than $77,000 from the insurance company and then used the damaged raw material in finished product. The product was sold to distributors in Largo, Fla., Knoxville, Tenn. and Elk Grove Village.

The indictment charges that Alra failed to establish required records relating to a consumer complaint relating to metal particles found in Eryzole.

This case is part of a four-year-old on-going nation-wide investigation of generic drug industry. To date, some 46 individuals and 14 companies have faced charges.

Farmers Insurance: Sterling Auto is best in the business

In an enterprising move, Sterling Finish Auto Body, Inc. in Grayslake will be hosting a luncheon Feb. 8 for approximately 40 agents of Farmers Insurance Group.

The luncheon will familiarize the agents with Sterling's state-of-the-art facility.

According to Sterling owner Gordon Bockwinkel, Farmers Insurance chose Sterling as the best body shop in the area, and is referring all of its clients there for body repair.

"In the big picture we're calling it a partnership, guaranteeing a satisfied customer," Bockwinkel said.

He said it is something new in the industry for an insurance company to refer all its clients to a single auto facility.

"It reduces the amount of estimates and eliminates a lot of aggravation for the customers," Bockwinkel said.

Established in 1981, Sterling employs 37 people and works on approximately 70 cars a week.

"We are guaranteeing the agent a satisfied customer," he said.

With a lifetime guarantee on all repairs, Bockwinkel said, agents will have a satisfied customer who will be willing to stay with that insurance company.

Pet store offers exotic animals raised with love

If you'd like a cute little hedgehog and you just can't find one anywhere, try Jungleland Pets in Town Line Square at Rtes. 45 and 60 in Mundelein. For only $250 you can take home one of these adorable, albeit prickly creatures.

Prefer something from the sea? Then a fresh-water stingray is for you at $59.99. Of course you can't cuddle it.

For those who lean toward something a bit more ordinary, Jungleland offers a complete line of birds, small mammals and puppies.

Opened in December 1987 by Rick and Audrey Frankowski of Mundelein, this is the ultimate pet store.

"We wanted to have a large variety of exotic and unusual animals for people to see," said Audrey. "More important, we wanted to have a nice place where the animals are taken care of. We treat them all as if they were our own."

"We've always been interested in animals. Every day we learn more about them," she added.

Audrey's constant companion is a friendly Great Dane named Marla, the store mascot. Two other permanent residents are Tika, a weeping Capuchin monkey, and Teeta, a spider monkey. All other animals in the store are for sale, from goldfish to the $1,500 baby cockatoo.

A recent addition is a colony of prairie dogs, priced at $85. Pedigreed pot-bellied pigs are a big seller at $245. Puppies range in price from $99 to $300, most registered with the American Kennel Club, but some good mixed breed dogs as well.

Jungleland specializes in hand-fed big birds from the finest breeders. The birds enjoy being handled by Bill Allen, one of 18 pet lovers working at Jungleland.

"They're just like dogs," said Audrey of the birds.

The staff at Jungleland makes it a point to provide complete information with the sale of a pet.

"Before we sell them we make sure people know how to take care of them," Audrey emphasized. "We offer ideas on care and make sure they understand. We also tell them how to set up."

The store offers a complete line of pet care items and will add a grooming service in the spring. The staff welcomes tours and often goes to classrooms to offer tips on pet care. They also visit birthday parties, generally accompanied by a fuzzy bunny.

Business hours are 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. The telephone number is 566-3100.

State Farm agents donate to American Red Cross

Several State Farm agents from McHenry and Lake counties chose to skip their annual Christmas gift exchange to make contributions to one of their long-time partners in disaster management, the Red Cross.

Last spring State Farm Agents nationwide participated in a fund raiser to restock the depleted coffers of the Red Cross. This effort raised over one million dollars to help out the "helpers" who are always there when disaster strikes.

"Red Cross and State Farm are often early arrivals on the disaster scene and are used to working together to help out those folks affected," says area Agency Manager, Glenn Harms of Woodstock. "This gesture by many of the local agents is a natural outgrowth of that partnership."

Contributing agents included Good Neighbors from Woodstock, Crystal Lake, Fox Lake, Round Lake, Lake Villa and Algonquin.

Giving back

Sam's Club in Gurnee opened its fundraising coffers by distributing more than $3,000 it received from Walmart Inc. as a bonus for the store's successful fundraising campaign for county organizations. Receiving checks were Tomie Flink, executive director of La Casa in Waukegan; Don Skidmore, of Antioch School Dist. 34; Barbara Gordon, executive director of the Lake County Community Action Project; Arlene Demb, of the Lake County Society for Human Development; and Jane Severance, of the Faith United Methodist PADS Shelter in Gurnee. Donna Oelke (front, left), Sam's Club sales manager, and Patrice Parker (front, right), fundraising chairperson, presented the checks. Also receiving checks were First Congregational Church and St. Anastasia Church, both in Waukegan. Photo by Kevin Hawahan

BUSINESS AND PERSONAL FINANCE

Should business remain 's' corporation

Greg Seidler, CPA

Subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code grants significant tax benefits to some corporate shareholders. Under the rules governing "S Corporations," qualified small businesses may elect special treatment for income tax reporting purposes.

While complex, the law permits an electing corporation to pay taxes as if it were a partnership. The corporation's income or loss is passed to its shareholders, whether it distributes cash to them or retains it in the business. The shareholders then pay tax on the corporation's earnings on their individual returns. The benefit occurs because the government taxes the corporations income only once. With regular, non electing corporations, owners pay taxes twice, once on the corporation's return and again when shareholders receive dividends.

A business which needs to retain most or all of its profits for expansion of the business may not be able to distribute a dividend to shareholders each year. The Subchapter S shareholder in this case would be faced with paying tax on the profits of their company even though they have not had any of these profits distributed to them. In some cases this could cause them to have a higher overall tax liability than if they were a C corporation. While dividends from a regular corporation would be taxable, the shareholders can decide if and when to distribute dividends and incur this tax. The C corporation therefore allows the business owner/shareholder to separate the taxation of their business from their personal tax situation to a greater degree than the Subchapter S corporation status.

Under prior law, the top corporate tax rate was higher than the top individual tax rate. Taxpayers could benefit by electing S Corporation status and paying taxes at the individual rates - even for income retained in the corporation. However, the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1993 raised rates for many individuals, often surpassing the corporate tax rates.

Because of the rate change and the many variables which may exist in each situation, the decision as to what type of entity your business is should be carefully reviewed periodically. Owners of growing S corporations or partnerships - ones that need income to finance expansion - could pay more in taxes, not less. Since the highest individual tax rate is now 39.6%, allocated corporate income could cost shareholders or partners more than the corporation would pay at the 34% rate. Further, shareholders must pay the tax even if they receive no dividends.

S Corporations are popular, and rightly so. However, like other tax decisions, owners must not underestimate the importance or complexity of the election. Besides potential costs due to rate changes, the law restricts stock ownership and benefits for owners. Whether you are starting a business or already have an existing business, how you setup your business is an important question. You should periodically review your company to ensure that it is still set up in a way which is most beneficial for your particular situation.

INVESTMENT TRENDS

McDonalds, Kemper offer growth potential

This week our two local companies offer some good investment opportunity, Kemper is seen to have shaken off some of its problems, and McDonald's is a fine example of how to run a company.

McDonald's

Did you see Michael Jordan, Larry Bird and Charles Barkley shooting baskets from outer space for a burger during that football game this weekend? It probably won't be too long before they will have a McDonald's in outer space.

The fast food restaurant that has been an American icon for years, is now in over 68 countries, with 13,700 restaurants. The pace will probably continue with a planned expansion of 900 to 1,200 restaurants per year for the next several years, with about 2/3 coming outside of the U.S.

McDonald's is a story of a company that just keeps cranking out the earnings including a 12 percent increase in 1993 on 3.9 percent higher revenues. The outlook for 1994 is EPS (earnings per share) of $3.33, vs. $2.91 for 1993, and $2.60 for 1992. The company is somewhat expensive trading at a P/E of around 20, but with the steady earnings growth predicted to be 13 percent a year, MCD may just double in value in the next four years as it has in the last four. MCD is a strong buy with an almost inconsequential dividend on 0.7 percent.

Kemper

The Long Grove based insurer and brokerage has seemed to bounce back after a tough early 1993. After seeing its stock plummet from a high of $43 in February to a low of $26 in March, Kemper has finally made it back with a recent price of about $39 a share. The apparent reason for the price to come back was a mild restructuring and getting back to its core businesses. Kemper sold off its re-insurance division and also its property and casualty division (car and home insurance), to concentrate on its life insurance, annuities and investment businesses.

Despite the upturn in fortunes for Kemper, those eyeing the stock should do so with caution at this point after its recent rise, although KEM should be a buy for investors seeking growth and income from its 2.4 percent dividend.

Lingenfelter, 48 city clerk

Park City residents are in mourning because of the death of the former city clerk.

Max Lingenfelter, age 48, died Jan. 29 at Lake Forest Hospital after suffering from cancer.

"He was a real asset to the community. He will be missed," Mayor Rob Allen said.

Born March 16, 1945, in Leavenworth, Kansas, he was employed as a maintenance foreman at Abbott Laboratories for the past 16 years. He was city clerk in Park City from 1983 to 1989. He was a Viet Nam veteran and retired from the Navy Reserve as Chief Petty Officer after serving 11 years.

On April 20, 1968 he married Sandra Snyder.

He is survived by sons Matthew and Scott of Park City and a daughter Susanne, also of Park City; his mother, Mary, of Leavenworth, Kansas; 4 brothers - William (Joan) Lingenfelter, of Leavenworth, Kansas; Daniel (Patti) Lingenfelter of Selma, North Carolina; Michael and Mark (Patty) Lingenfelter of Leavenworth; 2 sisters, Mary Ann (Doug) Robker, of Baton Rouge, LA and Jane Alford Lingenfelter of Topeka, Kansas. He was preceded in death by his father, Max, in 1982.

Funeral services were held at Marsh Funeral Home in Gurnee. Memorials to American Cancer Society are appreciated.

Griefnotes

Is my grief typical?

We are all individuals and we will react to loss of a loved one in our own manner. Some feelings and behaviors we may expect are anger, guilt, depression, disbelief, jealousy, inability to sleep well, lack of appetite or confusion. It takes time for these feelings to subside. Over a year or more we can expect our feelings to lessen as we begin to reorganize our life and find it easier to do things for ourselves. If you are generally able to do things for yourself, you are probably doing well. If not, do not be ashamed to ask for help.

How To Write A Bestseller.

Give the reader all the specifics.

Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as:

- color • size • condition
- brand name • age
- features • and benefits

Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts.

Include the price.

Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

Avoid Abbreviations.

Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW tires (white side wall) and won't take the time to figure them out.

Include phone number & hours.

Let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Run consecutive weeks.

Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your sales representative. Run your ad for at least two weeks.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Revised tax forms reduce burdens for filers in 1994

One way that we seek to promote simplicity and reduce your burden is by improving our forms and publications based on input from you, our customers. This week I'd like to tell you about some of these simplification efforts that you will be seeing on your 1993 tax forms.

We have changed Form 1040EZ so that not only single taxpayers but also qualifying married taxpayers (generally those with no dependents), who file jointly, can now use it. We expect about 2.4 million more filers will be able to use the 10-line Form 1040EZ. Instead of the 33-line Form 1040A, for the 1993 tax filing season.

By moving the Schedule C principal business activity codes to the instructions, we were able to add the vehicle usage questions from Form 4562 to the Schedule C. As a result, some five million Schedule C filers will no longer have to attach a separate Form 4562 to their returns.

I am particularly proud of the revised Schedule D because several Chicago District employees were very active in this project. We have completely revised Schedule D to require most filers to fill out a one-page instead of a two-page form.

Form 2441 for Child and Dependent Care Expenses now contains a decision graphic so you can more easily determine the parts of the form you need to complete. Because fewer than 6 percent of filers receive dependent care benefits, all line items related to the calculation of benefits have been moved to the later parts of the form to reduce the reading burden for four million filers.

We have also reformatted Form 6251 for computing individual alternative minimum tax liability to combine 12 previous, less frequently used lines into one line. This change permits us to provide additional information for the more frequently used lines remaining on the form.

If you are an employer, you will be pleased to know that we have also simplified the Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," by moving all non-payroll related items (like backup withholding and withholding for gambling winnings, pensions and annuities), to a separate Form 945. Streamlining the Form 941 will make things easier for employers and will also help the Social Security Administration to reconcile the Forms 941 to employee Forms W-2.

Not only are the forms simpler for 1993, the actual burden of taxes may be slightly lower for many taxpayers this year because of indexing of the standard deduction.

(For 1993, the individual exemption is $2,350 up from $2,300 for 1992. The standard deductions are: $3,700 if you are single, up from $3,600 in 1992; $5,450 for head of household, up from $5,250 in 1992; $6,200 for married filing jointly or qualifying widow(er), up from $6,000 in 1992; and $3,100 for those married filing separately, up from $3,000 in 1992).

If you have not yet received your tax package, or you need additional forms or publication, please call our forms depot toll free at 1-800-829-3676 and they will be mailed to you free of charge. Forms and publications are available at all IRS offices.

If you have any questions about taxes, please call our toll free assistance line at 1-800-829-1040.—by MARILYN W. DAY, IRS district director for northern Illinois

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I am coming up on 20 years employment with a well known national corporation. It has been told to me that I may be among a few employees who will be asked to take an early retirement. I feel very strong about continuing to work and had considered doing so for another 7-10 years before retiring. When approached by the company can I refuse? L.B.

A: Dear L.B. Hold on! Don't jump the gun on this. I have heard of some pretty sweet deals people have received from their employers upon accepting an early retirement program. In fact, one deal was so sweet that the individual took his early retirement and along with it came perks, benefits and $$$$. He decided to start a small business of his own which allowed him to fulfill a life-long desire to do so and further allowed him the flexibility to do some traveling. Since you have not been formally approached, consider what you would do if you were faced by this. Before you get yourself all worked up at the possibility find out about your corporate retirement plan, it may be wonderful. Plan ahead!

Q: Dear...Search: Just over three weeks ago I left a company I have worked at for four years. I left for a position that had opened up in our family business that I thought would be challenging. I left my former employer on very good terms and they were sorry to see me go. My problem is now I am sorry I left! I miss my old job and co-workers and I am finding this new position anything but challenging. I realize now that I may have made a mistake. What should I do? J.G.

A: Dear J.G. Be honest with everybody including yourself. Have you given this new position a fair chance? Something caused you to make that move to begin with. Was it money, a better opportunity or perhaps just as you said, a challenge? If you feel strong about your former employer, you have nothing to lose by speaking with your former Supervisor or the Personnel Department and letting them know how you feel. Be prepared for the strong possibility that your previous position may have already been filled with a new employee, maybe not! But being honest with them is worth a shot. The worst they can do is say "no" and if they do you still have a job that you may just start to enjoy a bit more with a little time. Good luck.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

OPEN HOUSE. SAT.-SUN. 12-5pm. Recently reduced Cambridge home in Gurnee. $133,900. 3-bedroom 1.5bath, family room with fireplace and MORE! Must See! (708) 816-4630.

KO
If you want a home that's easy to maintain, and fits on a small lot, the KO just might pique your interest. It measures a compact 48 feet by 40 feet and provides a slightly more than 1,050 square feet of living space. This plan could also serve as a duplex, with the second unit mirroring the first, and adjacent garages.

The bedrooms are small, but the open design and a generous use of glass in the group living areas keep them from feeling cramped. In the living room, a large window fills most of the front wall. Two smaller windows punctuate the side wall. A coat closet, directly in front of the entry, provides some separation between the living room and dining room without making the rooms feel boxy.

Sliding glass doors brighten the dining room and open into an enclosed patio courtyard. Protected from the wind on three sides, this cozy exterior nook makes an ideal location for outdoor dining as well as for nurturing potted plants.

An efficient U-shaped kitchen faces the street and is open to the dining room. Stove, sink and refrigerator cluster in a tight triangle that saves unnecessary steps. Utilities are close at hand, nestled in a pass-through space that connects the kitchen to the garage.

Besides being convenient, this arrangement is something of a safety feature. When you come home at night with a carload of groceries, you can park the car in the garage, shut the garage door, and carry the bags directly into the kitchen without stepping outside.

Bedrooms are to the rear and share a bathroom. The master bedroom has a walk-in closet. Families with young children will appreciate having all of the bedrooms close together. Couples or singles with no children can use one of the bedrooms as a home office or hobby room, and still have a room free for overnight guests.

For a study kit of the KO (403-45), send $9.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring Landmark's most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Potempa, defense sparks Carmel girls second half

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Erin Potempa was in an unfamiliar position when the starting lineup was introduced against Zion-Benton.

The Carmel guard was still sitting on the bench. Potempa is a junior and Coach Larry Whittier wanted to give seniors a chance to start in their last home game. The one-game role did not faze the junior, who scored 20 points in a 51-42 win.

Potempa, from Libertyville, scored 20 points, 15 in the second half as the Corsairs turned a one-point deficit to a 17-point lead.

"I do not take all the shots, but if it is open, I will hit it," Potempa said. "Coach said to go to the basket."

Her best effort is a 26-point game.

Trailing Zion, a second division North Suburban Conference team, the Corsairs opened the second half with a Potempa steal which led to a Jaime Wisler (7 points) lay-up and two free-throws by Potempa. Potempa hit two treys for a seven-point lead and had a strong assist to Colleen Krombach (10 points). Two Jamie Wisler free throws completed the 22-8 run early in the fourth.

"Our big thing is defense," Potempa said.

Carmel's press was the turning point, according to Whittier.

"Brezenger (Kathy), Jaime Wisler and McGill (Ann) picked it up defensively. It was our best defense of the game," Whittier said.

Whittier mentioned an intangible as the key to Potempa's season.

"It has been her attitude," he said.

The Corsairs played the same way they did in terms of hustle the game before, but that was against state-ranked Glenbrook South.

"It was the same intensity level and I admired it. They just outplayed us. It was hard for them to come off the bench, but we moved the ball and did not try to force things," Whittier said.

Carmel (7-11 after the win) was led on defense by Brezenger. The senior had 10 take-aways, 4 assists and 6 rebounds. Jamie Wisler had 5 takeaways and 3 rebounds and Anne Zielinski had 7 rebounds.

Carmel, the 12th seed in the first round of the Highland Park sectional, opens at No. 5 Round Lake Feb. 14.

Illness puts hoops in view for Hanlin

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

During most College of Lake County basketball games, Justin Hanlin had a habit of taking a glance or two his father's way.

"He would give me a sign depending on how I was playing," Hanlin said.

In a contest at Oakton during one of the coldest nights of the decade, basketball was put in perspective for the Warren grad. His father, Don, had suffered a stroke.

"It is a miracle," Justin said of his father's recovery. "He is conscious, sitting in a chair and his eyes open. He lifts his left arm to respond to us," Hanlin said.

"At first, I could not think of anything but him and I wanted to quit the team. But my family talked me out of it, saying that is what my Dad would want me to do," Hanlin said.

Hanlin had played basketball since he was three-years old. He was coming off one of his best stretches as a Lancer when he scored 46 points, had 15 rebounds and 16 assists and earned Lancer-of-the-Week honors. That was before a game Tuesday against Waubensee.

Despite a slow start, he managed 13 points in an 86-77 loss.

Coach Bruce Smith, who was missed the home game because of the flu, has described the freshman as a consistent player.

"The game is a lot faster in college. You have to get your shots off quicker and dribble lower," Hanlin said.

Like most of the Lancers, Hanlin's shots were not falling the first half, but the team was still in the game, trailing 40-28.

Robert Kindle scored 13 of his 15 points in the second half. Ronzeyl Newsome had 13, Mike Rudd had 10 as CLC dropped to 1-5 Skyway Conference, 7-17 overall.

CLC's low-water mark came at the 11:55 mark when the Chiefs, led by Abe Edwards' 17 points, built up a 60-41 lead. The Lancers trimmed the lead to 10 with three minutes left, but could not get the margin within shooting range.

CLC women fall into foes' trap in latest hoop defeat

College of Lake County women's basketball team had a trapped feeling Tuesday.

It was too hard to tell if the Lancers have claustrophobia, but it appeared as though they did in a 58-57 loss to Waubensee. The Chiefs threw a trapping defense at the home team which held the Lancers to a scoreless four-minute, second half stretch.

"We struggle against the trap and make any trap look like it is the NBA," CLC Coach Don Zeman said.

CLC's loss overshadowed some fine performances before the trap. Christy Zink, from Round Lake, scored 15 points. Wauconda grad Heather Ford had 14, including a one-handed shot which went in. Julie Frankowski, a Warren grad, had 10.

Williams, Bongratz help Foresters' bid in league

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Veteran Jermaine Williams watchers will remember certain Sunday mornings at North Chicago High's gym.

Williams showed his potential then, drilling three-pointers as overmatched opponents in the Foss Park league watched.

Williams still enjoys a good game of hoops on Sundays, only at a much higher level. The Carmel High grad was simply super this Super Bowl Sunday in scoring 29 points in a 73-68 Lake Forest College win over Knox.

Williams canned 5 second half three-pointers. The final one was from 30 feet, but Williams was so hot everyone in the Lake Forest College gym knew it would go in. If Williams was a basketball video game figure, he would have fire coming from his feet, he was that hot. The 30-footer was drilled with two seconds left.

"I just shoot. I got in a groove,"

Williams said.

The freshman said there has been some adjusting to college hoops.

"It is difficult in college. You have to be tough and work hard for your shots," Williams said.

Williams plays hard on defense, according to LFC Coach Ed Timm.

"He has done a good job defensively," Timm said. "Every team needs a player like Jermaine."

"Ed Cunningham takes the other team's point guard," Timm said. The senior, then takes the pressure off Williams defensively in the more intense college game.

Williams gave a spark to the home team just when it looked like Knox would extend a 35-26 lead.

Matt Roszak hit two field goals before Williams drained a three with :32 left in the first half to cut the lead to two. Teammate Mike Newquist (5 points) got into the act with a three-pointer which cut the lead to one, 37-36 Knox at half-time.

Williams topped his season best of 27 with the effort as Lake Forest won for the second straight time. He missed just once in the second half.

The Foresters, 3-4 Midwest Athletic Conference, are 3-11 overall after a rough start for the first-year coach. Lake Forest is in the middle of a road conference week when it is at Lawrence Feb. 5 at 3 p.m. and University of Chicago at 7 p.m. Feb. 8. Ripon College begins a stretch of three home games Feb. 12 at 3 p.m.

Ben Bongratz is another area grad contributing at Lake Forest. He was the leading rebounder last year. He scored 12 points in an 81-59 Lake Forest win over Illinois College and 10 against Knox. He, too, was impressed by Williams.

"It was great. He kept us in the game," Bongratz said of Williams.

Bongratz, a Warren grad, is the older brother of Joe.

Overall, the Bongratz family had a good weekend. Joe had 36 points and 22 rebounds as Warren split North Suburban Conference games.

"We have a dispute about that," Ben said as to who is better. "But he calls me after one of his games or I'll call him."

Bongratz was a center on last year's team. "I originally came here because it was close to home and I knew I would play. I am a post defender this year. It is a grunt role, but I love defense and it creates offense for me," Bongratz said.

"Coach plays a lot more guys. Your minutes are down, but you are not as tired," Bongratz said.

The sophomore believes the Foresters may make some hay in the MWAC before it is all said and done.

No matter what the rest of the season brings for the Bongratz boys, there is always eighth grader Angle, who is at Viking Junior High.

MICHAEL FOHRMAN OF FOHRMAN DODGE

Only one athlete in history ever played in BOTH the Super Bowl AND in major league baseball... Any idea who that was?... Answer is Tom Brown who played in the first 2 Super Bowls in 1967 and 1968 as a defensive back with Green Bay... Brown previously was a first baseman and outfielder in the American League in baseball in 1963.

Here's a surprising basketball oddity... Although the Boston Celtics have been one of the most successful teams in the National Basketball Association over the years, they've NEVER had a player who led the league in scoring at the end of ANY season in history... Unbelievable, but true.

Where's the biggest scoreboard in the world?... It's at the SkyDome Stadium in Toronto... The scoreboard there is 35 feet high and 115 feet wide--and has 420,000 lightbulbs!

I bet you didn't know...

Thinking baseball proves respite from tough winter

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The setting was more akin to phrases such as "To Be Or Not To Be" or "Break a Leg" (figuratively speaking, of course) than "Hey batter, batter".

Although an auditorium stage is not a place where one usually would schedule a baseball workout, it did not take much to imagine the crack of the bat and breaking open another cold pop. And the idea of economizing time and space was one of the messages Southern Illinois University baseball coaches brought to area baseball and softball coaches at Warren High Saturday.

SIU assistant Coach Ken Henderson spoke of the need for communication.

"If a pitcher is yelling, 'I'm covering third, I'm covering third', he will be there because he feels a responsibility," Henderson said.

"Pretty soon, they will start talking like crazy," Henderson said.

This even includes a simple game of catch. The Salukis have drills where players yell, chest, chest - where they want the ball thrown.

The Salukis borrowed an old football drill to improve footwork of infielders. Infielders run through tires.

Also, it's not necessary to have a lot of room to hit ground balls. Besides, Henderson said, "I would rather know now if a player can field a hard grounder than find out in a game-winning situation. I would rather have a player who is tough and a little less talented. You want your infielders to be mean and nasty," Henderson said.

Kurt Endenbrock, a graduate assistant at SIU, discussed outfield fundamentals. A SIU grad, he was drafted by Oakland and spent a cup-of-tea (two years) in the A's farm system before returning to Carbondale. He was a long-time infielder before being converted to an outfielder.

"The most important thing is to sprint to the ball. If you sprint to the ball, there is more of a chance the third base coach will not send a runner," Endenbrock said.

He acknowledged that there is no way outfielders can pay attention 100 percent of the time. They should, though, when they are in a six-foot "Circle of Life". After a play, they can step out of the circle, where 100 percent concentration is demanded.

For SIU Head Coach Sam Riggelman, the five-year old SIU Clinic North program is a stepping stone to another season.

"Our first game is four weeks away. We start practice at 5:30 a.m. Monday," Riggelman said.

Baseball notes: Riggelman likes the chances of Craig Shelton and Dave Farrow, Warren grads, to contribute as SIU tries to make gains in the Missouri Valley Conference. Both are sophomores. When the weather breaks next month or in April, look for big improvements to Faulkner Field in Gurnee, where Gurnee Boys Baseball has invested several thousand dollars in improvements and new seating at Carmel High.

Carmel gymnasts tradition continues at loop

The Corsairs readied for Tuesday's regional at Libertyville with a 143.55 to 139.8. CHS had downed host Resurrection, 136.95 to 134.95 in the ESCC.

The defending state champs had troubles on the bars at the ESCC, but had enough strong performances to win their fourth straight conference title.

"We fell flat on the bars, but it did not affect us too much. Tonight we will go out with the confidence to do our routines," Carmel Coach Norb Bendixen said hours before the LHS regional.

There were no such problems as everything clicked for Carmel as the CorGina Zubert won the vault with a 9.25 and Kathy Kloczykowski was second in the all-around at 35.45 as highlights.

Kristen Hall was first in the floor exercise at 9.14.

Senior Amie Zancz won the balance beam in 9.1.

"The whole team has made progress. We have gotten together - all the way down to freshmen learning a new skill for the conference meet," the coach said. "It was successive meets on the road."

Zubert was recovering from shin splints. Allison Casper is still out with a torn knee ligament.

At the Libertyville regional, Carmel beat the North Suburban Conference champ Wildcats 143.55 to 139.8. Crystal Lake South had 133.3, Wheeling 130.85 and Waukegan 111.1.

Kloczkowski, a freshman, earned a second place in the all-around with a 9.2375 average. Her best score came in the floor exercise and vault, with 9.35s.

Junior Wendy Gold of Libertyville was third with a 36. Hall, a junior, gave Carmel two top five finishes with an 8.825 average.

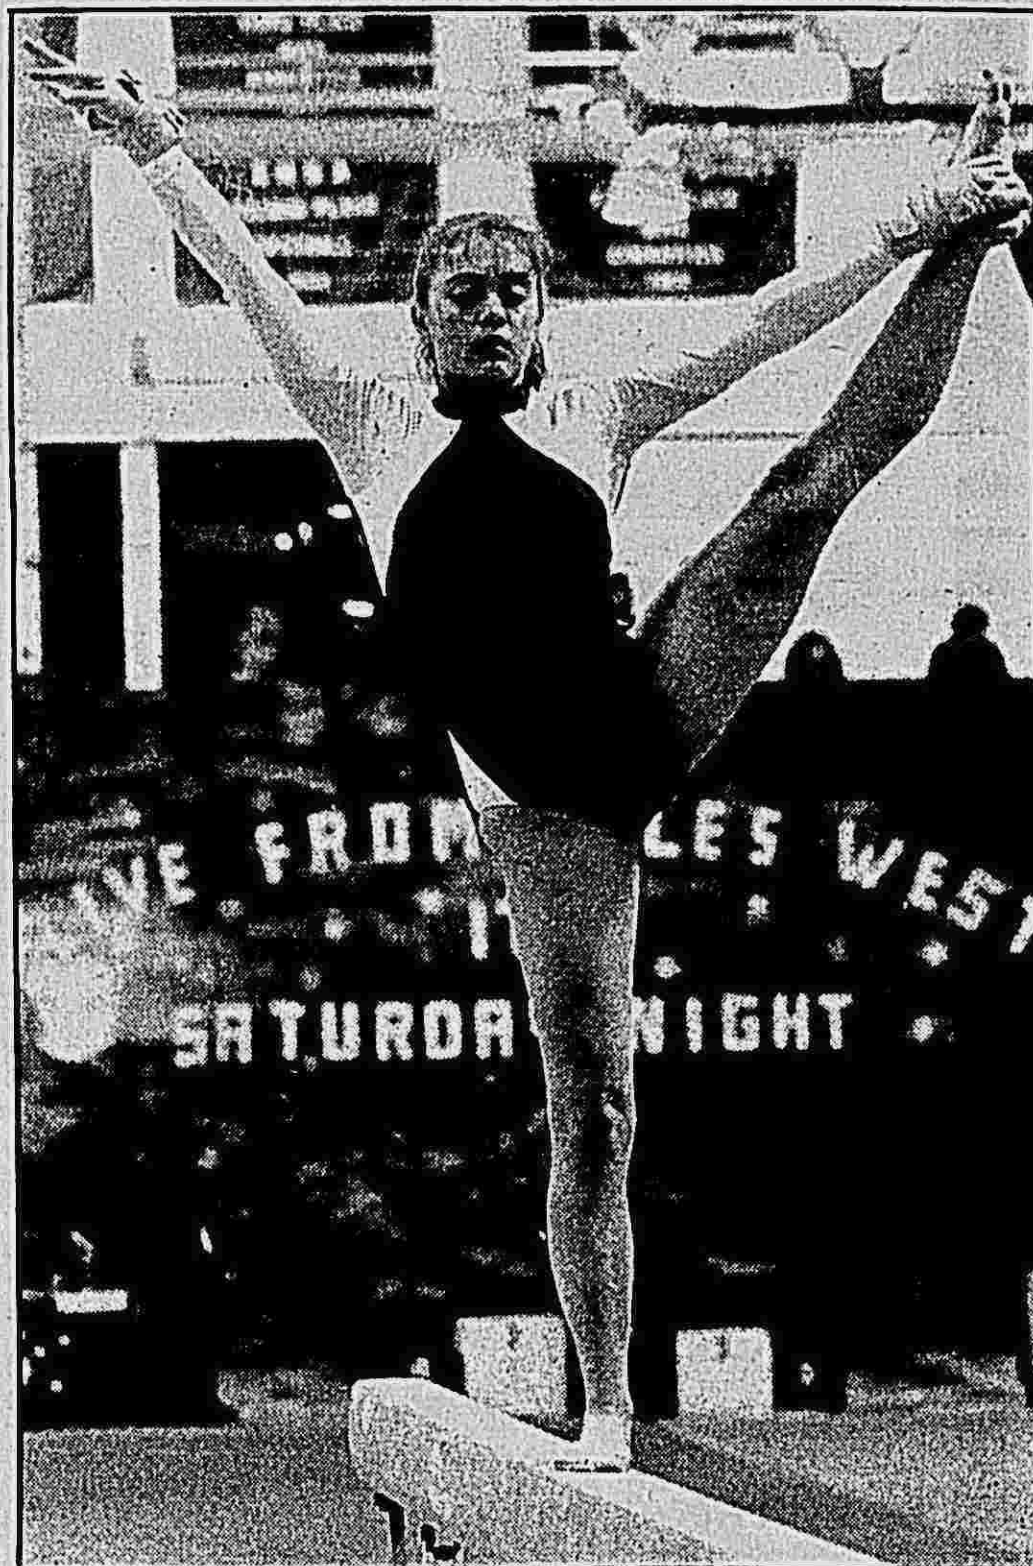

Kloczykowski won the beam with a 9.15 and Hall second at 9.0. Erin Gold had an 8.5, but Carmel's Becky Ambacher and Gina Zubert were 6th and 7th.

Zancz tied with two others the floor exercise with a 9.35. Kloczkowski and Wendy Gold also had the same score. Carmel was two-three in the uneven parallel bars. Zubert was second at 9.15, Kloczkowski third at 9.1.

Zubert beat out Wendy Gold for first-place in the vault, 9.55 to 9.5.

Libertyville Coach Curt Austin termed the chances of his team's 139.8 "very good for an at-large sectional bid," he said.

The Wildcats downfall was the balance beam. "We had four falls. Once the first girl fell, the other girls got tight. It is like making a free throw in basketball. But we were very satisfied with the effort," Austin said.

Working against odds helps Mustangs pace

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Opponents of Mundelein High's basketball team may have had the impression before.

"We practiced 5-on-10," Coach Dennis Kessel said after romping the previous contending Zion-Benton club 89-60.

"We practiced horribly before Libertyville (a 91-89 overtime win), but we were really focused this week. You could have heard a pin drop," Kessel said.

Sean Stachouse drove past the Zion defense after his teammates received long rebounds en route to a 26-point game. Thad Miller was the workhorse, with 21 points (topping his average by 8) and 15 rebounds.

"That was my best game," Miller said of the Zion contest.

Miller's low post play was strong once he overcame a couple of early turnovers.

"I was almost a little too anxious. It's hard to tell why I was so open. It looks like you are open, but they are so quick," Miller said.

Mundelein used a 34-point second quarter to down North Chicago in an 83-80 thriller. Coleman led with 20 points. Syackhouse, the former Warhawk, had 12 as Mundelein improved to 11-0 NSC, 19-1 overall. North Chicago, winners at Warren the night before, fell to 3-8, 5-15.

"I'll be motivated for that one," Stackhouse said before the North Chicago game.

The Mustangs were on a mission not to allow Zion to make 15 3-pointers as it did in almost upsetting the almost certain sectional top seed earlier. Mundelein hosts Fenton Feb. 4 before traveling to Lake Forest Feb. 5 for 7:30 p.m. games.

Miller knew he was going to face Greg Adams. "I had played on the same AAU team with him and he had the green light then," Miller said.

Perhaps remembering how to defend Zion's Adams, Miller took charge early. A three-point play gave MHS a 12-4 lead and a tip-in doubled the score, 16-8.

Zion could not buy a basket, missing its first 8 shots. Mundelein, meanwhile, worked its offense to perfection. "We want to constantly attack," Coach Kesel said.

"People were questioning us saying we were not the best team because we did not want to play defense. We have always had the ability," captain Gerald Coleman said.

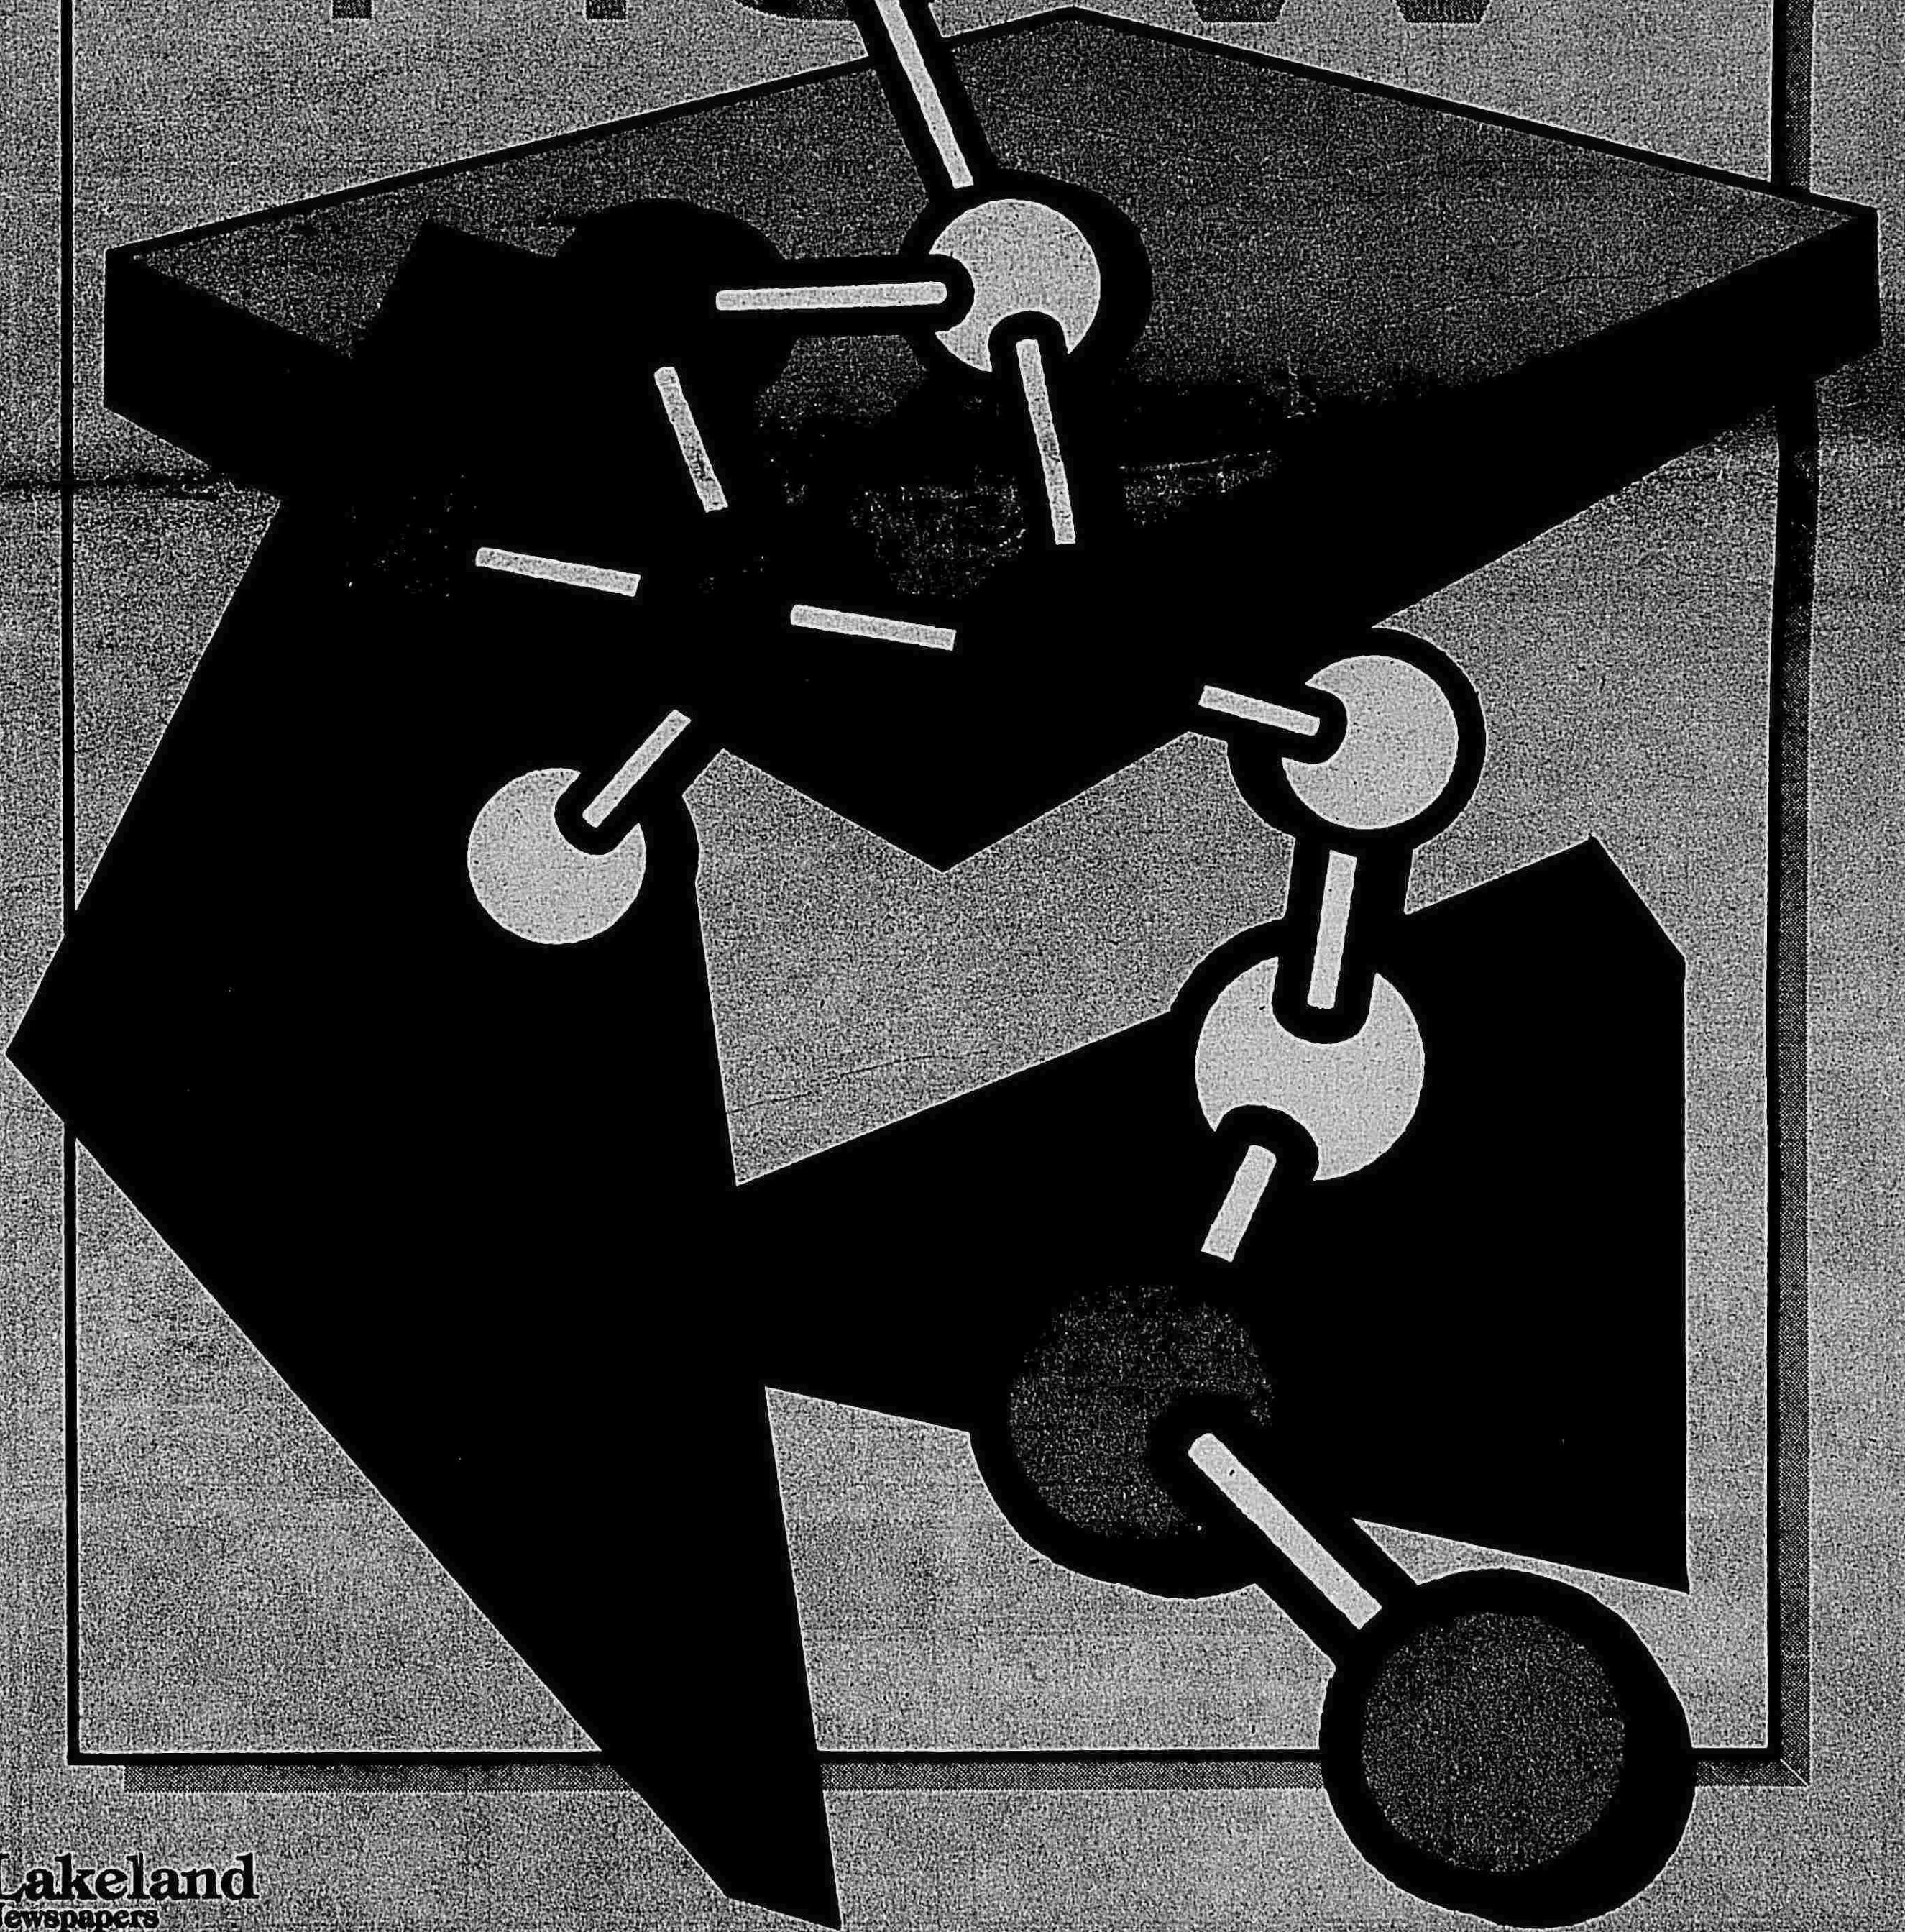

Smart fans. As smart as preparing for a foe with numbers against you.

AFTER DRAMATIC AND PROFOUND CHANGES, OUR COUNTY HAS EMERGED AS ONE OF THE ECONOMIC LEADERS OF OUR COUNTRY. THESE CHANGES, MANY RESULTING FROM INCREASING INDUSTRIALIZATION, HAVE CREATED OPPORTUNITIES FOR EVERYONE. WHILE WE LOOK WITH HOPE TO THE FUTURE, WE MUST REFLECT ON THE PAST, REMEMBERING THE DREAMS OF OUR FOREFATHERS, MANY OF WHICH HAVE BECOME REALITIES. WE, IN TURN, MUST LOOK TO TOMORROW, TO DREAM OF WHAT COULD BE AND PREPARE, BECAUSE THE FUTURE IS NOW.

Affordable housing may be within reach, don't limit choices

Affordable housing, it's no joke and it may be within reach for more people in Lake County than you might think.

An Affordable Housing Commission is set up for the purpose of helping people with low and moderate incomes to find housing. The scope of the problem as it exists today for the not well to do is finding a home or apartment they can afford and being able to come up with the funds to move into the first home, according to Mary Ellen Tamasy, executive director of the commission.

First of all, affordable housing is defined in terms of people with incomes of $40,000 or lower a year, houses at $125,000 or less and apartments at a cost of $650 to $750 per month or lower.

"What we are seeing is people having to stay in rental units longer," Tamasy said. They are paying $800 to $900 rents and can't afford to make the down payment and the closing costs."

Tamasy said the issue is really supply and demand. There is high demand for multi-family dwellings and first-time home property but limited numbers of those structures available. It creates a problem for first-time renters who have few options because the renters haven't moved into the homes.

The number of units is not keeping up with demand which further drives up the cost of housing causing people to delay their first home purchase, according to Tamasy.

An example in the reverse direction is the Lilac Apartments for seniors in Fox Lake. The apartments aren't just benefiting seniors but new home buyers as well.

"The seniors are selling their homes valued between $90,000 and $100,000 and moving into the apartments. First-time home buyers are moving into those homes," Tamasy said.

Tamasy said a drive for the commission in the next two years is to better serve the apartment renters. The goal is to find more low cost alternatives for renters.

The people in the group are generally people performing service work, single parents and seniors on fixed incomes.

"They are people providing valuable services to the community. They are construction workers, engineers and utility workers," Tamasy said.

Part of the myth behind affordable housing is it drives down the property values in a neighborhood.

"People think because it is low cost housing its bad. The houses we are talking about are not going to drive down property values," Tamasy said.

The commission also is responsible for administering federal funds for low cost housing. The commission doled out $1.2 million in grants which was used for about 100 homes. Tamasy expects similar numbers this year as well.

Quality constructed homes can be built in the $100,000 to $125,000 range. A demonstration house is being built in Gurnee which will show that fact. The house will be finished in about 60 days, according to Tamasy.

Someone with an income of $40,000 a year can purchase a home in the $100,000 to $125,000 range if they take advantage of resources available to them, according to Tamasy.

People who fit the category listed above who want assistance in searching for housing are encouraged to call the commission. The commission provides information and contacts and keeps people on waiting list. For those with questions, call 708-263-7478.—by ALEC JUNG

Technology aids faster emergency response time

Lake County residents may see faster emergency service as early as this spring if all goes well with the Lake County Emergency Telephone Systems Board's latest plans, including inputting every street, intersection and address range in the County into one computer system.

Wauconda Fire Chief David A. Dato, board chairman, said the board is currently implementing a complete program force in three phases, with the enhanced 911 telephone system already up and running.

The second phase includes inputting the streets and intersections information into a Computer Aided Dispatching (CAD) system, said Jeannine Ostidick, E911 board coordinator. With 10 to 12 people collecting the information from the Lake County Sheriffs Department, Antioch, Wauconda, Island Lake and Lake Zurich, Ostidick hopes it will all be completed by April 1.

These villages and Kildeer are currently all hooked into the ETSB's own CAD system, but the larger CAD system will reach out to about 23 different villages, as Antioch, Lake Zurich and Wauconda provide dispatching for smaller communities.

The majority of the County will be covered by the system, which will allow the dispatcher to manually type in information from the caller and, based on the situation, identify what kind of services need to be sent out and the nearest in the area, Ostidick said. Other information, such as the nearest intersection and fire hydrant will also be available.

Dato said the CAD system will also tell the officer or fire fighter the number of times the agency has been there and can read over old calls while on route, which may provide personal information noted from the last call.

All the villages hooked into the network will be able to work off the same software and communicate with other departments, she said.

They are now in the middle of putting all the information together and should have the CAD system implemented within the next few months, Dato said.

The third phase calls for installing approximately 200 computer terminals into police and fire vehicles among CAD users, allowing for the information seen on the dispatcher's terminal to also be displayed in the vehicles, Dato said, providing "another weapon in our arsenal" to provide safety.

"This way calls are dispatched without voice," he said, which sidesteps the problem of burglars who have police scanners.

Information on vehicle registration, license plates and drivers licenses through LEADS, a law enforcement computer system, will also be available, Ostidick said.

The mobile terminals should be in place within the next year, and Dato hopes to eventually expand the capabilities to a point where the responding vehicle will have a blue print of the building they are going to.

"We are really excited about it," he said. The board is willing to do anything to make for a speedier and faster response time and improve their performance, according to Dato.

Ostidick said the computers will be paid for through the 75-cent surcharge appearing on phone bills of residents living in CAD-affiliated municipalities in Lake County.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Population expected to increase 20 percent in decade

Population by race/ethnicity		Percent of Change

Asian/Pacific Islander (including Hispanic)	68%		32%

Lake County has entered the decade of the traffic jam. As lines of cars snake along roads that haven't grown fast enough to handle them, drivers may wonder, "Where did all these people come from? Who are they and where are they going?"

The transportation problem will be explored elsewhere in this issue. To discover just who may be sitting in that car in front of you, read on. The data here is taken from 1980-90 census figures and 2010 projections from a 1993 environmental scan conducted by the College of Lake County.

First, the numbers. The population of 468-square-mile area known as Lake County grew from 15 percent from 382,638 in 1970 to 440,372 in 1980. In the next decade the county grew another 17 percent to 516,418 in 1990.

Population areas closer to the City of Chicago—Highland Park, Deerfield and Highwood—remained fairly stagnant. The figures in outlying areas held some surprises.

Suburbanites discovered Island Lake and increased its population by 184 percent, which actually only converts to 4,449. Similarly, Hawthorn Woods increased 167 percent to 4,423, and Long Grove 141 percent to 4,749. People weren't moving to Round Lake Park, though. They remained at 4,045.

According to the CLC 1993 Environmental Scan of Lake County, the population of minority groups increased at a much faster rate than white non-Hispanics, but minorities still ranked low in the total population at 2 percent Asian, 7 percent Hispanics and 7 percent blacks.

These groups, younger on the average, continued to have lower incomes, higher unemployment, lower home ownership and a lower educational level.

With the median age of the county at 31.7, Hispanics checked in at 23.3. The lowest average income was found in black households at $32,798. The fewest number of home owners were found in the black segment of Lake County's population with 41 percent. The labor force listed an unemployment rate of 9 percent for blacks, followed closely by Hispanics at 8.6 percent in a county with an average unemployment rate of 3.7 percent.

The total population is forecast at 640,693 by 2010, only a 20 percent jump in 20 years. The table predicts Grayslake to double and Indian Creek to increase more than 1450 percent from 247 to 3,597.

These table are worth checking out by anyone who would like to know what roads to avoid or, more importantly, where to buy land.—by SUZIE REED

Try 'on site' approach in home decorating

Decorating Den in Gurnee offers the opportunity to shop in the comfort of your home or office, instead of a showroom.

Mary Leben owns and operates the business that makes the decorating chore hassle-free and enjoyable. She drives her colorful van with over 5,000 samples of drapery, carpet, wall coverings, furniture, blinds and shades to customers. Decorating Den also offers the expertise of an experienced interior decorator.

Entering its seventh year in business, Leben's Decorating Den is one of the franchise's top producers, and top sales leaders. Leben brings to her business a solid background in art and design, which only benefits her clients.

One big advantage to decorating in the home is that colors can be matched under true lighting in the room where they will be enjoyed.

Leben has many happy and satisfied clients who have used her business repeatedly for the next decorating project. Continuing a project with the same decorator allows the client to begin a friendship and the next project is as fun as the first.

Fire service proving labor of love for some families

Last fall, Buffalo Grove Fire Dept. personnel responded to a call about a young boy hit by a van.

The boy has since recovered and has talked with Buffalo Grove firemen who rescued him. It is moments such as those which keep fire service families reporting every day to area fire departments, many carrying on long-standing family traditions.

Larry and Deb Luzon are both full-time members of the Buffalo Grove department. A big smile comes to their faces when incidents such as the youngster recovering from an injury are discussed.

"It is remarkable to see someone so close to death and then months later walk in and thank you for saving their life. It makes all the hours and education worth it," Deb Luzon said.

Deb's mother was a nurse and she had experience on the emergency medical side of fire service before deciding she wanted to join full-time.

Larry started as a paid on call, part-timer in Lake Zurich. In addition to his Buffalo Grove duties, he is part-time photographer for Gurnee Fire Dept. on a paid-on-call basis.

"Everyone in it has the attitude of wanting to help people," Deb said.

Larry completed classes in arson investigation through the State Fire Marshal's office.

Debbie's specialties are the CPR program and disaster management. She was a member of the Lake County dive team.

"We usually get 10 to 15 people a month for CPR class. It is the difference between life and death, but some people have misconceptions. We want them to know the basics so they can help in a problem before we get there," Deb said.

Shifts of 24 hours on and 48 hours off do not leave much free time for the couple. They do not work the same shift. Downhill skiing and bike rides are hobbies.

"Training is a lot more sophisticated. It is not just putting out fires. There is the paramedic side and the public education," Larry said.

The two agree the second station in Gurnee, approved by voters with a 65 percent approval last fall and in the planning stages, is much needed.

Buffalo Grove has three stations, 51 support personnel and seven support staff.

Snowmobile safety is a concern of firemen this time of year.

Wadsworth-based Newport Fire Dept. can count on a bevy of family members on staff. There is Mike and Don Wells, and a number of brother-in-law combinations and three Campanellas - Pete, Pete Jr. and Rocky.

"I do what the young kids tell me. They are much more educated than I am," Pete Campanella, a 25-year veteran, said.

"Everybody has to give something back to the community," he commented.

Campanella earlier served at Glenview Rural Fire Dept., which is no longer in existence due to municipal expansion.

Pete Jr. has been on the department 18 years.

"I think it is a super bunch of people," Campanella said.

New Grayslake Fire Chief Don Mobley's sister Kim served as a paid on call member at Round Lake Area Fire Protection District.

"It was something she wanted to do. Maybe she saw the satisfaction I was getting from the job," Mobley said.

Greg Formica and his brother Dave are both full-time at Grayslake.

"I always wanted to do it," Formica, a lieutenant, said.

Formica has seen the fire district grow over the past few years. "We're in a busier pace, but not anything we can't handle," Greg said. —by STEVE PETERSON

Crime still critical worry in future

Crime is a continuing concern as Lake County residents look to the future needs.

One police chief sees an increase of violent crime and significant increase in gang related activity. The amount of property crimes has decreased in the few years.

"Violent crime for a number years has been on the increase. We have seen a decrease in property related crimes," Lindenhurst Jack McKeever said.

The crime figures can be somewhat misleading. The Illinois Uniform State Crime Reports show reported crime. As an example as many as half of all rapes go unreported and some smaller thefts are never reported in some areas but reported in others, according to McKeever.

Sometimes the statistics themselves aren't statistically accurate. As an example Hainesville had the highest rate of crimes per 1,000 residents but hardly any instances of crime.

McKeever said in the future the issue of criminalization of drugs will be debated. He is not taking a position he is saying the issue will be debated in the next few years. "Society is going to have to evaluate the issue," he said.

The causes for increases of crime may be the broken families. The breakdown of family structures lend themselves to violent crimes," McKeever said.

The issues in the extended future will be how residents will react to crime.

"People will spend more time inside the home buying sophisticated alarm systems. They may feel more reluctant to go to large Metropolitan area like Chicago and go to the symphony," McKeever said.

McKeever said the nature of gangs has changed over the years. They are now more violent and active in the drug trade. —by ALEC JUNG

Several definitions of common terms to decipher tax talk

With the passage of a new tax law and the arrival of tax season, taxes are on everyone's minds and lips. To help you better understand all that tax talk, the Illinois CPA Society offers the following definitions of common terms.

Adjusted gross income—The amount of income used as the basis for determining your eligibility for certain deductions. Specifically, it refers to the balance you obtain after reducing your gross income by certain adjustments and deductions, such as alimony and deductible contributions to Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs).

Taxable income—For individuals, taxable income is adjusted gross income reduced by certain deductions, adjustments and personal exemptions. It is the amount you use as the base to calculate your tax liability.

Marginal tax rate—The tax rate at which each additional dollar of income over a specific ceiling is taxed. For example, under the new tax law, married individuals filing jointly are subject to a marginal tax rate of 36 percent on taxable income in excess of $140,000.

Capital gains tax—The tax paid on the gain realized on the sale or exchange of a capital asset, such as stocks and bonds. The current maximum capital gains tax is 28 percent.

Luxury tax—A 10 percent excise tax that applies to luxury cars valued at $30,000 or more for 1993. As a result of the new tax law, in future years this $30,000 threshold will be indexed for inflation. The new tax law repealed the luxury tax on equipment installed after 1990 to help disabled people operate a vehicle. It also did away with the luxury tax on big-ticket purchases of boats, aircraft, jewelry and furs.

Casualty loss—Casualty losses result from a sudden, unexpected or unusual event, such as a fire, hurricane or flood. Within certain limits, personal casualty losses are deductible from your AGI.

Child and dependent care credit—A credit of up to 30 percent of the expenses you incur for care of a qualified dependent when the expenditures make it possible for you to work.

Dependent—For tax purposes, dependents are individuals whom you support financially, and who meet certain other requirements, such as relationship, residency and income tests.

Dependency exemption—A fixed deduction that you may claim for any individual who qualifies as your dependent. For 1993, each exemption is worth $2,350. The exemption phases out if your AGI exceeds $108,450 for single individuals, $162,700 for married individuals filing jointly, $135,600 for heads of household, and $81,350 for married individuals filing separately.

Earned income credit—A credit of up to $3,370 is available to lower income taxpayers. The 1993 tax law expanded the credit to include some childless couples as well as those with children.

Itemized deductions—Deductions from your adjusted gross income for such items as medical expenses, state and local taxes, charitable contributions, unreimbursed employee business expenses, moving expenses, and casualty and theft losses. There are specific requirements for and limitations on the deductibility of each of these items. In most cases, taxpayers whose total itemized deductions exceed the standard deduction (see below) can itemize their deductions.

Miscellaneous itemized deductions—These include certain unreimbursed job and business expenses, expenses directly connected with the production of income, and fees for tax preparation services. Only those miscellaneous expenses that exceed 2 percent of your AGI are deductible.

Moving expense deduction—A deduction for certain expenses necessitated by an employment-related job transfer, provided that the distance between the taxpayer's new job and former home is at least 35 miles farther than the distance between the taxpayer's old job and the former residence. For tax years beginning in 1994, the distance test is increased from 35 to 50 miles.

Standard deduction—A deduction that may be claimed by those who choose not to itemize deductions on their tax return.

If you're still unclear about the meaning or relevancy of these and other tax terms, consult a CPA or another tax adviser.

Control closing day jitters

For those who haven't experienced it before, a real estate closing can be an exciting but uniquely menacing affair. Tension associated with this activity may start to build weeks before the event actually happens. And few are fully prepared for what will transpire when the big day finally arrives, says Gregory M. Kosin, president of Greater Illinois Title Co., a leading title company that coordinates real estate closings from nine full-service offices in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Although your attorney may explain what's expected of you at closing, no one really expects you to fully understand everything that's going on. You may dutifully sign every document that is thrust your way, and make the required payments without flinching and still feel like a spectator at the big event.

While it's supposed to be "your day," you may get the impression that the moment really belongs to the agents and specialists who are acting in your behalf.

You've probably been told to "relax" and "not worry." But a nervous excitement often begins as soon as the participating parties gather around the conference table and go face to face for what may be the first time, Kosin observes.

When you signed the purchase contract, you probably believed that buying a house is one of the most important decisions you're likely to make to improve your future. And you no doubt believed you were making the right decision.

However, as the closing unfolds second thoughts can creep in to compete for your attention. From where you sit, it may seem that matters of utmost importance to your well-being are being dealt with in a cursory fashion.

While you may tell yourself that what's happening is probably just routine, the serious demeanor of closing participants may give you the impression that the entire process could easily come unraveled over the tiniest of details.

Mood swings are not uncommon as the closing drama unfolds. But buyers shouldn't be concerned if they can't follow every nuance or absorb every detail.

If the buyer and seller are generally satisfied with the terms of the sales contract, they should not allow themselves to become intimidated by the legal process, or by the confrontational aura that sometimes surrounds these events, Kosin believes.

"It's true that snags can develop and cause the process to become untracked. But most real estate closings are exactly what they appear to be—professional, businesslike events that succeed in transferring property from one individual to another in an efficient and permanent (until next time) fashion," he says.

CPAs offer financial advice to ease pain of new tax law

If you're one of the taxpayers walloped by President Clinton's new tax law, here are some financial strategies from the Illinois CPA Society to help you cope with the tax law changes and ease some of the pain.

Make tax-favored investments

The Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1993 added two new tax rates: A 36 percent rate that applies to single people with taxable incomes between $115,000 and $250,000 and couples with taxable incomes between $140,000 and $250,000; and a 39.6 percent rate for all taxpayers with taxable incomes in excess of $250,000.

If you're among the individuals hit by the higher tax rates, CPAs suggest that you start making deposits early in the year into tax-deferred investments, such as employer-sponsored retirement plans and individual retirement accounts (IRAs). Also, consider taking advantage of tax-exempt bonds. Generally, municipal bonds are tax-exempt at the federal level and many are also exempt from state and local taxes.

Consider capital gains tax

Although individual income tax rates have risen under the new tax law, the maximum capital gains tax rate remains at 28 percent. As a result, it may be more advantageous for individuals who are in the higher tax brackets to convert investments that generate ordinary income currently into investments in which the increase in value will be taxed at the lower capital gains rate upon disposition. Investments that generate ordinary income include Certificates of Deposit (CDs) and money market accounts. Sales of capital assets, such as real estate or stocks, generate capital gains. Be aware, however, that a series of anti-conversion rules have been enacted to prevent taxpayers from converting to certain types of investments solely for the capital gain benefit. Contact your CPA for information before proceeding.

Shift income

You may also be able to reduce your income tax liability by shifting income to family members age 14 or older with lower income tax rates. (Special rules apply to children under age 14). If you're in the 39.6 percent bracket, shifting income to someone in the 15 percent bracket reduces tax on the income you transfer by 62.1 percent. You can also make annual gifts of up to $10,000 ($20,000 if the gift is from you and your spouse) to an unlimited number of recipients without incurring the gift tax.

Determine tax law's impact on estate plan

The new tax law also raised the top estate tax rate from 50 percent to 53 percent for estates of more than $2.5 million and to 55 percent for estates of more than $3 million. If you anticipate leaving an estate that is close to these thresholds, consider shifting assets through gifts, trusts and other means.

Social Security recipients should track income

Single retirees with incomes (including half their Social Security benefits) of $34,000 or more, and couples with incomes of $44,000 or more, must now pay taxes on up to 85 percent of their Social Security benefits instead of 50 percent. However, for singles with taxable incomes between $25,000 and $34,000, and for married couples with taxable incomes between $32,000 and $44,000, the taxable portion remains at 50 percent.

If you're a Social Security recipient and can control the amount of income you make in a given year, try to avoid triggering the additional tax on your benefits.

Track deductible expenses

Tax deductions can provide some relief from higher tax rates. CPAs point out that to ensure that you obtain the tax deductions you deserve, you should track deductible expenses, such as medical costs, charitable contributions, and miscellaneous expenses (including investment expenses and unreimbursed employee business expenses), throughout the year. And remember, the higher your marginal tax rate, the more valuable the deduction.

Tax workshops for flood victims offered

Representatives for the Illinois CPA Society, the Independent Accountants Assn. of Illinois, the Illinois Society of Enrolled Agents, and the Internal Revenue Service will host free tax workshops for Illinois flood and storm victims on Saturday, Feb. 5. Volunteers will be on hand to give direct tax preparation assistance and advice regarding loss deductions, evaluating costs, tax liability and other questions.

Flood and storm victims who live in one of the 13 northern Illinois counties declared a Federal disaster area during the summer of 1993 may be able to claim a casualty loss on their 1993 tax return or amend their 1992 tax return. For more information, or for a list of the various sites in the northern Illinois area, contact Cathy Barker at the Illinois CPA Society at 1 (800) 572-9850 or (312) 993-0393 ext. 271.

New rules for FHA borrowers

The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) has good news for home buyers, especially those short on cash. They have increased the maximum FHA mortgage amount. This means that, in some areas, you can now borrow as much as $151,725 for a single-family home or $194,100 for a two-family home. The previous ceiling for a single family home was $124,875.

In addition, in most cases the FHA now allows home buyers to include all closing costs in the loan, provided that the total remains within the maximum amount they're qualified to borrow.

The FHA has also lowered the mortgage insurance premium from 3.8 percent to 3.0 percent of the loan amount on a 30-year fixed rate mortgage. And, the premium can be financed as a part of the loan. (Mortgage insurance premiums are pooled to pay off loans that default.)

These changes mean that buyers can afford the home of their dreams. FHA down payment requirements range from 2 1/4 percent to 3 1/4 percent, which is considerably less than conventional mortgage requirements.

The table below shows the down payment necessary and the estimated total cash investment. The total cash investment includes closing costs, down payment and prepaid expenses.

These may vary depending on details of the purchase.

If you're considering an FHA loan, there are a few rules to be aware of.

Generally, you can qualify for a loan of up to twice your family income, unless bonuses and commissions are a sizable part of your earnings. Since bonuses and commissions can fluctuate widely it is harder to calculate them.

In the case of an FHA loan, the income guidelines are more liberal than conventional loans. But no more than 29 percent of your gross monthly income (income before taxes) should be spent on housing, including:

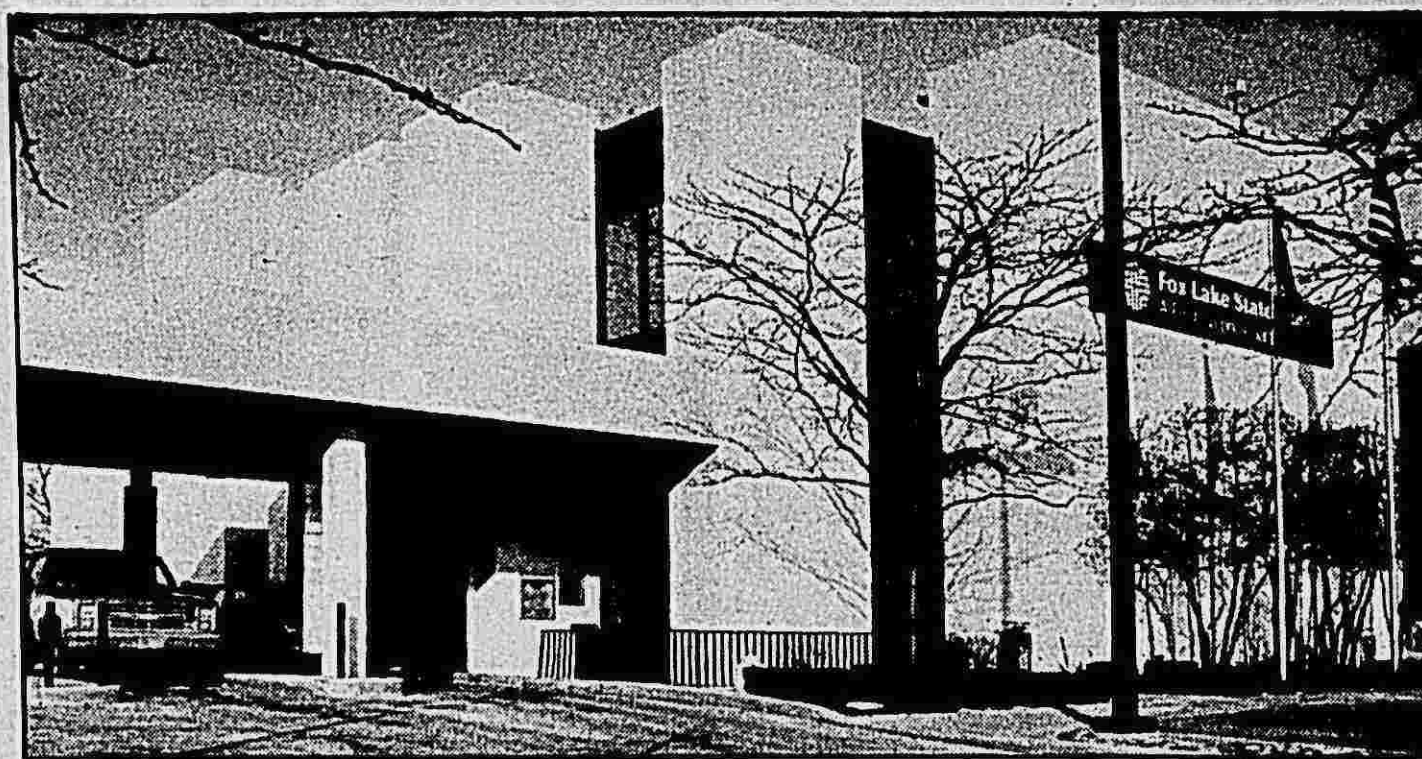

- mortgage payments
- insurance
- taxes
- special assessments

And, no more than 41 percent of your gross monthly income should go to housing expenses plus long-term debt. The FHA considers any expenses stretching six months or longer into the future as long-term debt.

In contrast, most conventional loans limit housing expenses to 25 percent of income and limit housing-plus-long-term debt to 33 percent of income.

There are a number of FHA mortgage terms available, including fixed and adjustable rate mortgages. FHA loans are available to all qualified buyers and are often assumable by future purchasers. Fox Lake State Bank offers FHA and VA mortgages, conventional mortgages and our Community Home Buyers program.—

'To bid or not to bid' consider following factors

If you needed heart surgery, would you consider asking three surgeons to submit bids and then go with the lowest price? Many homeowners think nothing of shelling out tens of thousands of dollars and opening up their home to a remodeler who was selected based solely on the price. Granted, a remodeling project is not a life-threatening operation. But it could have a definite effect on the family's well being and financial health. Many factors other than price should be considered before the best contractor for the specific project is found.

A common tactic is to ask three remodelers for bids. The homeowner often will throw out the high and the low and take the middle bid, confident the risk is minimized by dropping both extremes. There can be many reasons for a lowball bid, including shoddy materials, poor craftsmanship, inadequate safety precautions or a lack of insurance and licensing. Or, if you're lucky, the bid just may be from an inexperienced remodeler who's never done a job like yours before. Price drives the selection. As an afterthought, the homeowner may or may not check the remodeler's reputation, references and insurance and licensing documentation.

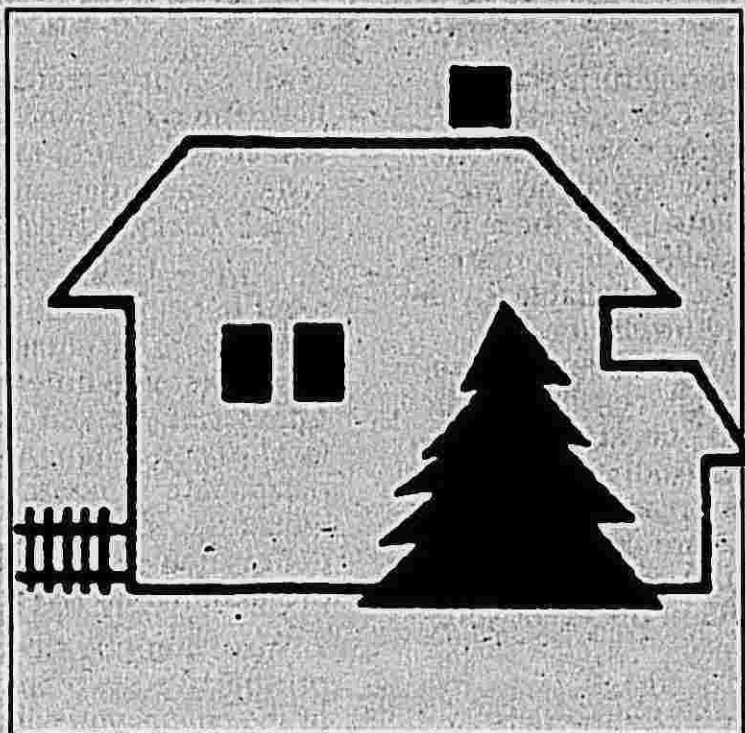

One of the first things to check is references. It is important that you talk with people who have hired the remodeler to do jobs similar to yours. A beautifully remodeled kitchen or bath shed little light on the remodeler's ability to add a second story to your home. You will want to ask the references if they had any problems with the work quality, payment schedule, employees or completion time. The most important question you can ask a reference is, "Would you hire this contractor again?" Some people will be hesitant to make negative comments, but the enthusiasm with which this question is answered can usually tell you everything you need to know.

After you have talked with the references, take a look at the work. Check the quality of the craftsmanship and materials, overall aesthetics and creativity, and how the project blends in with the rest of the house.

Also, verify the remodeler's insurance. If you hire a remodeler who doesn't carry workers compensation insurance and one of the employees falls off your roof, you could be liable for the medical bills and lost wages.

One indication of a professional remodeler is membership in a trade association such as the Professional Remodelers Assn. (PRA), which is affiliated with the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago (HBAGC) and the National Assn. of Home Builders (NAHB) Remodelers Council out of Washington, D.C. A fly-by-night con artist intent on ripping people off is not going to leave a paper trail by joining a professional trade association.

Once you have done your homework and feel confident the remodeler has a proven track record of quality and service, then it is time to discuss the project's details and price.

As with most job applicants, the decision may very well come down to feeling comfortable with the remodeler and being able to communicate. The remodeler will be spending many hours in your home, so it is important you feel comfortable from the outset. You should be able to work together combining your ideas and his expertise to turn the vision into a final product.

When you have selected a remodeler to ask for a bid, make sure the bid and eventual contract are as thorough and specific as possible, including material brand names and models, cost, payment schedule, procedure for change orders and completion date.

If you like the contractor and are confident with the work, but the bid comes in beyond your budget, all hope is not lost. Ask what can be scaled down to meet your budget. Look at minor items such as using quality stock cabinets instead of custom designed ones or selecting a different model of tiling, counter top or trim.

Quality is never cheap and good research may seem like a headache. But see what an expensive headache really is by having a lowball bidder take the roof of your house, disconnect the plumbing and leave no forwarding address as he skips out with the final payment.—by MIKE NAGEL, president, Professional Remodelers Assn.

Editor's note: The Professional Remodelers Assn. has a list of its members available to the public. To receive one call PRA at (312)237-2230.

Don't wait until April 14 to hire a tax preparer

If you are considering hiring a tax preparer, the Illinois CPA Society recommends that you begin your search for the right help now. Not all tax preparers are created equal, and those that may be the most qualified to prepare your return could be unavailable if you wait until your tax return is due.

Among those who can help you prepare your tax return are certified public accountants (CPA's), tax attorneys, and enrolled agents (individuals certified by the U.S. Treasury Department). These are the only professionals who can represent you legally before the IRS in the event your tax return is audited.

Determine your needs!

To ensure that you hire the right kind of professional, consider the complexity of your tax return. Do you have a home-based business? Have you had large capital gains or losses in the last year? Did you experience a large casualty loss in the past year? Do you have rental property? If so, try to retain a tax professional who has had experience dealing with these kinds of issues.

Even if your needs are not complex, you may still find the help of a tax preparer to be cost effective if you have experienced a major lifestyle change, such as retiring, divorcing or assuming full-time care for a relative. Additionally, if you think the new tax law will result in significant changes to your tax liability, it may benefit you to obtain assistance from a tax professional. Shop around!

If you've never hired a tax preparer before, you can start searching for one by contacting friends and associates who may have similar incomes or be involved in similar lines of work. You can also check with your local chamber of commerce, as well as civic and church groups for names of qualified tax professionals. Finally, ask other professionals you know, such as bankers and insurance agents, for referrals.

Once you've obtained a few names,

Hired household help? Taxes may be due

Hiring a housekeeper, baby sitter, or some other person to work in your home could make you an employer. As an employer, you have certain tax responsibilities.

When you have the legal right to control what, where, when and how a worker performs a job, you are an employer even if you do not exercise that control. Generally, you will have to try to call or personally interview at least three different tax preparers. This will enable you to assess differences in style, capabilities, and fee structures. Check backgrounds!

During the interview process, you'll want to learn as much as possible about the individuals work as tax preparers full-time or part-time, the number of years of experience, their level of education, and whether they participate in continuing professional education. You'll also want to ask about their memberships in professional tax associations.

Also, don't be shy about asking a prospective tax preparer for the names of the clients you can contact. Find out from past clients how satisfied they were with the work performed and whether it was done in a timely manner. You may also want to ask such clients how aggressive the tax professional is and consider whether you will be comfortable with his or her style. Discuss fees!

The cost for preparing your tax return can range anywhere from under $100 for a short-form return to thousands of dollars for a complicated return. Find out whether the tax preparer charges on an hourly basis, uses a lump sum, or bases the fee on the number of tax forms that need to be completed.

To assist your tax preparer in determining a fee, you may want to provide him or her with a copy of your tax return from last year, pointing out any differences in your financial or tax situation.

Beware of tax preparers who say they will base their fee on the refund they obtain for you. Chances are these individuals may be acting improperly. Prepare for the preparer!

The Illinois CPA Society emphasizes that any good tax preparer will want to find out how much you can contribute to the tax preparation process. If you can identify the tax issues that need to be addressed and have well organized tax records, a preparer can work more efficiently and cost-effectively.

withhold social security tax from the worker's pay, pay an equal amount of social security tax.

TMA examines long-term solution to traffic

Driving on sometimes clogged, traffic-filled roads has become an everyday event for Lake County residents during the last several years.

The number of registered passenger cars that used county roads in 1992—about 331,000—is up by about 20,000 from 1990 and is expected to keep rising, predictably adding to county traffic woes.

But there is an organization called the Transportation Management Association of Lake County (TMA) that already has been examining and promoting long-term solutions to area traffic problems.

The TMA, which was formed in August 1992, is made up of state and local governments, municipalities, private companies, associations, small businesses and individuals who have joined together to provide the region with a forum for communication, education and representation on transportation-related issues, according to Willard Helander, the TMA's executive director.

The private, non-profit association endorses the concept that improved traffic conditions can increase economic productivity, air quality and the overall quality of life in Lake County.

The TMA has 51 members and represents about 30,000 employees of various association members by working and consulting with many transportation-oriented organizations and agencies, including the Illinois Department Of Transportation, Helander stated.

The area served by the TMA, which operates under a board of directors and through a committee structure, extends to the Wisconsin border on the north, Lake Michigan on the east, Route 22 on the south and Fairfield Road on the west.

Benefits provided to members of the TMA, who are charged annual dues, include free consultation and employee ride-match surveys, free TMA publications and technical assistance, and free in-house employee transportation coordinator support and training, according to Helander.

The TMA also helps members assess their transportation needs and market such programs as van pools, bus pools and car pools, Helander added.

In addition, members are given a chance to serve on committees, participate in networking and informational programs, and subscribe to newsletters and periodic reports, Helander stated.

"Individuals, usually small business owners, cannot enjoy all the TMA benefits given to large employers and governmental agencies, but they can volunteer their time and have a chance to stay informed about traffic issues which may affect their businesses economically," Helander said.

Helander stated that traffic congestion problems clearly exist on almost all major Lake County roads.

"Route 83, Route 45, Route 21, Butterfield Road, Route 60 and Route 120—everywhere you look," Helander said.

Traffic congestion also is a problem that is far more complex and far-reaching than commonly believed.

—Willard Helander
TMA executive director

For example, traffic congestion affects the ability of employers to hire and retain employees (which affects business productivity), the ability of retailers to attract customers and retain business, and the ability of service providers to operate in a reliable and cost effective manner, according to Helander.

Traffic problems also strongly affect the ability of a community to market itself to perspective businesses, homeowners and shoppers, Helander added.

Many employers underestimate the impact frustrating work commutes often have on employees' ability to economically and reliably arrive at work on time and in a productive state, according to Helander.

"We have studies done by companies proving that the use of alternative modes of transportation increases employee productivity. People perform better because they do not show up to work mad and fuming because they had been caught in a traffic jam," Helander said.

She also contends there is no simple solution to the county's traffic problems.

"Traffic congestion is the key, but there is not just one solution. We need to improve train and bus service, and modify our driving behavior as well. We need a well-planned approach of options," Helander said.

The TMA continues to monitor and support the Route 53 extension into Northern Lake County, which has been designated a tollway project, but still lacks the necessary go-ahead approval, according to Helander.

Though the well-publicized Route 22 project is not directly under its jurisdiction, the TMA supports it as well, Helander added.

The TMA is currently working with PACE, which is in the process of discontinuing some of its limited services in Lake County because of funding shortages, by helping PACE promote its services and search for more funding.

Helander believes maintaining PACE bus and van pool services in the county is critical.

"We need more substantial transportation systems, especially in the way of a bus service," Helander said.

Lake County's need for major transportation systems may be partially met in the spring of 1996 when Metra Commuter Rail Service is tentatively scheduled to begin on the freight-only Wisconsin-Central railroad system, including the Soo Line Railroad which runs from Antioch to Franklin Park, according to Helander.

The TMA has helped to promote the project by stimulating interest with private land developers and with communities that want to have Metra stations, Helander stated.

Her association will continue to monitor the Metra project, which currently has the majority of its needed start-up funding, Helander added.

The Metra Commuter service, which would cost at least $75 million ($61 million to operate on the Wisconsin Central tracks alone), would feature morning, midday and evening round trips between Antioch and Chicago Union Station.

Stops along the line would include Antioch, Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Grayslake, Libertyville, Mundelein Vernon Hills, Lincolnshire, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Franklin Park and O'Hare Airport.

The line, if fully established, is predicted to reduce traffic congestion. Metra estimates 440,000 passengers will use the line.

Until such transportation improvements and projects can be carried out and completed, Helander believes Lake County residents can help ease current traffic problems by eliminating as many non-work trips as possible.

"We have done enough studies to determine a lot of the traffic congestion is not related to work trips. We need to make an active effort to combine trips to the store, to the cleaners, and so on, into one trip as opposed to making five trips. More car pooling would make a difference, too," Helander said.

Helander is proud of the TMA's accomplishments and believes her association has been successful in the short time it has existed.

"I am very thrilled with our progress.

All entities have been impressed with us. Through the last three years, we have successfully provided information on funding...and given people a representative voice. We are very pleased we have been able to bring municipalities together—they want to see the area grow and improve," Helander said.

For more information and details about dues, write to Willard Helander, care of The Transportation Management Association of Lake County, 504 N. Milwaukee Ave., Suite 2G, Libertyville, Ill. 60048, or call (708) 816-8395.

Private Industry Council works to provide job training for future

In existence since 1982, the Private Industry Council of Lake County assists residents in the area in polishing their employment skills.

Founded after the federal Job Training Act was enforced, the combination civil service and personnel services help Lake County dwellers find training and employment in many categories.

"We work with all segments of the population," said Marketing Outreach consultant Robin Brannen.

The council's motto "Productivity through Job Training" is a direct statement which reflects its accomplishments for many county residents who find work as a result of the business.

The program offers under the job training and federal grants fund up to 50 percent of wages to pre-screened employees.

Training time can vary. According to Chris Stevens, 18-year employee and executive director for the Private Industry Council, some people can train for a week, while others depending on the type of job they are out for, can train for several years.

The council has agreements with the Department of Public Aid, and other organizations who notify individuals of services offered in job training.

Services are paid through tax dollars by the Department of Labor, explained Stevens.

"We are not in business to necessarily push people to get degrees but to push people to get skills," said Stevens.

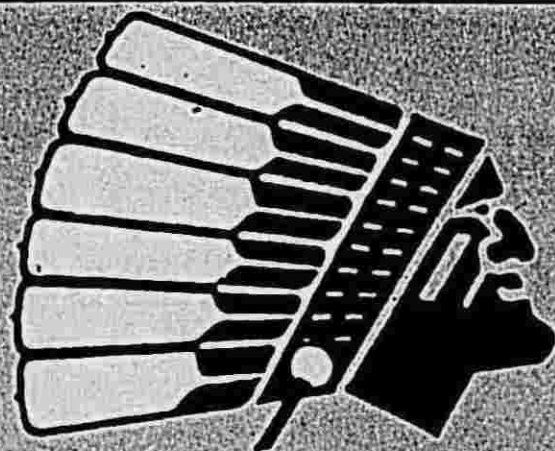

The director explained that a good number of today's jobs require a two-year technical degree, but skills are very important. Computer literacy skills are included, Stevens said.

A labor market study just completed showed the council that the best areas identified for employment are the health care industry, sales and manufacturing. "These jobs proved to be the most promising with the best working conditions and pay," said Stevens.

Tests showing the status of job-trainees are given by the council. That includes exams in the areas of job aptitude, eye-hand coordination, and where their interest lies in a job.

PIC offers a special non-traditional classroom training program "Career Awareness" for youths ages 14 to 21 each summer.

Employment alternatives after 'staff reductions'

While Lake County employment looks pretty encouraging, it is not out of the realm of possibility that you, or someone you know may lose their job in '94.

It does not matter whether it is called downsizing, personnel reduction, lay-offs, or just plain fired, displaced workers need to formulate a plan of action. Job loss in the '90s provides a whole new set of options for the displaced worker including out placement, job retraining, and employment services.

Once the unemployment benefits have been taken care of, one of the first places an out-of-work employee can check is the State of Illinois Job Services. The jobs are listed on a computer and Job Service personnel are on hand to help out.

If the employee is part of a large corporate lay-off program, the company may contract with an out placement service. Very basically, out placement includes employment counseling, resume updating, interviewing skills, and sometimes actually job referrals.

Other workers may find that their specialized skills are no longer in demand or advances in technology have rendered their skills obsolete. In such cases, the College of Lake County provides a number of basic programs including a literacy program, English as a second language, a general education diploma program, general studies, as well as a career placement center and regular degree programs.

"We get jobs in every day," explained Mary Garrison of the Career Placement Center. "We also get bulletins from other colleges, employment agencies, and the government."

The services at the placement center are free to both the employer and potential employee, and are available to any Lake County resident. Job seekers fill out a brief application listing up to five job interests. As a job which relates to the applicants interest comes in, the center mails the job description directly to the applicant. The job seeker may also come into the office and go through the job books.

The College of Lake County has a wide selection of books and videos for the potential job seeker. Interviewing practices, resume writing, even telephoning a potential employer are just of the few subjects covered.

The Career and Placement Center is located in the Center for Economic Development, over the Admissions Office at the college. The hours are Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Fridays.

"We have entry level jobs on up," said Garrison. "Our job is to find you a job."—

Future is rosy for Lake County employment

The future looks great for Lake County workers. Employment seems to be on the rise for the '90s. According to the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, if trends continue the number of jobs in the county is expected to increase to 306,000 in 2010.

As of December of 1993, the number of persons filing first-time claims for jobless benefits in the state of Illinois dropped 5.4 percent representing a four-year low. The total Illinois employment rose to a record 5,846,000.

These numbers represent an increase of 67,500 new jobs in the state since December of 1992. According to the U.S. Census, there are 241,600 employed in Lake County, with an unemployment rate of only 4.5 percent.

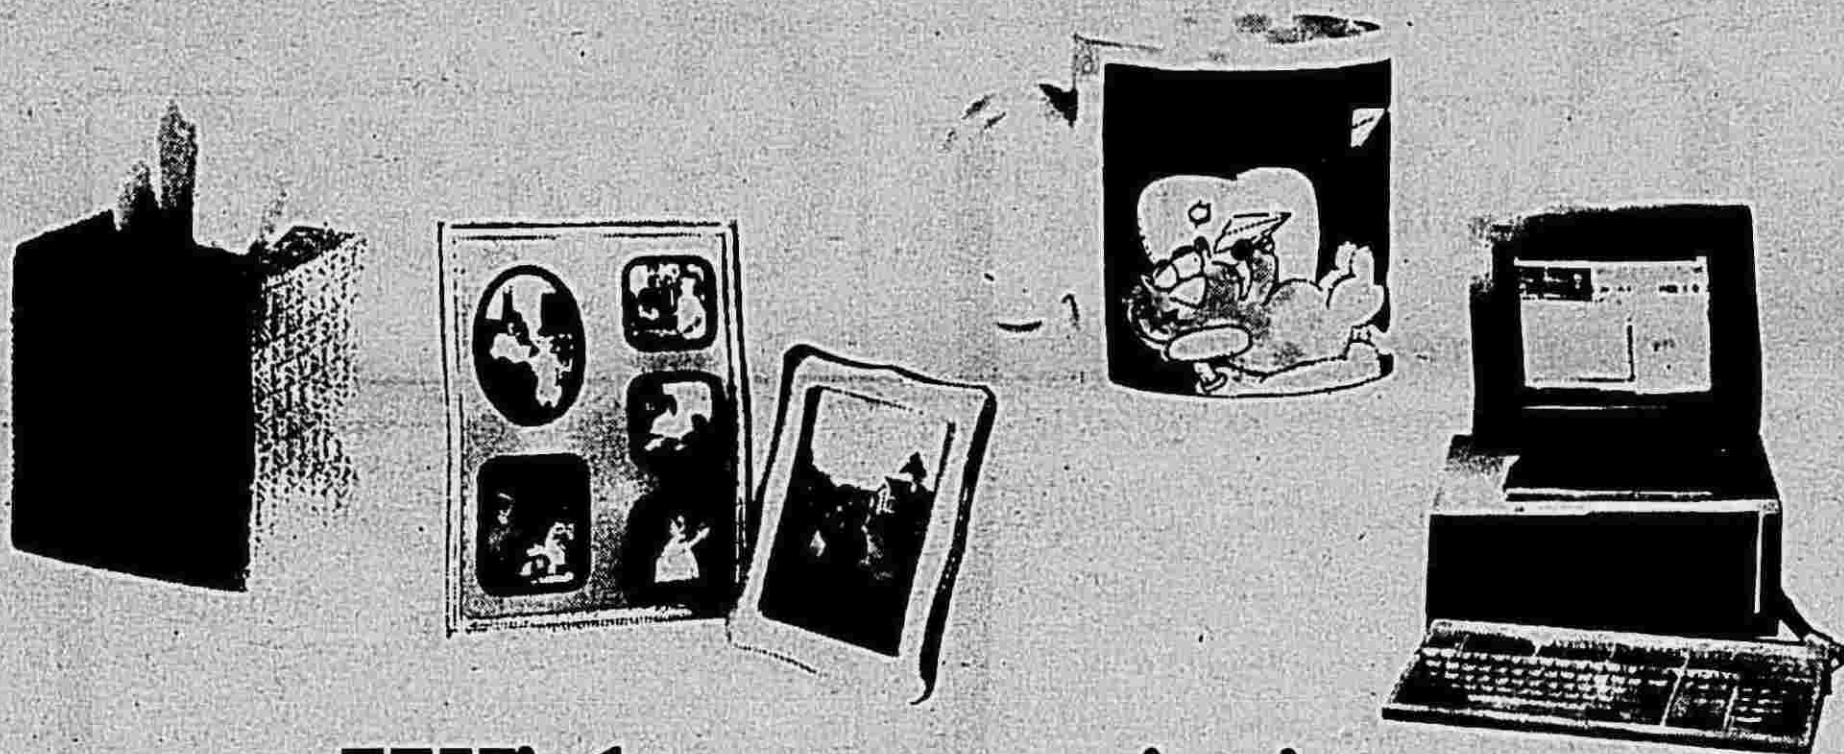

The Census Bureau has broken these jobs into three categories: manufacturing, non-manufacturing, and government. The largest category, non-manufacturing provides 161,400 jobs in Lake County. In the manufacturing category, Lake County offers 52,100 jobs, and 28,000 government jobs.

Along with the good news about jobs, the United States Department of Labor had even better news about Lake County worker's paychecks. Lake County recorded the second highest average annual pay in the State of Illinois second only to Chicago.

According to Lois Orr, Regional Commissioner of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Chicago and Lake County were the only metropolitan areas in the state to record average annual pay levels about the national average. While the average annual pay for the nation's metropolitan areas was $27,173, Lake County came in with an average pay level of $30,461.

The future looks great for employment in Lake County. Between the plentiful jobs and the better-than-average pay, Lake County is the place to work.—by

Lake County leads pack in addressing waste management

Lake County is taking a strong stand in its fight to handle the ever increasing amount of garbage generated by residents, and are far ahead of any other county's efforts.

Plans are starting to take shape on how to handle the garbage as more and more people start moving here from Chicago in search of a rural atmosphere.

Since its inception more than three years ago, the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County has been moving forward in implementing plans to reduce the amount of garbage produced and determine how to handle it.

The 36-member board, made up of municipal representatives from around the county, approved proposals to research all the avenues around both public and private intermediate processing facilities for recyclable garbage, and public or private landfills to increase the amount of landfill space available in the county.

Currently, Lake County garbage is dumped in three landfills, one in Bristol, Wis., and the others in Zion and Grayslake, both of which have proposed expansion plans for later this year, said Andrew Quigley, SWALCO executive director.

If approved, the expansions will add several more years of capacity. The proposals should be submitted sometime around the middle of this year, with the board acting on them up to 120 days later, Quigley said.

The expansions are necessary, as the latest data from the Illinois

Environmental Protection Agency from 1992 states the landfill in Zion has one year of space left.

Between April 1, 1991 and March 31, 1992, 589,000 tons of garbage was landfilled, with 37,000 tons recycled and 75,000 tons composted, said Dan Rion, IEPA spokesman.

The estimated '92 population of 531,627 generated a total of 2,199,164 cubic yards of garbage, with 1,963,161 cubic yards disposed of within the county. The remaining 11 percent was exported to other landfills outside the county limits.

Quigley said SWALCO estimated approximately 800,000 tons of waste was generated in 1993, with projections of 900,000 tons by the year 2000.

Rion said Lake County was the first county in the state to submit a 20-year solid waste plan back in March of 1991, and has a good start ahead on planning for the future.

The seventh annual solid waste report, covering April 1, 1992 to March, 31, 1993, should be published sometime in February.

Other SWALCO plans to reduce waste include the establishment of a household hazardous waste program, which should get started this January, Quigley said.

Buying in bulk, reducing the amount of packaging and using double-sided copies could reduce the amount of garbage generated by 10 percent, Quigley said.

"Recycling is a really great opportunity for residents and the community to begin to separate newspapers and bottles," he said, which would further reduce the output.

While currently recycling 30 percent, he said if the county could see paper recycling in the home and office increase it could achieve a rate of 40 percent.

In a previous job in Fairfax, Va., Quigley said he developed a 3,000 ton incinerator that now operates at $29 per ton. "Our landfill prices are less than that," he said.

An incinerator built today would probably cost $40 a ton.

Quigley said he believes land filling is a viable way to dispose of waste. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Commonwealth Edison Presents Its Latest Environmental Impact Statement.

Job searching made easy

Since its doors opened in 1991, Superior Personnel, in Gurnee has made a difference in the way that people feel about the job search. "For instance, says Nancy Sakol, president of Superior Personnel, "people come to us in one of a few different states of mind. Either they come to us, testing the waters to see what may be out there in the way of a better opportunity, wanting to return to the work place after time off, or even in desperation for any available qualifying position. We are here to help take some of the pressure off by searching to make that perfect or temporary employment."

It is apparent to see when stepping through the doors of Superior Personnel, that they do it with a smile. Their fully licensed and trained staff of professionals work each day with companies of all sizes, in all areas and facets of employment. Applicants are seen by appointment only and Superior Personnel never charges applicants a fee. Call 244-0016 for further information.

Actually, it's an electric vehicle. A van that's virtually emission free. And the introduction of "ElectriCars" into our fleet makes quite a statement about our continuing commitment to the environment.

While we're just beginning to demonstrate the road worthiness of electric vehicles in Northern Illinois, what we're really doing is helping pave the way for the future of transportation.

You see, as federal mandates to further reduce air pollution go into effect toward the end of the century, electric vehicles will become an increasingly viable alternative. So what we're learning today will be applied to the electric cars you'll be driving in the years to come.

It's just one more example of how we're working to develop new technologies that will improve your quality of life—and the quality of the environment. If you'd like to find out more, call 1-800-Edison-1 (1-800-334-7661) for information on the ElectriCar, our newest vehicle for change.

Lake County villages look to bring back downtown

Over the past thirty years, shopping centers and malls have been taking more and more business away from downtown retail areas. Now, villages in Lake County that used to be isolated are part of the suburban network as mega-malls and giant outlet centers draw shoppers to comfortable, enclosed environments.

Municipalities all over the country were faced with decreasing business and revenue and tried to reverse the trend. The western suburb of Oak Park and the downstate city of Decatur tried blocking off a section of a downtown street to attract more shoppers. Both have abandoned the idea.

The Village of Libertyville, sitting on what was once the main drag between Chicago and Milwaukee, decided instead to take advantage of its location, and MainStreet Libertyville is booming.

"Transportation has always been important for Libertyville," said Dan Timm of MainStreet.

Programs, shows and special events throughout the year bring people from all over the area. World travelers settle in Libertyville because it reminds them of a European city.

Summer brings the Farmer's Market with special programs and demonstrations. Lunch in the Park with local entertainment has become a big hit. Special events on the weekends feature art, entertainment and displays. Harvestfest offered a day of fall fun and a night of music and dancing. Residents look forward to Dickens of a Christmas each year, with sleigh rides, Santa and the Secret Shoppe.

"The really neat thing is the public and private sectors intermingling," said Timm. "In fact, the private money has superseded the public spending."

The Village of Antioch began its revitalization effort a couple of years ago. Organizers formed a TIF (tax increment finance) district in the downtown area, enabling building owners to take out loans for improvements and remodeling at a very low interest rate.

"The village buys down points on the loans," said Community Development Director Claude LeMere. "When the buildings are fixed up and reassessed they bring in more tax dollars. The money goes back into the kitty and repays the points."

The commission has put together a creative incentive program to attract new business and has continued to work with existing businesses involved in the revitalization effort. A survey taken after the holidays indicated that 85 percent of Antioch's downtown retailers had a record-breaking season.

A Christmas parade, free shows, a window decorating contest, a tree-lighting ceremony and the presence of Santa all contributed to the success of that first promotional venture. A spring program is planned for the end of April.

Another strong entry in the trend for

During the 1960s, area children visited Santa's Cottage in Abernathy

Park. The structure and the custom had long since disappeared. The Mundelein Pride board of directors managed to track down the original plans for the building and created an up-to-date copy. The ribbon-cutting honors went to Ann Stuprich, widow of the original architect.

"We'll expand it and refine it, and add something each year to keep it fresh," said project co-chair Pam Kerpec. "It's a positive project for the community and the kids."

The Village of Grayslake went to the drawing board more than two years ago and has developed an ambitious concept plan that includes parking, streetscape and landscape improvements and replacing the street lights with historic copies.

"We want to return to the more historic character of the buildings," said Village Manager Mike Ellis. "We will also provide architectural assistance."

The economic development commission is considering a low-interest loan pool for businesses wishing to make structural improvements. The village board has decided to begin work on capital improvements on the street right-of-ways.

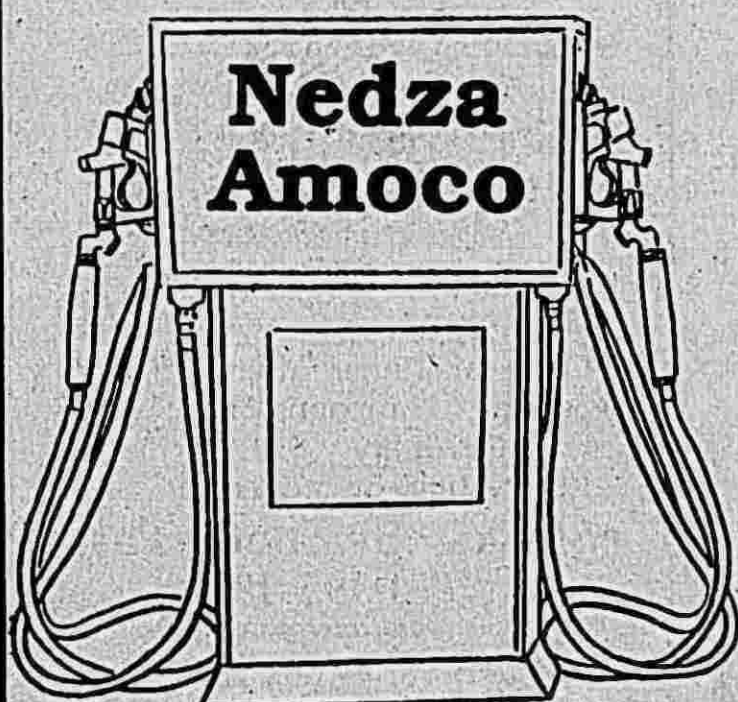

Downtown business owners met with the commission earlier this month and learned the details of the plan. The See DOWNTOWN page D20

Ameritech to help customers communicate in new ways

Low-tech bulletin boards, light poles and hallways littered with outdated fliers may soon go the way of the hand-cranked mimeograph machine, thanks to an alliance between Ameritech and the leading software firm Scala, Inc.

With the alliance, Ameritech now will offer customers Scala's multimedia information delivery product, InfoChannel, for uses ranging from class registration and campus event information networks for schools to employee news programs for corporations to point-of-sale advertising displays for retailers.

Specifically, customers can call upon Ameritech to design, install, maintain, and provide training for their own multi-media networks which utilize the Scala InfoChannel software to create the onscreen material and to update, schedule and transmit the information over standard telephone lines. The system allows people, with a minimum of training, to produce sophisticated, eye-catching notices combining text, video images, sound and animation.

For example, J.C. Penney uses InfoChannel to produce and broadcast its daily employee news program, McDonald's uses it for point-of-sale advertising at several stores in England, and the University of Michigan uses it to assemble and send important campus news to 15,000 students at their residences.

Ameritech will package these kinds of applications using Scala software and market them through its business units to customers in many markets, including the health care, education and financial industries. The alliance also calls for joint development of multimedia products for customers in specific markets.

"Scala products let you produce unsurpassed multimedia programming on a desk-top computer, with a minimum of training, at a price point that no other product can match," said John Hillman, Scala marketing vice president.

Businesses, government agencies and schools can create these multimedia programs and then transmit them over standard telephone lines or ISDN (integrated services digital network) lines to stores, remote offices, schools or other sites. The information can be updated and displayed at these sites on television sets, desktop computer monitors or interactive touch-screen kiosks.

"Ameritech is quickly expanding from an order taker of network components to a value-adding partner and market maker," said John Vaughan, president of Ameritech information industry services, the Ameritech unit that serves third-party network services and information providers.

"Scala's multimedia products, coupled with our networking and marketing ability, enables us to provide many exciting customer applications in both existing and new markets," Vaughan said.

With 45,000 users in 40 countries, scala is the leading international developer of multimedia authoring software for distributing information systems. Scala was founded in Oslo, Norway, in 1987 and incorporated as a U.S. company in Delaware in 1992. Today's world headquarters are in Reston, Va., with domestic offices in Portland, Ore.,

Philadelphia and Chicago.

Ameritech is a leading provider of full-service communications and information services to about 12 million customers in the Midwest, and it also has operations in New Zealand, Norway, Poland and other countries. Its 1992 revenues were $11.2 billion, and its assets exceed $22 billion.

Customers may call 1(800)762-4210 for more information.

Downtown

commission created a special service area where a special property tax could be assessed against all property owners within the boundaries. The money from that tax would be funneled back into additional improvements.

The Village of Lake Zurich has been considering changes in its downtown area for several years but was making little progress. Larry Coffey, chairman of the community development committee, says things started to move when Deborah Vasels became mayor.

"We took an aggressive role at bringing everybody in," he said. "The plan commission, board members and property owners sat down to talk about what it would look like and came up with some positive comments."

The motif is expected to be either an Alpine village or a seaside cottage community, said Coffey.

A decision has been made to tear down the steel barrier along Rte. 22 and erect a promenade along the lakeshore. Pictures from the 1920s show a boardwalk on the waterfront. The committee hopes this project will encourage business owners in the area to begin renovating their buildings.

No two communities are alike, and they all must find what works for them, whether it be Santa, sidewalk sales or snacks, offering residents a hometown flavor they cannot find in a shopping mall. —by SUZIE REED

Lake County Vocational Center trains for future

For longtime data processing instructor Bob Parker the changes in his classrooms have been dynamic.

"One of the biggest things is changes in equipment and trying to keep up as much as possible," Parker said.

Parker noted that when the Lake County Vocational Center began 17-years ago, his department, the computer lab, was the only one in the entire school with a machine.

Now all of the 20 departments at the vocational center have at least one computer.

The programs offered include a vast array of job training in fields such as food service, cosmetology, health care and medical assisting, child care, horticulture, small engine repair, welding, data processing, administration/office technologies, CAD (computer aided drafting), auto body, auto mechanics, machine shop, electronics, graphic arts, heating and air-conditioning, media production, and building trades.

The building trades course offered is an exceptional program, in which young carpenters become polished tradesmen and women in the field of building homes and other structures.

Currently the students are participating in an effort to actually build homes. Students are working on homes near the center in the Meadows subdivision on Washington St. and Rte. 45. When completed the homes will retail for an estimated $250,000.

Serving around 1,000 high school juniors and seniors, the vocational center teaches trades that can be of good use when the students are ready for

The Center's role is to serve the students and industries in the Lake County Area through the development of career opportunity programs within the framework of various partnerships between business, industry and education.

Did you know that Lake County has one of the best Vocational Schools in the country? That over twenty-two technical and career programs are available to every junior and senior student attending a Lake County High School! That each high school district pays the annual tuition of approximately $1,400 per year and provides bus transportation for the two-hour a day classes at the vocational center? Now is the time to plan for the future. Scheduling in all schools is taking place right now! You are invited to visit LCAVC, meet the instructors, tour the facilities and observe the programs in operation. For more information, see your high school counselor or call (708) 223-6681.

Whether students are planning to obtain a four year degree, a two year associate degree or enter the work force immediately upon graduation, LCAVC provides students with the most current training and hands-on experience available in technical education.

Articulation between the Lake County Area Vocational System and the College of Lake County has been initiated to allow students a smooth transition between various levels of training. The intent is to provide credit for knowledge and skills which students have mastered, thus eliminating duplication of instruction at different grade levels.

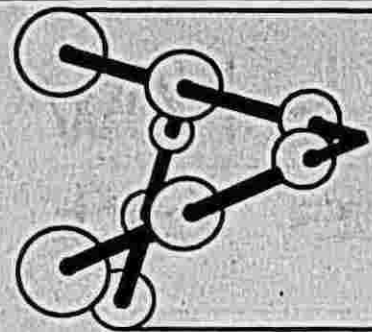

These guidelines have been developed to assist students in securing college credit for those competencies which parallel basic course requirements at the community college. The criteria and details of each articulation agreement vary between programs. Students interested in obtaining advanced standing credit are encouraged to speak with their vocational program instructor for specifics.

LCAVC to induct eight new members into the National Vocational Technical Honor Society.

The purpose of the NV-THS is to promote service, leadership, honesty, career development and skilled workmanship; to reward student achievement; to encourage and assist student education and career goal setting; to promote a stronger linkage between local vocational-technical education in America. Membership is granted to students who exemplify the epitome of success while maintaining an "A" average, have consistently demonstrated leadership, honesty and pride in skilled craftsmanship.

Innovative SAT/ACT prep course offered

Two leaders in the supplemental education and test preparation fields have joined together to develop and implement a program for increasing college entrance exam scores. Sylvan Learning Center and Gary R. Gruber, Ph.D., have created a unique SAT/ACT Strategies course which is being offered across North America at Sylvan Learning Centers. Sylvan Learning Centers are the nation's leading providers of supplemental education, offering individualized programs for reading, math, writing and study skills development or enhancement. With close to 500 centers across North America, Sylvan has helped over one million students do better in school or in the work place.

Dr. Gary Gruber is a renowned expert on critical thinking and test preparation. Over 20 years, he has analyzed more than 80 actual SAT's, ACT's and PSAT's and identified 48 critical test taking strategies. The application of these strategies has helped students across the country increase their SAT and ACT scores while also enhancing the students' performance throughout college and their careers.

CLC trains students for the future

The College of Lake County has been providing corporations and all levels of government with well educated students in all technical and technological areas, and is continuing to help meet the needs of the future.

One of CLC's many missions is to assist the county economy by preparing people to go out and help the business world grow. With approximately 35 different technical programs to choose from, ranging from automotive fields to welding, said Russell Hamm, dean of instruction for career and technical education.

By assisting businesses with providing them individuals who can step out of the classroom and into the workforce knowing the latest technology, CLC is giving its students a higher priority over other individuals.

One way CLC works with businesses is through its Direct Business Assistance program, which helps people find and sell their businesses overseas, trains others to jump into the fields of their choice and assists others with developing their own businesses.

In the past five or six years, the college has been responsible in assisting others to sell $20 million worth of products to the U.S. government, Hamm said.

All of these programs also work with students, making the process a two-way street.

CLC also has a large number of students seeking degrees from four-year institutions, and the counseling center is ready to help.

Students who already have an idea as to what they want to study can work with professors who also act as student advisors. Those still searching can find help at the counseling center, open to all residents of Lake County.

The center assisted more than 21,000 people last year in group, classroom or individual settings in all areas of advisement, ranging from educational planning, training skills and personal development. They even offer a school anxiety reduction course.

Hamm said the most popular programs students seek are: accounting, data processing, office systems, computer assisting design, nursing, horticulture, criminal justice, and the human services of substance abuse counselors and child care.

About half of the enrolled students are pursuing technical careers, which can be completed in two years.

With a school median age around 30, many of the students are adults who have come back to school wanting to change careers or go in another direction with more opportunities.

The school enrollment has remained stagnant the past two years, reducing one person to 15,498 this past fall. Although 37 percent of it is made up of 18- through 24-year-olds, 48 percent are between 25 and 44.

In trying to meet the student needs, the college has two new buildings in the works at the Grayslake campus, one a multi-purpose classroom facility on the north side of the existing campus and a performing arts and instructional building being built on the east side.

Both will be two stories tall and offer a total of 132,000 square-feet of extra space for the students and staff now confined in tight quarters.

Construction should start sometime this spring, with a tentative completion date of Jan. 1996, according to Hamm. — by SPENCER SCHEIN

Once your child is old enough to sit still and concentrate for a period of time (between the ages of 5 and 7), it may be time for music lessons. It is recommended to start children with the piano. If they switch to a different instrument later, they will progress more rapidly. Experience on the piano teaches the notes, rhythm and musical language.

No matter what your child does with music, be encouraging. Don't push your child into music if it doesn't really interest him/her. Knowing how your child acts when doing something he/she doesn't want to will give you a clue when it's time to stop the musical involvement.

Musical instruction encourages self-esteem

Once children are old enough to start school, they're usually old enough to start music lessons. Music is not right for all children, but musical instruction can encourage the development of desirable character traits like self-discipline and self-esteem. Like all development, children go through different stages in their musical development. Watching your child's enthusiasm in each state will tell you if you should pursue music instruction for him/her.

Music influences small children's mastery of language and their social and emotional maturation. By age two, children are able to imitate bits of familiar songs. Three-year-olds sing spontaneously while at play and can dance to any song—fast or slow. To encourage musical activity, sing with your child—right before bedtime, during bath time or while traveling in the car.

If you want to encourage instrument playing, buy your child a small piano, flute, violin, cello or drum. Have him/her play along with favorite tunes. Pre-instrumental classes are available for preschoolers. In these classes, children do not play instruments. Instead, they dance and sing their way to a better understanding of rhythm, pitch, melody and harmony.

Forest preserve uses citizen input for planning

Lake County Forest Preserves are clean, safe and popular places to relax and enjoy nature, as rated by respondents to an independent county-wide attitude and interest study performed in 1993.

"The study gives us direction for future management of our system's 18,600 acres and shows what types of recreation and education opportunities people want in their forest preserves," said Colin L. McRae, forest preserve president. "The results also can serve as a guidepost for decisions about future acquisition, development and funding," said McRae. How the survey was conducted

An independent consultant, Becker Associates of Deerfield, conducted the project. The county was divided into six zones and questionnaires containing 28 items were mailed to randomly selected households within each zone. Of the 8,400 surveys mailed, 16 percent were returned. A response rate of 5 to 10 percent usually is considered very good, according to national market research standards. A follow-up survey was conducted in order for results to accurately reflect the county's demographic make-up. Results are considered statistically valid and representative of Lake County overall.

The forest preserve study complements the 1992 Land Use Attitude survey conducted by the Lake County Regional Planning Commission, which analyzed open space preservation and economic development issues. The forest preserve study divided the county into the same six zones used in the commission's survey so that regional breakdowns and comparisons would be possible.

Clean, safe and popular

Forest preserves received high marks for cleanliness and safety, rated as excellent or satisfactory by 85.6 percent for cleanliness and 77.9 percent for safety. Most Lake County residents, about 74 percent of the respondents, have visited a forest preserve within the past two years. For the most part, it is the lack of time that prevents them from visiting more often.

People come to the preserves primarily to walk, relax and enjoy nature, though they also take part in a wide range of other activities. Picnicking and bicycling are very popular pastimes, as is visiting the nature center at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield. Sports fields and playgrounds are well-used, and golf courses, fishing ponds and the Lake County Museum are popular destinations.

When asked to evaluate 11 features of the forest preserves, over 75 percent of respondents gave excellent or satisfactory ratings to all 11 items. Cleanliness, safety, peacefulness, natural surroundings, trails, picnic areas, staff professionalism and parking all elicited very positive feedback.

Recreational opportunities and the variety of facilities were also highly rated.

Though people tend to visit the forest preserve nearest to their home, some favorite sites were identified. Van Patten Woods near Wadsworth was the most visited Lake County Forest Preserve among respondents, followed by Wright Woods near Mettawa and Ryerson Woods. Renovation of the well-used facilities at both Van Patten and Wright Woods is now underway, and should be complete this fall. Ryerson Woods attracts many people, in part, because it serves as the forest preserve environmental education center.

Future priorities

When asked for direction on future emphases, people were diverse in their responses but gave solid support to each option presented. Highest priorities went to the expansion of hiking and bicycling trails. This was followed by development of recreation facilities that are sustained through user fees rather than tax dollars, such as campgrounds, picnic shelters and boat rentals. Expansion of self-guided trails, playgrounds and picnic areas were also valued, as was improved access to undeveloped preserves.

Over half of all respondents felt that a future emphasis should be placed on acquisition of more forest preserve land. Of the seven different types of land the forest preserve district could purchase to fulfill its purposes, respondents gave highest priority to the preservation of natural areas. High priority was also placed on protection of historical and archaeological sites. Lands that provide flood control ranked third. Other land types, in order of priority, are those that provide recreation opportunities, public access to lakes and rivers, farmland and golf courses.

When a similar question was asked in a 1988 forest preserve survey, the highest priority was given to flood control, followed by natural area preservation. Many people are pleased to learn that in Lake County, 85 percent of the land bordering the flood-prone Des Plaines River is forest preserve land. Recent acquisitions along the Fox River also provide flood protection. Protection of historic and archaeological sites received the largest increase in support from the 1988 survey.

Funding options

The study assessed support for various types of funding for operations, land acquisition and development of new facilities. Most people do not want to pay entrance or parking fees. Neither do they support the idea of a sales tax. But there was a general willingness to support higher user fees, as well as a small property tax increase of $5 per year for an average home (market value of $150,000). A $10 per year increase was considered too high.

Youth Conservation Corps marks 20th anniversary

The award-winning Lake County Forest Preserve Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) kicked off this year's fundraising efforts with a reception honoring past participants and supporters.

Held at the forest preserve's Lake County Museum near Wauconda, the event marked the twentieth anniversary of the summer job program for teenagers, and recognized outstanding efforts of businesses and individuals that provide ongoing support. A new traveling information exhibit, in the shape of a YCC crew at work, was also unveiled at the event.

Over 27 financial contributors were recognized and five former program participants received awards in the areas of conservation, public service and career accomplishments. The event was hosted by the YCC Advisory Committee, chaired by Barbara Posner of Tenneco Automotive in Lincolnshire.

Three YCC supporters received special recognition: Steve Smurthwaite from Abbott Laboratories, who served as one of the first presidents of the YCC Advisory Committee; Larry Bakanec, staff member who coordinated the program for 17 years; and Dr. Rolland Sandee, active with the YCC for many years. Sandee received the Lifetime Achievement award for his outstanding contributions to Lake County's youth and conservation efforts.

For the past 20 years, YCC has helped hundreds of young men and women develop work skills and an understanding of the environment through important conservation projects such as trail construction, tree planting and bridge building. All projects take place in forest preserves throughout Lake County. The program relies on donations to fund the positions, with a donation of $1,680 supporting each teenager. All levels of donations are greatly needed and appreciated. This year's goal is to raise $75,000 for 44 positions.

Positions are awarded by lottery in early May. Any Lake County teenager between the ages of 16 and 18 may apply. For more information on the program, call Bob McCammon, project manager, at 526-0238.

Enjoy the advantages of not being a couch potato

There really is no mystery when it comes to staying in shape. It's simple: eat right and exercise. This goes for people of all sizes and shapes. Even thin people should be concerned about their diets and get regular exercise. The list of benefits to be gained from exercise may be longer than you think.

Besides burning calories, regular exercise can help you feel like a new person. According to the National Cholesterol Education Program, exercising for 15 to 30 minutes three times a week will: give you more energy, relieve stress, give you added strength to work and play harder and longer, firm muscles, and allow you to fall asleep easier. Thanks to exercise, your body becomes a fine-tuned machine.

The benefits don't stop there. The national Cholesterol Education Program also advises that exercise helps fight heart disease and common health problems, too. Shaping up and staying fit helps you tackle problems like high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, diabetes, and obesity. A healthy heart means a healthier life.

Everyone—even thin people—should be concerned about their intake of fat and cholesterol. The higher your blood cholesterol level, the greater your chances of getting heart disease. High blood cholesterol doesn't discriminate, either. It affects people of every ethnicity, males and females, young and old, tall and short.

Everyone should get their blood cholesterol levels checked regularly. According to The National Cholesterol Education Program, if your cholesterol level is 200 mg/dL (milligrams of cholesterol per deciliter of blood) or greater, it may be too high.

Most people can lower high blood cholesterol by changing the way they eat. This doesn't mean giving up all the foods you love. Instead, you can learn to prepare foods differently and eat certain foods less often and in smaller amounts.

For lowering blood cholesterol, remember: less is more. Eat less fat, eat less saturated fat, eat less of cholesterol-laden foods and, if you are overweight, lose weight. Another way to think of it is, more is less: eat more vegetables, eat more fruits and eat more grains.

Regular exercise and proper diet is the key to a healthy life. It's easier to achieve than you may think, once you start. The hardest part is taking the first step.

Expansion of juvenile justice system a need for future

Lake County Board member Suzi Schmidt spent some time during her college career coordinating recreation programs for some of southern Illinois' toughest youngsters.

Schmidt (R-Lake Villa) worked in a boot-camp style camp in southern Illinois. Lake County juvenile court officials hope to use components of that program in one to be initiated here.

Voters will be asked March 15 whether or not to increase the county's tax limit from 2.9 to 8.7 percent. The purpose, due to state election law, will not be on the ballot, but will be to construct and to staff an $8.8 million improvement plan for the county's juvenile justice system.

"One of the biggest problems in this county is with the youth. The decision on a March referendum is the best way because it gives the public a choice. It is a small amount to help our youth," Schmidt said.

The Lake County Board endorsed the effort unanimously.

Robert Zastany began as court administrator for Lake County a decade ago.

"At that time, we had about seven juveniles at Hulse House at one time. Now we have 18 and up. Those we cannot house, we have to send elsewhere. Ten years ago, we had shoplifting cases and there was not the influence of gangs in our communities. Today we deal with hardened youngsters," Zastany said.

Studies commissioned by the county recommended 36 beds and another said 23 beds with expansion possibilities.

"It will give the juvenile justice system a true multi-year plan to deal with the issues of today. It will provide the courts with adequate sentencing options," Zastany said of the referendum.

Components of the boot camp will be in the START program and there will also be a day treatment option. The facility will be built at the site of the present Hulse House in Waukegan. Zastany said plans are to have the site meet the needs until 2010.

"We are trying to rehabilitate the entire juvenile justice system," Zastany said.

Court services personnel will be making appearances at clubs and organizations to explain the vote. The purpose of the new funds will not be on the ballot, only if the tax cap should be increased.

"Everybody will be working hard to educate the voters," he said.

State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-62), said at a press conference announcing the referendum, people have been asking "what has happened to Lake County." He hopes voters will begin to answer that question in a positive manner in March.

"The need to expand the juvenile detention facilities in this county is very real. The needs go beyond brick and mortar. We need to keep pace with the increased caseload in juvenile court; with the ever so troublesome and violent crimes by juveniles in this county. We need to deal with the youth of this county in this county," Mike Waller, state's attorney said.

Coordinating the efforts to get the message to the voters will be Fred Foreman of Gurnee. Foreman said there will be a "concentrated effort" between now and March. The committees are being formed.

Cost of the bond issue would be an increase of 5.8 percent hike in the tax cap. The cost per $150,000 house would be $12 or $1 per month.

If the resolution for an increase in the tax is passed, construction could begin in 1996.

A new 36-bed detention facility would replace the present 18-bed facility in Waukegan. The comprehensive program would include what officials term a "refined version of SMART - Structured Military and Residential Treatment Program for youth 16 to 19. Some 22 beds would be available for SMART participants. The "boot camp" system employs exercise, education, treatment and public service.

Lake County Chief Judge John Goshgarian said police officers are being frustrated by the lack of space at Hulse House. That facility was built in 1956 and remodeled in 1978.

He pointed out the state's juvenile court system has been characterized as being "in a crisis. In Lake County, with 600,000 residents, we have a detention facility with 18 beds," Goshgarian said.

In 1978, society was far less violent.

County Framework provides blueprint

During the last several weeks, Lake County residents have had an opportunity to voice concerns and complaints about transportation problems and other issues at public hearings held to update Lake County's Framework Plan.

The Regional Planning Commission, which consists of 15 members and is appointed by the County Board, oversees preparation of the Framework Plan by the Department of Planning, Zoning & Environmental Quality.

The Framework Plan, which directly governs all unincorporated areas and is advisory to all incorporated areas, is the County's comprehensive agenda governing all land use, public facility and social service policies.

More specifically, the Framework Plan addresses four key issues:

Transportation problems linked to increased job growth and population, protecting Lake County's natural beauty and remaining rustic appearance, community character and urban design concerns and land use decisions related to maintaining solid tax bases.

Barbara Berlin, principal planner at the Department Of Planning, Zoning & Environmental Quality, which prepares the Framework Plan, feels it is important for Lake County residents, especially those living in growing and changing communities, to have input into the plan.

"[We wanted] to offer an opportunity for public input...and for people to share comments," Berlin said.

What Berlin calls the "jobs-housing-transportation connection" refers to transportation problems caused by continuous job growth and increases in population.

"The Lake County population has grown since 1970, and the growth of jobs relative to the population has been faster. Because of this, there are transportation problems because we have many people driving [to jobs] within Lake County, but also people driving in from outside Lake County. We are an importer of jobs," Berlin said.

Berlin stated that maintaining Lake County's remaining natural beauty and rustic appearance, in the face of increased numbers of houses and businesses being built in the area, is a serious concern not only to current residents but also to people who are considering moving to the area. —by MATT WILSON

Condell celebrates five years of fitness at Centre Club

"In 1988 when Centre Club opened, it was the most innovative facility in the area and it continues to maintain that position," says Eugene Pritchard, president of Condell Medical Center, Libertyville.

"The figures demonstrate that our members count on us to fulfill their need for a local facility that offers all the expertise necessary to maintain a healthy lifestyle and offers medical and rehabilitation services.

"Our members have made over 1,470,000 visits to the club, attending 21,000 aerobics and aquatic classes with 262,000 participants, during the 28,763 hours that we have been open in the past five years. The Medical Center Health Institute has helped participants lose over 31,500 pounds through our weight loss programs. We have conducted more than 4,800 sports physicals and guided more than 31,600 cardiac rehabilitation treatments in the that time."

"Our concept has always been to offer seamless health care. Therefore, we see ourselves as a total health care resource in partnership with the people of Lake County."

"Condell and Centre Club offers a wide spectrum of inpatient and outpatient services and programs that help maintain health, nutrition, exercise, education, stress management, child care, adult care and the whole gamut of fitness activities," said Pritchard, adding, "Our programs have received national attention, and we are proud to say that we have welcomed visitors from all over the country inquiring about them."

He noted that Condell continues to maintain its innovative and often pioneering position "by continuously introducing new programs and exploring ways to strengthen and expand the programs we started years ago to bring our vision of a community-centered care system into reality."

Pritchard said, "I am pleased to say that the projects that we initiated last year have been well received. Most notably:

- The Condell Day Center for Inter-generational Care filled its children's center six weeks after opening and the adult day care continues to grow.

- The new Acute Care Center in Buffalo Grove has been wonderfully received and we have seen its patient volume steadily increasing.

- The New Life Center's additional Labor/Delivery/Recovery suites were instrumental in helping us take care of an additional 200 members and babies this year.

Condell again was awarded the maximum three-year accreditation by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO). Pritchard noted that throughout the years, the medical center has always received the maximum accreditation for which a hospital is eligible. The congratulatory letter praised Condell for its efforts "to provide high quality care for those you serve."

As a State-designed Level II Trauma Center, the medical center has long functioned under the high standards established for this certification. Pritchard pointed out that the Emergency Department elected to voluntarily operate under the guidelines set forth by EDAP (emergency department approved for pediatrics) and PCCC (pediatrics critical care center) certification standards set up in California. Condell's emergency department is the only unit around to establish the program in this area.

"Today, hospital services are answering a broader range of human needs, and Condell's challenge during 1994 will be to exceed our past levels of excellence and our vision of health promotion."

Lake Forest Hospital receives approval on cancer program

Granted three-year approval by the Commission on Cancer of the American College of Surgeons, Lake Forest Hospital continues the tradition of providing top-notch cancer care as a Community Hospital Cancer Center. Initiated in 1978, Lake Forest Hospital's Cancer Program received this achievement based on dedication to providing the highest quality of cancer care.

The American Cancer Society estimates that over one million cases of cancer will be diagnosed in the United States during 1994. Although only 20 percent of the country's hospitals have approved cancer programs, about 70 percent of newly diagnosed cancer patients are treated at the hospitals.

At Lake Forest Hospital, dedication to the prevention—through the new Lake Forest Health and Fitness Institute—diagnosis and treatment of cancer are at the forefront to ensure cancer patients receive the best possible care at the local level. According to the Commission on Cancer, the national accrediting board, "it is reassuring to know that total, multidisciplinary care is available close to home."

Leading medical research being accomplished in Lake County

A cure for breast cancer, reproductive research and cures for Parkinson are only a few of the accomplishments that may occur in Lake County in the future.

A major commitment to medical research complements the education and clinical service missions of the University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School, located in North Chicago.

From patient-oriented clinical research to basic research aimed at solving underlying mysteries of cellular function, the University has brought to Lake County researchers who are working at the cutting edge of medical science. In turn, these researchers have attracted to this area millions of dollars of grant support from the federal government, private foundations and other sources.

The range and quality of these research efforts is remarkable. The driving force behind bringing these world-reknown researchers to the medical school has been Herman Finch, chairman of the board of trustees and chief executive officer of the school.

"We've recruited the best," said Springer. "I'm very proud of that. The impact on the school and the students in very profound."

The school counts among its faculty Georg F. Springer, M.D., professor and head of the Heather Margaret Bligh Cancer Research Laboratories, who is world famous for his continued work on human pancreatic carcinoma T and Tn antigens, their early detection and therapy.

Alan E. Beer, M.D., professor of Obstetrics/Gynecology and Microbiology and Immunology, is internationally recognized for his pioneering clinical and research work on pregnancy and immunity.

Max Harry Weil, M.D., professor and former chairman of the Department of Medicine at UHS/CMS, has long been associated at the forefront of research and associated with the mechanism related to cardiac arrest and more effective methods of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR). Dr. Weil and his research team have long studied the changes in heart function and its chemical metabolism that occur with cardiac arrest.

John Sladeck, Ph. D., professor of Neuroscience and Director of the Neuroscience Institute, began research as far back as the late 1970's on brain cell transplantation, captivating the imagination, as well as hope of millions of Americans, over 40 million which suffer from neurological disorders and injuries, ranging from degenerative diseases such as Alzheimer's, Parkinson's and Huntington's disease to stroke, epilepsy, spinal cord injury and many others.

Yoon B. Kim, M.D., Ph.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Microbiology and Immunology has long been known as a leading figure in the field of microbiology and molecular virology. His research faculty, which consists in part of Todd L. Sadek, Ph.D., K. P. Chang, Ph. D., Kenneth D. Beamon, Ph. D., whose specialty is fetal specific immune suppression during pregnancy; Michael A. Fennewald, Ph.D. and Dr. Kim, whose major project is "Development and regulation of Natural Killer Cells," are but a few of team M.D.'s, Ph.D.'s and postdoctoral fellows whose work is known through the world.

Dr. Kim reports the development and growth of the excellent, state-of-the-art clinical immunology laboratory enables Dr. Beamon and associate director, Alice Gilman-Sachs, Ph.D., to provide high quality test results less expensively and with faster service to twenty other institutions from the east to west coast, three foreign countries and two UHS/CMS departments, as well.

Michale Alan Taylor, M.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and his faculty have been among the leaders in research on such contemporary subjects as epileptiform features of mood disorders and electro-convulsive therapy. The Department of Psychology, under professor and chairman, Lawrence C. Perlmuter, Ph.D., and professor, Bonnie B. Spring, Ph.D., has been at the forefront of such research areas as smoking cessation, food and mood studies (how what we eat and when we eat influences and affect what we do, how efficiently we do it and how we behave, ect); and internationally publicized work by Sheri Berenbaum, Ph.D., on hormonally androgen, and its affect on the way children play.

Robert G. Kemp, Ph.D., professor of Biological Chemistry, is famous for his determination of the structure of an important metabolic enzyme PHOSPHOFRUCTOKINASE; and Robert Rakowski, Ph. D., professor of Physiology and Biophysics for his use of sophisticated electrophysiologic techniques to study the underlying ionic and membrane mechanism that controls the function of individual nerve and muscle cells.

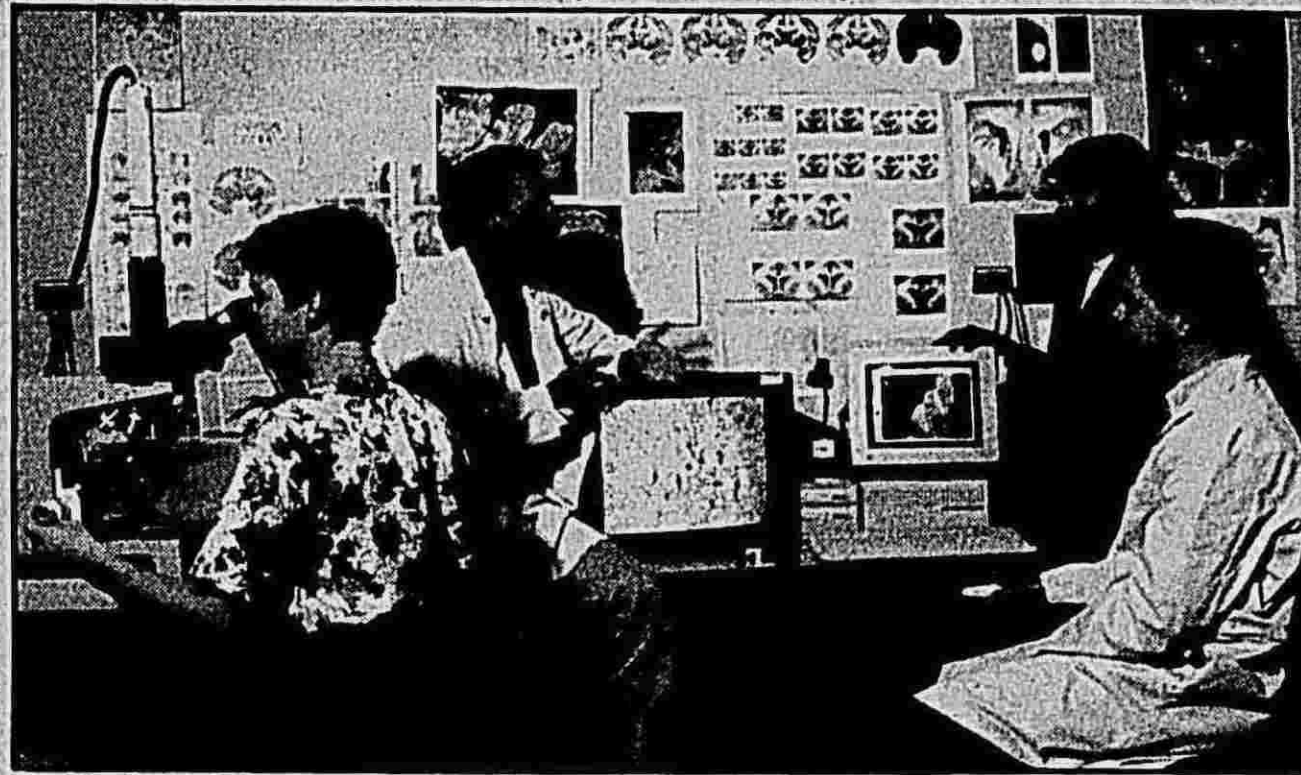

Robert Hawkins, Ph.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Physiology, is widely recognized for his three-dimensional studies and analysis of the internal working of the living brain.

William Schumer, M.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Surgery, has gained national and international recognition as one of the world's leading authorities on circulatory shock. He is one of the founders of the Shock Society, an international forum for clinical and basic science researchers studying all kinds of shock.

There are many other important and significant research projects and areas of study too numerous to mention here; however, it is from basic studies that the clinical "breakthroughs" of tomorrow may arise. —by RHONDA VINZANT

Dr. Marjorie Ariano (seated at microscope, left), Ph.D., professor of neuroscience, examines tissue from a primate brain following a successful transplant operation to restore dopamine in an animal model of Parkinson's Disease. John Sladeck, Ph.D., professor and chairman of the Neuroscience Dept. (center) explains the criteria for this procedure to first year students Kristine Schilling and Robert Weschler. An animation program is used to reconstruct the extent of the transplant, as seen on a series of slides, using the department's Mac Quadra and Image analysis system.

The Best Kept Secret In Health Care.

The rising cost of health care is getting a lot of attention these days.

But at Lake Forest Hospital, perception is not always reality. Even though we offer the finest care through our all-specialist medical staff and warm surroundings, our average charges are the lowest in Lake County and our patient satisfaction scores are among the highest in the nation.

Something else you should know. Lake Forest Hospital and our physicians participate in PPOs like Aetna, Private Health Care Systems and Metlife and managed care plans of major Lake County employers including Abbott Laboratories, Hewitt Associates and County of Lake. Our goal is to provide the highest quality health care at the most affordable rates.

NIMC staff dedicated to providing relief for chronic pain

Chronic pain often imposes emotional, physical, economic and social stresses on the patient and his or her family. Feelings of hopelessness and depression are common side effects of living with the pain that can accompany a medical condition, injury or surgery. A big problem for those suffering is that the chronic pain may not be addressed as a problem in itself. Previous diagnostic efforts may have failed to explain the cause of the pain, and people wonder where they can turn for help.

At the Pain Management Clinic at Northern Illinois Medical Center, the staff is dedicated to providing relief for those with chronic pain. To be eligible for the program, one should generally have: pain which has lasted longer than four weeks; a willingness to incorporate behavioral assessment as may be deemed necessary; a willingness to consider non-arctic approaches for pain control.

All efforts are focused on providing treatments which succeed in relieving pain when other methods have failed. The approach is tailored to fit individual needs, and all patients are treated with some combination of the following therapies: analgesic drug management, which helps reduce or eliminate narcotic use and helps one to use medications effectively; advanced medical pain management procedures, to differentiate and treat the cause of pain, to block pain pathways, and to break the pain cycle.

These include nerve blocks, site-specific injections, and insertion and maintenance of implantable catheters; physical therapy, to increase strength, mobility and endurance and to reduce muscle tension; behavioral medicine assessment, to identify and reduce patterns that can compound pain, and to possibly eliminate the use of drugs altogether.

Treatment is directed by Terri Dallas-Prunskis, MD, and John V. Prunskis, MD. Dr. Terri Prunskis is an anesthesiologist who completed her fellowship in Pain Management at the University of New Jersey School of Medicine. She introduced the multidisciplinary approach to pain treatment at the University of Chicago where she was director of the Pain Management Clinic for six years. She is an Assistant Professor at the University of Chicago, and is certified by the American Academy of Pain Management.

Dr. John Prunskis is a board-certified anesthesiologist with Added Qualifications in Pain Management, and has been in private practice since 1988.

Both doctors are members of the medical staff at Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry. Each lectures frequently on the local and national levels, and is published in books, journals, and newspapers. Their philosophy is to keep the patient well-informed, working closely with the patient's health care providers. Recovery, comfort and peace of mind are uppermost in developing the patient's treatment plan. For more information on the Pain Management Clinic at Northern Illinois Medical Center, call (815)344-5000, ext. 6506.

Restaurants take part in 'Heart Smart'

"Of all the things a person can do for heart health, eating right is probably the easiest," says Nancy Sislow, R.N., director of cardiac rehabilitation at Victory Memorial Hospital. "It is never too early or too late in life to develop heart-healthy eating habits."

To emphasize the importance of making healthy eating choices, Victory Memorial Hospital and The American Heart Assn. are sponsoring the fifth annual "Victory of Eating Heart Smart" during February, American Heart Month. Taking part in this community program are over 60 Lake County restaurants.

Participating restaurants will offer meals identified as heart-healthy throughout the month of February. In addition to eating well, customers ordering from these selected menu items are invited to complete an entry form for a chance to win one of five prizes valued $150. Prizes are provided by Welton's Village Markets in Gurnee, Mundelein and Round Lake. For a list of restaurants taking part in "The Victory of Eating Heart Smart," call 1-(800)-THE CHOICE (1-800-843-2464).

"In addition to providing alternative choices for healthy eating while dining out, Victory is also providing free educational opportunities during American Heart Month," says Sislow.

These free programs include discussions of heart emergencies by area cardiologist, Norman Weinstein, M.D.; shopping for low-fat, heart healthy groceries by a registered dietitian; and ways to make exercising an enjoyable part of life by a cardiac rehabilitation nurse. Information on any of these free seminars is available by calling 1-(800)-THE CHOICE (1-800-843-2464).

In conjunction with the American Heart Assn.'s emphasis on developing heart-healthy children, Victory Memorial has scheduled nutritional seminars with local junior high schools. Students will learn about heart-healthy eating choices. They will not only discover the surprising fat content of their favorite snack foods, but will also learn that healthy food can taste good.

EHS Health Care unit acquires Concerned Care, Inc.

EHS Home Health Care Service Inc., Oak Brook, a division of EHS Health Care, announced the acquisition of Concerned Care, Inc., a private duty nursing service based in Skokie.

The acquisition, which will allow EHS Home Health Care to provide additional services throughout metropolitan Chicago, was reported by Lloyd Dean, president of the EHS division, and George L. Martin, Concerned Care's chief executive officer.

HealthSource, Inc., a unit of EHS Home Health Care Service, acquired Concerned Care, which will continue to operate under its existing name and management.

"We are pleased Concerned Care is joining us," Dean said. "This is a long-standing operation with excellent employees and a reputation for providing consistently high quality care."

Dean also observed that Concerned Care's mission statement parallels that of EHS Home Health Care Service's parent organization, EHS Health Care. Both mission statements focus on providing competent and compassionate care while recognizing each individual's right to be treated with respect and dignity.

Concerned Care expects to have revenues of about $5 million for 1993, generated primarily by private duty nursing services. Other services include intermittent nursing and personal care. It provides more than 100,000 hours of care annually.

The firm provides services throughout the Chicago metropolitan area from offices located in Skokie, Des Plaines and St. Charles. The company is certified for Medicare and accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

EHS Home Health Care Service is the largest home health care company in the Chicago area. It made 96,000 patient visits in 1992 and estimates it made 130,000 visits in 1993, a 35 percent increase. The home health care company provides skilled nursing services; infusion therapy services and pharmaceuticals; physical, occupational and speech therapies; home health aides; durable medical equipment and perinatal services.

EHS Health Care is one of the largest health care providers in the Chicago area. It owns five hospitals with more than 1,800 beds, skilled nursing facilities outpatient centers, physician office buildings and a mental health counseling service.

EHS announced plans to affiliate with Ravenswood Hospital Medical Center, a 462-bed facility on Chicago's northwest side. EHS also has affiliated with the University of Illinois and its Chicago College of Medicine, the largest in the nation. The UIC College of Medicine will be the primary medical college affiliate of EHS Christ Hospital and Medical Center, Oak Lawn, which will become a site for the college's undergraduate and graduate education, research and faculty practice. The affiliation agreement also links the entire EHS organization with the university's other academic and research programs in the health sciences as well as the UI Hospital and Clinics.

In addition, EHS and Lutheran General HealthSystem, Park Ridge, each own 50 percent of Health Direct, a managed care organization that operates both a PPO and HMO in the Chicago region.

Manic-depressive treatment available

"...I have suspected for some time now that you may have a condition that I want to discuss with you. Don't be frightened, but I think you are manic-depressive..." and so began Patty Duke's road to recovery according to her 1992 account in "A Brilliant Madness: Living with Manic-Depressive Illness" (published by Bantam Books).

After years of experiencing dramatic swings in her mood, Duke discovered a physician who could diagnose her illness. And with diagnosis came treatment.

Manic-depressive illness is a mood disorder marked by moods which swing between ecstatic highs and depressive lows. Approximately two to three million Americans suffer from this debilitating but treatable disorder. The National Institute of Mental Health defines this illness as involving episodes of serious mania and depression.

Help for manic-depressives and their families is available in Lake County. Immediate assistance is available through the Victory Memorial Hospital Mental Health 24-Hour Hot Line, 360-4082. This confidential emergency hot line is staffed by professional mental health counselors and nurses. For referral to a therapist familiar with manic-depressive illness, call Victory's free Physician Referral Service at 360-4101.

BACKACHES. If you suffer from back and neck pain, you may have a herniated disc. Now, board-certified neurosurgeons at Victory can perform Laser Disk Decompression on an outpatient basis. Usually, within two weeks, patients are back to their normal routine.

OVARIAN CYSTS, INFERTILITY, ENDOMETRIOSIS, TUBAL PREGNANCIES. If a woman has problems with extremely painful periods, irregular bleeding or infertility, she may be a candidate eye surgery often restores complete sight. Lasers are also used for retinal surgery.

DISEASES OF THE MOUTH. Jaw pain, mouth ulcers, gingival tissue recontouring, lesions on the tongue and lips, denture sores and pre-cancerous changes from smoking may be effectively treated with the laser.
